COVER STORY

Am./Can./Mex./Int. Ch. Passmore's Gringo Gold came to us from Washington State with the perfect Tex-Mex name. Down here a "gringo" is a light-skinned guy, who stands out from the dark Spanish-speaking crowd. That's our Gringo: a young wheaten who definitely stands out from the black n' brindle bunch.

"Se llama Gringo"—translate that, "His name is Gringo"—was an instant ice-breaker at the May, 1988 Internationals in Mexico City. It guaranteed Mexican grins. Gringo may be the only living Scottie male to hold the four North American titles (Am. Can./Mex./Int.) Our research didn't find another.

Gringo's Bagpiper cover photo was shot after he was Winners Male at the 1987 Scottish Terrier Club of Canada's Roving Specialty. The AKC Gazette featured it with "How to Vacation Your Way to a Can. Ch." in February, 1988, and the picture later was used as model for the lovely oil painting Mrs. Margie Cooke donated to the 1988 STCA National Specialty Raffle.

Gringo has new litters here, or on the way, from Am./Can./Ch. Passmore's Fascination, Ch. Vikland's Black Watch Quasar, Norwegian import Myklegarden's Farah Dibs, Scotsbairn's Bawde Ladye, and Ch. Passmore's Rio Grande. Gringo is Co-Owned by Jeannie Passmore, Seattle. We thank Tom Beaman (Scotsbairn) for always getting "the job" done with his expert management of Gringo's breedings.

FOR YOUR INFORMATION

CHANGE OF ADDRESS

It has been said before, but bears repeating—if you move, have a new phone number or there is a change in your marital status—please notify the Recording Secretary, HELEN PRINCE, 7415 Newburg Drive, Lanham, MD 20706. She is responsible for keeping the records up to date for all the members, but it can't be done unless you let her know.

Some members have not received their Bagpipers because they have moved, but did not send in their new addresses. When mail is sent third class bulk rate the Postal Service WILL NOT FORWARD IT. Rather, they throw the item away, send the Editor a note of the new address and charge 30 cents service charge for each item. This means someone doesn't get his Bagpiper and it costs the Club money!

ADVERTISING IN THE BAGPIPER

A special THANK YOU to all of the members who sent advertising for this Winter, 1989 Issue. The response was great! And another THANK YOU to those thoughtful people who sent their ads in photo folders, but enclosed them in a large brown envelope and included a large postage paid return envelope. This increases the life of the photo folders and makes it so much easier to return your pictures promptly after the issue is mailed.

Although the covers of the Bagpiper have been reserved through the Summer, 1991 issue, there are other choice spaces available for your ads. In the Spring, 1989 issue the inside front cover, the centerfold and the inside and outside back covers are open. Please refer to the schedule of costs on the opposite page. THE DEADLINE FOR THE SPRING ISSUE IS APRIL 15, 1989. Send all copy to The Virginia address.

COMMITTEE CHAIRMEN

The Board has appointed Mrs. Isabelle McCool Chairman of the Annual Awards Committee.

Mrs. Maxine Stickler will chair the Regional Clubs' Representatives Committee. Please send her notice of your club's representative, as well as your club's new officers and board after they are elected, to 2711 Blanken Baker Rd., Jeffersonton, KY 40299

CHECK YOUR PHOTOGRAPH ALBUM

The AKC is looking for interesting photographs of Scottish Terriers to augment its library for our breed. They do not want posed show pictures; rather they would like to have candid, attractive photos of Scotties at play or in repose that show the personality and good qualities of the dog. If you have photos such as these please send them to Merle Taylor, the AKC Gazette columnist. His address is Route 1, Box 119, Hammond, IL 61929.

SUNRISE KENNELS PRESENTS . . .

New Champion KENTWELLA SOLO OF GAYWYN (Jeffrey)

He came, he saw, and he conquered!! This showy British Boy finished his title in grand style by winning under breeder judges both in Sweepstakes and the classes at both California Specialties this summer (S.T.C. of California, and San Francisco Bay S.T.C.). "Jeffrey" also acquired 3 Bests of Breed along the way to his title in tough competition at California all-breed shows. And all this at barely just one year old!

Our sincere THANKS go out to all of you who have expressed your compliments and interest in our boy. We are looking forward to beginning an extraordinary career as a special with this extraordinary dog in 1989.

Please see ad and pedigree in Stud Dog Section of this issue.

(Ch. Hughcrest Kentucky Brew x Ch. Hughcrest Mint Julep)

"Katie" finished at 11 mo's of age, in grand style, when judge R. Stephen Shaw selected her W.B., B.W., & B.O.B. over top winning specials, and then awarded her an exciting GROUP FIRST!! (Delaware K.C.) One month earlier, Melbourne Downing had given her W.B., B.W., B.O.B. & GROUP TWO!, and at the S.T.C.G.L. Specialty she was Best in Sweepstakes under Breeder/judge John Sheehan. "Katie" had a ball intoxicating many (friends & Judges alike) enroute to her championship. We at Hughcrest "Thank" all who made it such fun!!

One of my favorite long time friends has left us. Heywood Hartley died on December 12, 1988 in a Richmond hospital after a long illness. We will all miss this true southern gentleman.

Some of our newer STCA members may not be familiar with the Hartley story and their Scottie involvement which may be illustrated by a few highlights.

