

DOGS AND HAIRCUTS

We both need haircuts. I'll begin since I think I can trim his hair.
He cannot do as much for me,
at least not that I am aware.

Techniques are not complex. I cut the same way I would clip a hedge.
Persistence is the quality
that keeps me on the cutting edge.

I have good group support, as I rely on Oster, Andis, Wahl.
Without their keen technology
I wouldn't try this task at all.

He just accepts my work. Upset with me he does not seem to be.
Were he distressed I'd soon find out
if ever he should barber me.

by Lee Netzler