Heywood and his wife, Inez, became active in our breed as breeders and exhibitors almost 50 years ago, during which time they became valued members of the STCA. Their registered WOODHART prefix was and is well known and respected, especially in the decades of the 40's, 50's and 60's. The Hartleys then lived, as now, in Richmond, Virginia where, until the mid 70's Heywood operated the Hauke Press, a family owned printing business. For a period during the 80's they lived in West Palm Beach, Florida. Heywood's many outside interests have included horses, golf, and always dogs.

I well remember a Miami Scottie Specialty nearly 25 years ago where it was my pleasure to be the judge. My Best of Breed was an excellent WOODHART Scottie handled to perfection by Beryl Pearson. During the years there were, of course, many other wins with Scotties such as Ch. Woodhart Waterloo, Ch. Woodhart Wellington, Ch. Woodhart Wizard and others. Johnny Murphy frequently appeared as handler and conditioner for them. The 1959-1960 STCA Yearbook (yours truly was the Editor) was printed by the Hauke Press.

Heywood first, and then Inez, became so canine oriented that they elected to go the judging route. Today, Inez does 5 plus groups and, subject to AKC approval, will officiate at the STC of Western Virginia Specialty in September, 1989.

Heywood's first assignment included Scottish and Fox Terriers at the Kanawha K.C. show on July 30, 1940. His first group assignment, terriers, was at Roanoke K.C. the following year. He eventually became an all breed judge, doing his first BIS at the 1949 Fredericksburg event. Since then he has officiated at hundreds of shows worldwide. Last year Heywood resigned as a judge, whereupon Louis Auslander, AKC Board Chairman wrote to him as follows (excerpts):

"It is very sad for me that you will not longer judge dogs. I consider it a loss to the entire fancy. I can say without fear of contradictions from anyone that you have been one of the most outstanding judges in the history of the sport. Your judging, demeanor and integrity have always been above reproach. I know I speak for the entire sport when I say what you have done for the past many years has not only made a contribution but is appreciated. For that, we all thank you."

The Hartleys are justly proud of their dog club affiliations. In addition to STCA they have been active members of the Virginia K.C. since 1943. Heywood served as President 1951-1953 and just a few years ago was President of the Palm Beach, K.C. Before his death, the 1988 fall show of the Virginia K.C. was dedicated to Heywood R. Hartley and it is now planned that the BIS trophy at their 1989 spring show will be in his memory.

The following obituary information appeared in the December 13, 1988 Richmond Times Dispatch:

Editors Note: These are excerpts from the obituary notice referred to.

"A dog fancier he bought his first dog- a Scottish Terrier - in 1933 when that breed was popular. The next year he began breeding Scottish Terriers for show under the name Woodhart Kennels and won numerous championships.

"Beside his Scotties he eventually bred, trained and showed mainly wire-haired fox terriers and smooth haired fox terriers.  He officiated at shows nation-wide, including the prestigious Westminster Kennel Club show at Madison Square Garden in New York and the Westchester Kennel Club show in Westchester N.Y.  He was also one of the few experts in the world on Kerry Blue Terriers which he judged in competition worldwide."

"PEACHES" finished impressively with very limited showing, under the capable handling of her special friend Patsy Wade. Thanks to the following judges who declared this PEACH to be Pick-of-the-Crop:

- Michele Billings, Shreveport K.C. Best of Breed
- Jack Whitney Cummings, Longview K.C. Best of Breed
- Richard Chashoudian, Calcasieu K.C. Best of Breed
- Barbara Fournier, Texas K.C. Best of Breed
- Margaret Young, Brazos Valley K.C. Best of Breed
- Frank Haze Burch, Brazos Valley K.C. Terrier Group 1
- Francis Thornton, Tyler, Texas K.C. Best of Breed
- Francis Thornton, Tyler, Texas K.C. Terrier Group 3
- Dr. Robert Smith, Trinity Valley K.C. Best of Breed

"PEACHES" abandoned her Show Business Career after a whirlwind romance with Ch. Dana's Sunday Edition, and is now busy raising their SIX lovely daughters! Indeed, she earned her name well, and makes her owner constantly BLUSH WITH PRIDE.

1989 ROTATING SPECIALTY

The 1989 S.T.C.A. National Rotating Specialty, hosted by the Scottish Terrier Club of New England, will be held on Saturday, June 3, 1989 at Raynham, Massachusetts. The Regular Class Judge will be Mrs. Elsbeth Clerc and the Sweepstakes Judge will be Mrs. Sandra Anderson.

Cindy Cooke sent us the following information about Mrs. Clerc who is a member of S.T.C.A.:

Mrs. Elsbeth Clerc of Berne, Switzerland, has been breeding and exhibiting Scottish Terriers for over 20 years. Her foundation bitch was International and Italian Ch. Reanda Rasuki, a daughter of the great English Ch. Reanda Ringold. From that beginning, Mrs. Clerc's dogs have won titles at shows all over Europe. Her top winning dog was English, International, German and Swiss Ch. Swiss Rannoch Solo, who crowned his English show career by winning his third CC and Best of Breed at Crufts in 1977. Solo, by the way, was sired by English and American Champion Reanda Rock Silver, who left England and made his home at the Ruff-Me-Tuff Kennels of Jake and Nancy McClosky. Mrs. Clerc's Rannoch Scottish Terriers combine the lines of Gillson, Reanda, Glenecker and Gaywyn, and she has recently added a dash of Scandinavian blood by importing the Finnish bitch, Torslochs Tapioca in whelp to Sweden's Top Terrier, Nordic Champion Raglan Royal Commander.

This promises to be an exciting three day weekend. In the very near future you will receive a packet outlining all the details.

MOVIE MAKING WITH SCOTTIES

By: Elizabeth Gordon

Filming (Soon To Be Released) New York Stories

Late one afternoon in June (within minutes of returning to New York from Rhode Island with its coat-pulling pleasures of beach and woods) I got a phone call from our good friends at Dawn Animal Agency. There was just time to run a comb through two Scottie coats, put on new red collars (a little flash for the film world) and rush to meet The Director.

My two scots MacLapin Kirmse C.D. and MacLapin Dyerduff Bonnet Bear are as different from each other in character and appearance as two cheerful, amiable, closely related bitches can be. Kirmse, at the time the film began, had earned her C.D. and was (almost) trained through Utility. She is intelligent, cautious and exuberant only when she is sure she is right—then she can really shout! Bonnet in June was just over a year old and, except as a house pet, had very little training. She is extraordinarily devoted to children and babies, very confident and happy go lucky. I have never noticed her to be a deep thinker. Both dogs had modeled, often with children, and so were used to cameras, lights, and lots going on.

Our interview with the director was brief (under five minutes). He looked at the Scotties and also at a very attractive pair of Jack Russells, and made his choice—based, we gathered, on the fact that he had an adored stuffed Scottie toy with red wheels as a child. He asked if the dogs could carry a piece of paper and be a little girl's pet. Once the director had seen the two dogs their appearance could not be changed at any time during the filming - about a month.

BOSWORTH

CH. CHARTHILL WORTHY OF COLWICK

Bosworth is producing both black & brindle - Substance with elegance. Out of his first four litters, ALL the puppies except one injured as a youngster, are in the show ring. Bosworth is producing quality puppies with exceptionally sweet dispositions while still maintaining great showmanship in the ring. He will be home in Cincinnati at Charhill in 1989. Heartfelt thanks to Nancy Becker, co-owner, and Jon Rawleigh who both superbly showed and conditioned him for the past two years.

Early the next morning we started working. The two dogs shared the role of the heroine, Zoe's Scottie. Thank goodness for strong, healthy, energetic dogs. Our first location, in an enormous New York city apartment, was filled with the equipment and the many people needed for making a film. Our crates were set up in a corner of the kitchen - near the air conditioner (a good thing) and behind the coffee machines (a sociable spot). A few days into the film the first heat wave of the summer hit New York. Did you know air conditioning must be shut off each time sound is being recorded for films? As the heat and strenuous work continued two more Scotties of the MacLapin line came to join us. Faith Harrop's Wil-Far Fairy Tale C.D. (S.T.) and Wil-Far Hey Jude took to the city living with aplomb.

Here are some of the things our dogs did in the film. The homecoming scene: Bonnet on a cue runs through a huge empty foyer, up a few steps, greets the butler who is standing near the door. He opens the door to admit six little girls coming home from school. Bonnet greets the girls and runs after them into the living room where she jumps on and off the sofa, enhancing the party atmosphere. I hope this whole scene appears in the film. Bonnet did this action more than thirty times (in two session) always appearing to enjoy it. Brilliant handling by Sherri Kaiserman of Dawn Animals made this feat possible.

In another scene, Zoe and the butler are searching for the discarded invitation to a ball. They look through a big pile of trash in the back hallway of their hotel. A crucial fragment is missing. We see Kirmse looking through all the trash and emerging with the missing piece. (Wasn't it lucky that Kirmse learned the scent discrimination exercise for her Utility work?) For those who think New York city is glamorous, this scene was filmed at 6:30 A.M. in a back hallway of the Sherry Netherland Hotel complete with garbage. All the participants (two Scotties and two people) had been waiting all night in a small car parked outside the hotel. As we were nearing the end of the shooting of this "looking for the invitation" shot, in came a lighted birthday cake — it smelled delicious — it was the cinematographers birthday. Talk about working with distractions.

Earlier that same long night we did a shot of the Scotty (Bonnet this time) running under a bed and hiding with the valuable fragment (made of a sandwich of stiff blue invitation paper with beef jerky as a filling).

For those who wonder how two (let alone four) dogs who have only a family resemblance to each other, and were in very different coat at the time, could play the part of the same dog, let me say that of all the film people on the set only the children, who were acting with the dogs, could tell them apart at any time.

Let us hope that all the hard work on dogs' scenes does not end up on the cutting room floor so that we can all see what a fine combination the two dogs made. Thoughtful, reliable Kirmse is one half. She used her nose and did endless stunts including one where she held a slippery "school report" through a long moment of dialog — this was shot over and over when the heat was fierce and the air conditioning was of course turned off for each take. Bubbly, spontaneous Bonnet, always ready for action and fun, is the other half of this capable team.

Making a film with your dogs lends enhanced meaning to not passing tension along to your working dog. A film set is not the calmest place you'll ever be. Most of all, making a film with dogs makes you appreciate beyond all else the splendid temperament and joyous outlook that this closely related group of dogs shares. Thanks to MacLapin Kennels for making sure these dogs were born with the ability and stamina to enjoy this difficult work.

The Francis G. Lloyd Memorial Trophy has been awarded annually since Ch. Albourne Beetle was the first winner in 1921. As well known as the trophy is, Francis G. Lloyd, himself, has become a faded figure about whom only a few facts, recited in breed histories, are all that we know of him.

What is said about him in those histories? That he founded his Walescot Kennels in 1906 in Bernardsville, New Jersey; that it was a large kennel of upwards of 75 dogs; that he supplied multi-dog entries of what would be unthinkable numbers today; that he imported many good dogs, and bred many good ones; and that he died suddenly in 1920 and his kennel was straightaway disbanded.

Facts which don't explain why he was memorialized with what has become the STCA's most prestigious trophy.

Lloyd did die suddenly in 1920, but not prematurely. He was 72 when he had a massive heart attack in his offices at Brooks Bros., of which was President at the time, a position he had risen to in Horatio Alger fashion. He went to work for Brooks Bros. at the age of 14, in 1862, making a 58 year career.

During those years he married, fathered one daughter, became a vestry-man of his church in New York City, involved himself in civic affairs to some extent, served on a draft board during World War I; and when the mayor of the city at the time asked William Randolph Hearst to serve on a committee to organize a welcome home for "the boys" resigned along with others from that committee in protest. Hearst had opposed American entry into that conflict.

Lloyd came late to the Scottish terrier fancy. He entered it, however, in a big way, storming the shows with large Walescot entries. Guided by professional dog men who both managed his kennel and handled his dogs, his kennel became a dominant force in the breed. The kennel brought over such prominent British dogs as Ch. Walescot Invader (nee Clonmel Invader) and a number of Merlewood dogs; and they produced such prominent dogs as Ch. Walescot Maister Wullie and Walescot Whim. There were always candidates for the shows at the kennels; and there were always puppies.

Just when Lloyd became a member of the STCA is not certain, but it is quite likely early on in his association with the breed. He was elected President in 1915 and 1916, then Vice-President in 1917, but became President again when the President, Dr. C.C. Little was called to war duties: and was President when he died.

In 1915 the Club held a specialty for the first time since 1910, and has done so each year since. That one was held on the farm of Miss Margaret at North Grafton, Massachusetts.

In 1915 the Club began a quarterly publication, The Bulletin of the Scottish Terrier Club of America, the first editor being Mrs. A.B. Saunders of Clinton, New York.

There were others who had large kennels, and had good show records. It is likely that the Memorial trophy was not established to honor Lloyd for his record in the kennel and in the ring. Rather, it is more likely that his record as President of the Club, putting it on a firm foundation, is the basis for the esteem that led to the Club so memorializing him.

The following article appeared in the Contemporary Section of The Denver Post on May 29, 1988. Mr. Stolzenburg kindly gave us permission to reprint it here. Mr. Stolzenburg, who lives in Boulder, Colorado, says they also have a friendly part Basset as a member of the household.

It wasn't easy maintaining my pledge of allegiance to the society of cat haters. If nothing else, Thor was innocuous. Despite his imposing corpulence, he had the tiny gentle peep of a kitten. Unlike other cats, he never bothered the songbirds and mice, never deposited any headless trophies on my pillow. And Thor never flew into mysterious clawing fits when I picked him up—even if it was to toss His Fatness out in the rain.

It was not my idea to adopt Thor, but I was attracted to his owner, and unfortunately, she and Thor were a package deal. I would have sooner accepted a 15-pound wart on Pam's nose, but deals are deals.

And against my best efforts, Thor took a liking to me. When Pam was away, I would openly insult his sagging belly and puffy jowls, to which he would quietly finish plate and waddle into my lap, his pudgy, squinting face caressing my hands. So went our lopsided relationship for two years—until the day Thor mysteriously stopped eating.

"Must be fur balls again," I scoffed, as Pam and I administered his favorite laxative and waited for the problem to pass. But the next day Thor still did not eat: Now he just sat, wincing and whispering a plaintive cry.

At the clinic, what Dr. Waters saw inside Thor's mouth was a horrible mass of ulcers, a symptom of ethylene glycol toxicity, or antifreeze poisoning. A surprisingly common and insidious killer of dogs and cats, ethylene glycol tastes deliciously sweet, yet forms damaging and other lethal oxalate crystals in the victim's kidneys.

Where Thor might have found antifreeze was by now irrelevant. I shook my head in disgust and thought, "Good going, Fatso. You've really done it this time."

Therewith, Thor began an ordeal of injections, catheters, blood tests, medicines, barking dogs, surgery, and other unpleasantries of hospital life. As he endured, he attracted a growing entourage of admiring doctors and technicians who marveled at his friendly spirit and resilience. Even after two weeks, the now groggy and emaciated trooper greeted visitors with a welcoming squint and a single weak peep that invited many a hug. I passed up the hugs and told him to be thankful we weren't "pulling the plug" on him yet.

For the next month, Thor struggled through needles and nausea. Still, every attempt to wean Thor of his daily injections resulted in a deadly accumulation of metabolic toxins.

As a last effort, we took Thor home—along with his myriad medications—with hopes that the psychological comfort of home would provide the remedy's missing ingredient. We were novice medical technicians at best, wincing and recoiling as our poorly-aimed hypodermic needles brought cries of pain. Yet Thor never bared a claw: he just hunkered down and bravely bore our bumbings.

Despite Thor's indomitable spirit, our potion of chemical and TLC was not enough. He had shriveled to a mere third of his once robust 15 pounds. Nausea tortured him for every scrap of food he ate and sucked away his remaining strength. He could no longer leap up to the counters where he used to sneak leftovers. Now gaunt and withered, he was almost unrecognizable except for a face that somehow remained Thor, with that quizzical baby-fat squint.

Once again I threatened to "pull his plug". But this time I choked on the words. Death at such close range had suddenly lost its humor. How unworthy I was to decide such a courageous animal's fate. If only there were some other way to stop his pain.

Dr. Waters had one more idea. What about Valium? She knew that Valium, besides being a common muscle relaxer, is, for cats, also an appetite enhancer. It seemed too simple, too magical, too miraculous a cure.

But it worked! With a little white pill twice a day, Thor's nausea subsided. He began eating. His weight stabilized. He began jumping onto counters and stealing leftovers. Pam and I began celebrating.

Today, as he will for the rest of his life, Thor endures daily injections of fluids and swallows eight separate doses of foul-tasting medicines. He is still slightly anemic, and he requires a special homemade, low-protein diet. These are the bills for supporting a pair of disabled kidneys.

But skinniness aside, Thor is back to being Thor. And I am back to insulting him (now with a hint of a wink) as he nestles in my lap. After all, we have our images to uphold.

NUCLEAR MEDICINE AT PURDUE

By: H.D. Cantwell, DVM and
Cheryl S. Hurd, RVT

A new and exciting method of detecting cancer in animals is now available through the School of Veterinary Medicine at Purdue: Nuclear medicine. It is a very sensitive way to detect tumors — most commonly, bone, lung and thyroid — and some benign lesions as well.

A very small amount of radioactive material is combined with a drug that selectively attaches to the particular organ being studied. This combination is then injected into the bloodstream to be distributed throughout the animal's body. Pictures are made using a special camera. It acts like a Geiger counter and detects the location of the trace amounts of radioactive material. Tumors usually "collect" radioactivity, so they appear as "hot spots" or dark areas on the pictures.

For a bone scan, the patient must wait two to three hours after injection before scanning can begin. This allows time for the drug to be taken up by the skeleton. This scan takes about thirty minutes because pictures are taken of the entire body. Because other problems such as arthritis can cause "hot spots", radiographs of suspicious lesions are also studied.

Lung scans can begin immediately after injection because the drug goes right to the lung and stays there until, ultimately, there is decomposition of the radioactive material. Because many primary tumors spread to the lungs, this is an extremely valuable procedure.

A thyroid scan is important in diagnosing thyroid carcinomas. For this procedure, the patient must wait 30 minutes before imaging can begin. It helps tell whether one or both thyroid glands are affected so that surgery can be appropriately planned.

Although radioactive materials are injected into the bloodstream, the amounts are so small that the patient is not endangered. This addition to our abilities for diagnosing cancer and determining its spread is a great help in providing better patient care. Even though the dosage of radiation is very low, repeated exposure over a short time could create some danger. For this reason, the veterinarians and technologists working in the nuclear medicine laboratory do take precautions when handling and administering the radioactive materials.

After a nuclear medicine study is performed in an animal, a quarantine period is observed to allow radioactive levels to decay. This allows us to contain any radioactivity to one controlled area. In most cases, only a few days in quarantine are necessary.

The Purdue Comparative Oncology program is very fortunate to have the expertise of the veterinarians and technical staff in nuclear medicine. Any questions may be directed to the oncology staff or Cheryl Hurd, RVT, Nuclear Medicine Technologist.

Editor's Note: Walter B. Morrison D.V.M., Chief of Clinical Oncology, and his staff, are available for advice and consultation on specific cancer cases and treatments. The number for the Tumor Resource Center at Purdue is (317) 494-1140.

GROOMING SCOTTIE FEET

Have you ever seen a Scottie's feet that look like they belong on a poodle? That comes from a grooming error that can make even a heavy boned Scottie appear light boned. The error occurs when the groomer runs his hand down the leg collecting the hair at the foot and then lifting the foot and cutting off the underside and sometime rounding the sides and top. When the hair is released and the foot set back down you find that all the hair around the foot is short. The hair hanging down from the leg looks much like a pair of pants that are too short. To avoid this look, simply comb the hair and let it fall naturally, then lift the leg holding near the body. Cut all hair that hangs below the foot. Now let the foot down and back comb hair on the leg. Trim the hair that curls up at the toes. Trim at an angle out to meet the hair on the leg. The hair on the leg should be tubed so that when back combed it is not more than one inch longer than the shoulder when viewed from the front, nor 1/2 inch longer than the toes when viewed from the side. When you comb the leg hair down it should just touch the outside of the toes and floor. This should also eliminate flipping from the side.

OBEDIENCE

By: Marsha Smith

TO LAG ... OR NOT TO LAG

LAG- "To go slowly, to fail to keep pace with others" Websters Dictionary.

Heeling is the very first impression that an Obedience judge gets of you and your dog. If the performance in this exercise looks sloppy he will not look at the rest of your time in the ring with a "serious eye". Mentally he's already dismissed you into the majority of "also rans". No "Dog World" award for you - no placement - only plenty of embarrassment of being followed a compact car length behind by your so called "partner". I've been there ... it's no fun. I can safely say that I'll never set myself up for it again. Sure, there may be a lag here and there, but when I go into the ring I'm fully prepared against the possibility. You can, too.

Scotties are an "off breed" in Obedience. I train many breeds, Shelties included, and I truly understand that they present certain differences. But Scotties are no different in the end result if you approach their training mentally as you would any breed. Expect them to lag and they will - expect them to place in the class and they just may.

Heeling is, as I state, an exercise - it is not something one does for half a dog class. If you approach it as such, you will be less terrified of its embarrassing possibilities.

A typical Novice, Open or Utility heel pattern consists generally of a right turn, left turn, halts, fast and slow. Six or seven simple things. If you are in a class where they heel you in a circle for minutes (hours?) on end - stop right there. Your Scottie is not a Sheltie and will resent this and develop boredom problems. Even most Shelties hate this type of training. Only a merry-go-round horse goes forever in a circle. Do some quality heeling - and sit the rest out until they go to another exercise.

In practice at home, work your heeling in parts - put the whole together later. For example, warm up with heeling pace changes - some fasts to normal, slow to fast, etc. Then do another exercise (such as recalls). Perhaps then do some figure 8s - later in your lesson do some forward halts.

If the heeling looks good - spend less time on it. Be creative - teach hand signals early on, and instead of ending your warmup with a sit ... do a hand signal stand.

In the show ring you heel for seconds - don't go around and around your yard drilling. Work on one aspect as a time - then when it's "together" create small show routine type patterns and do one of these within your workout. The dogs enjoy this and, if you vary it creatively, won't get bored.

I'm an advocate of training Novice, Open and Utility to a your dog before showing at all. I don't mean the finished product of Open and Utility before Novice but a bit of all of it. If you work on these harder exercises you won't have time to bore your intelligent Scot with monotonous drills.

Many Scotties resent the typical "collar jerk" method of teaching heeling. For those that accept it, coupled with a skilled trainer with excellent timing, it can be quite effective. However, this method seems to make many terriers mule-ish and more resistant. I find that most Scotties after being initially settled to a training collar and lead with praise, food and, yes a few corrective jerks respond better to a "binding lead" method.

Simply put - "binding lead" means working your dog on a tight (but not strangling) lead. Your collar must fit tightly or it will pull over the head. The traditional chain choke collar works best on the dead ring but many have had happy results with a prong collar. If a prong is used, it's essential that someone familiar with this method assist you. If you use a chain collar your lead should be four feet and thick or braided to be stiff. I prefer a small snap so it doesn't annoy and bang at the dog's face.

When heeling you simply never allow your dog to leave proper heel position (position best defined in AKC Obedience Rules) - "binding" him to you. Praise greatly when you feel he's there all by himself and you feel no tension on the lead. Say nothing if you feel yourself pulling or working him into place. On about turns and right turns accelerate slightly upon making the turn and say "Fast" - this will, over a period of time, condition him to accelerate at those crucial times. He must pick up pace there, and on the outside turn of the figure 8 if he's to keep up with you. Otherwise he will lag.

You may put your lead back on the "correcting" ring to do Sit-Halts so you can make the corrections for speed and straightness. Binding will not hurt your sits, but it will not help. Occasionally test your conditioning with a loose lead on "corrective" ring, as in a show, to note your progress.

Other simple anti-lagger suggestions are as follows:

1. Don't praise to get him up. Save praise for when he's in position. Don't praise disobedience.
2. Continue always to be economical in heeling. Don't overdo - it's only one exercise. Keep it in mind.
3. When going from exercise to exercise or to a piece of equipment (jumps) keep your dog in place - put the lead back on. Never allow lagging even when walking over to that broad jump, for example. If he never lags, chances are he won't know how.
4. Don't show a dog unless you've practiced properly. Don't go for a low score if you know, given time, you would have done better.
5. Try to pick an intelligent dog in the first place. Even Scotties have their "dumbies". Make careful choices pick an "up" dog to begin with. Then try not to bore him.
6. Skillful use of food and toys in training adds to praise. A wise trainer knows his dog and knows what makes his lights go on. This, mixed with timing and praise, with well timed corrections creates the brew of good creative training. Make use of all these tools according to your dog's needs and interest.

Many thanks to Marsha for the fine article. It will help all of us and our Scotties.

Produced by Elizabeth and Alex McKellar of Longon, Ontario, the Canadian Scottish Terrier Club had a beautiful display of pictures of American and Canadian Obedience titled Scotties at the Canadian Kennel Club Centennial shows. Many of you sent Elizabeth pictures of your accomplished Scotties and she wishes to express her appreciation for your assistance in making this project such a success and to thank you for your cooperation. It was a great group of Scotties we can all be proud of and they looked wonderful!

WYCHWYRE TRICK OR TREAT

Ch. Sandgreg's Second Edition × Ch. Wychwyre Liberty

What a "treat" when Trixie went WB-BW-BOS at the Scottish Terrier Club of Northern Ohio show for a 5-point win over Specials under judge Mrs. Ruth Johnson! The "trick," however, was when the processing machine broke down and all the pictures were destroyed. (Just 2 days before Halloween—we should have expected this.) That day will just have to live in our memories.

We do have a record of another very pleasant day, though. Trixie is pictured taking 3 points under judge Mr. Joseph Gregory.

Cherry Bomb and George Bush: Election Day Winners

MINUTES OF THE REGIONAL CLUBS' REPRESENTATIVES MEETING

Brandywine Hotel and Resort

Saturday, October 8, 1988

Charla Hill, Chairperson, called the meeting to order at 10:05 A.M. The following members and Clubs were represented:

STC of Michigan - Ruth Ann Krause, Bill Martin
STC of Western Virginia - Evelyn Kirk, Katharine Munro
Greater Dallas STC - Theresa Duncan
Washington State STC - Margaret Vinciguerra, Florence Hicks
STC of New England - Jacqueline Brightman
STC of Greater Dayton - Christine Hawley, Bradley Hawley
STC of Gr. Washington, D.C. - Kathie McKessor
Gr. Pittsburgh STC - Lois Smith, Laurie Dunbar
STC of Gr. Louisville - Terri Popp, Leslie Stickler
STC Gr. Denver - Dennisia Aragon
STCA - Kathi Brown, Adele McGann, Nancy Fingerhut,

Letters of notification regarding future Regional Clubs' Representatives Meeting at the Rotating Specialty in the Spring will be sent to members present, Club Secretaries and Club Presidents of record. Each Regional Club should notify the STCA Secretary, Jackie Seelbach, when Officers change with each election. Club representation seems to be improving as Clubs seem to be more aware of the importance of being represented.

OLD BUSINESS

Letters were sent from the STCA to the AKC regarding advertisements of Filaribits Plus in the AKC Gazette. Warnings in very fine print were placed on a page separate from the actual ad, and the page cited in the ad for location was in error. The letter voiced the concern of the STCA in this and similar situations. The actual letter was read, and the reply from Kenneth Marden, AKC President, was also read. Copies of these letters were distributed. Members should be able to request copies from their RC Representative.

NEW BUSINESS

Bill Martin presented to the RCR the program which his Club instituted to assist in the education of the public concerning our breed. For several months the STC Michigan has maintained an advertisement in the Classified section of the Dog World magazine offering an information packet. Bill presented each Representative with a sample and explained the contents. Articles enclosed cover such topics as the STCA Fact Sheet, breed standard, VWD and Cramp, spay/neuter, where to buy, coat colors, and a list of Regional Clubs in the area where the person lives. This packet project is now being sponsored by the STCA, but Bill suggested that each Club should sponsor some sort of local effort, personalizing a packet for local residents. The STC of Michigan originally began by placing advertisements in the local newspaper. Bill stated that , to date, he had mailed 207 packets, and he read several of the most interesting letters.

How patriotic! This bitch was conceived in liberty: her fuse was lit July 4, 1987. Then she and fellow West Texan George Bush both finished their championships Nov. 8, 1988. Cherry Bomb is pictured the previous weekend with Judge Mildred Bryant and owner Carole Owen.

Minor fireworks were set off Montgomery County weekend by The Bomber and Maripi. Not too bad: RWB Devon, 2nd in Open in Montgomery behind BOB "Tempest," in the Hatboro ribbons, too.

And along the way: two AKC all-breed Best in Matches, a BOS Sweeps and RWB from Houston Specialty puppy class, a Northern California Specialty weekend major, 2 BOBs and 2 BOS over her Top 10 Scottie Bitch-ranked sister, our "Sister." Cherry Bomb's only littermate, Owyn Cuatro de Julio has won six points (4 pt. major) at his first three shows. The breeding was repeated. Our new firecrackers popped out Dec. 21: 3 bitches, 2 dogs.

Kathie McKessor reported on a new anaesthesia being used successfully by veterinarian called Isoflorine which has a much shorter recovery time, and puts the animal on its feet in about 15 minutes.

Kathi Brown, STCA President, reported to the RCR that the list of new officers sent yearly from each Regional Club, and containing addresses and phone numbers, also be sent to the STCA Corresponding Secretary as well as the Editor of the Bagpiper and the Regional Clubs' Representatives Committee Chairman. Also, that the printing of the STCA Membership Roster by States as in previous years will be available at a later date. The STCA is also planning a weekend seminar of education on the Scottish Terrier. The plans are being formulated now. She asked that members respond to the talent search card mailed to them recently. STCA has available Scottie note pads (set of two) for $3.

Meeting adjourned 11:15 A.M. and Representatives enjoyed rolls and coffee afterwards.

Respectfully Submitted,

STC of CALIFORNIA "The Bulletin"

Jackie Herron, Editor 35609 Persimmon St., Yucaipa, CA 92399

The STCC has completed their task of transferring the old films in their possession on to video tapes - and they are fun to watch! These records of our history are available for sale from the STCC. The last two year's Specialties are also available. Anyone interested may contact Donn LaVigne, 1739 Lanai Drive, Granite Hills, CA 92019.

We are also planning our Puppy Matches for 1989 (Mother's Day - 5/14/89, and October 15, 1989). We're trying something new at these matches by inviting all interested to participate in a "Show of Scottie Collectibles". Anyone interested may contact Jackie Herron.

Scottie Rescue continues to operate smoothly under the direction of our Chairperson Sally McElvain. She and numerous others involved have helped re-home many Scotties that needed to be rescued or relocated.

As 1989 begins, we begin another year of involvement, events, and fund-raisers to assist our beloved Scotties obtain better lives.

STC of CHICAGO "The Plaid Piper"

Sarah L. Dye, Editor 919 Saint John Street, Elgin, IL 60120

The STC Chicago held its annual awards luncheon following the Lake Shore Kennel Club Show on Saturday, November 21, 1988. The club recognized the following members and their dogs with Champion Award Plaques: Iris Burke, Ceil and Duane Erikson, Nancy Fingerhut, Dave and Nancy Gurnic, Barb and Tim Lahtinen, Tom and Adele McGann, Alison McMillan, Diana and Don Murray, Linda Nolan, Barbara Snobel, Darlene Titus, and Jean and Larry Zale. The group is to be congratulated for finishing 49 champions!

Plans continue to develop for the club's 60th Annual Specialty on Saturday, June 17, 1989, in conjunction with the Great Lakes Terrier Association Show at Lake County Fairgrounds, Grayslake, IL. Club members are preparing a Scottie boutique table for the specialty weekend. We hope you will join us for our 60th show!

STC of GREATER DENVER "The Scotsman"

Elizabeth Cooper, 7843 Everett Way, Arvada, CO 80005

The club held a Fun Match on December 11, 1988. Margaret Plumb judged an entry of 29 and made the following placements:

- BEST JUNIOR IN MATCH - Besscott's Caledonian, owned by Jack and Betty Cooper
- BEST OPPOSITE SEX JUNIOR IN MATCH - Shardon's Lady Ashley, owned by Don and Sharon Sears
- BEST SENIOR IN MATCH - Motherwell Misty O'Besscott's owned by Lee and Pam Wilson
- BEST OPPOSITE SEX SENIOR IN MATCH - Besscott's Glengarry owned by Kathy Newman

After the Match, the club held a pot-luck supper at the home of Jack and Betty Cooper to celebrate the holiday season. There were 48 members and friends in attendance and it was a most festive evening.

STC of GREATER HOUSTON "The Skirl"

James Justice, Editor 12010 S. Downe Court, Houston, TX 77089

The STCGH will hold its annual Specialty Show on Thursday, August 3, 1989, during the Astro Hall Series of shows. Judges are Christine Stephens - Sweepstakes, Fred Stephens - Regular Classes, and Hazel Arnold - Jr. Showmanship, pending AKC approval.

The club will also host the STCA National Rotating Specialty in conjunction with the Strawberry Cluster of shows in the Spring of 1990. The Specialty will be held as part of the Fort Bend Kennel Club Show.

Ch. Make My Day of Mayson

For the breeder seeking the "English" Look. Get substance and tail-up temperament without losing American elegance. "Bang" is the sire of Group-winner Ch. Anstamm Maid in America. VWD clear; Videotape available.

Ch. Sun-Ray Summer Sun

The ideal choice for the breeder with a slightly bigger, longer girl. "Barney" is an excellent choice to bring down size without losing substance. STC of GREATER LOUISVILLE "Scot's Rap"

Donna L. Cambron, Editor 1312 Sportsman Drive, Jeffersonville, IN 47130

In October, our hearts were saddened with the sudden death of one of our club's founders, Raul Bignon. Raul pioneered the STCGL and nurtured it to its present position. He served as the President, was a member of the Board of Directors, served as Show Chairperson, and donated his time to build our club. Raul was the silent partner in helping the club to achieve recognition. Always in his quiet way Raul knew the answers or he found the proper document necessary to answer the question. Raul, with his knowledge, understanding, and patience, faithfulness to the club, and love of the Scottish Terrier leaves his family and friends a great heritage and legacy.

Our club has two exciting events coming up this spring. On May 13, 1989, we will host our "Black and White Match" in conjunction with the Scottish Heritage Weekend at Butler State Park, Carrollton, KY. This repeated event has become an exciting and joyful day for our dogs and their owners.

Another Scottish Heritage Weekend will be held June 3, 1989, in Glasgow, KY. This is the second year for this event, and we are proud to say that the Glasgow Games have personally invited our dogs back to this event. We will host a Fun Match again this year, as people really enjoyed learning about our dogs and seeing the match.

GREATER MIAMI STC "The Scotch Piper"

Marjorie Cohen, Editor 1429 S.E. 6th Street, Deerfield Beach, FL 33441

On December 9, 1988, the Greater Miami Scottish Terrier Club held its 30th Annual Specialty at the Dade County Youth Fair Complex in conjunction with 15 other breed clubs, members of the Combined Specialty Clubs of Miami. Due to the illness of the Sweepstakes Judge, Mr. Armando Perez-Gili graciously stepped in to judge, and chose Lois Bolding's BOLDMERE TARRED 'N FEATHERED as Best in Sweepstakes.

Mrs. Neatha Robinson judged the Regular Classes and made the following placements:

BEST OF BREED - CH. Quercus Lasting Impression, owned by Antonella Visconti di Modrone

BEST OF OPPOSITE SEX - CH. Hughcrest Dealer's Choice, owned by Pat Silc and Judy Hughes

BEST OF WINNERS and WINNERS BITCH - Boldmere's Cakewalk, owned by Lois Bolding

WINNERS DOG - Deewyre's Sunspryte, owned by Alice Clay & Ellen Axelrod

Twenty-eight members and friends gathered for the After Show Dinner on December 10th. There were many guests from out-of-town, with the greatest distance being traveled by Mrs. Katharine Munro of Charlottesville, VA. CH. Quercus Lasting Impression was BOB again at the Fort Lauderdale Kennel Club and Greater Miami Dog Club shows on December 10th and 11th.

STC of WESTERN VIRGINIA "Under the Kilt"

Sandi Hach, Editor, 1534 Sherbrooke Drive, Lynchburg, VA 24502

Big plans are underway for the 25th Annual Specialty Show to be held on Friday September 22, 1989. There is a NEW LOCATION - the Natural Bridge in Virginia. The site is indoors and the principal trophies will be Sterling Silver. Make plans to attend!

TAMPA BAY STC "Thistle and That"

Pete Clay, Editor 11787 - 66th St. N., Largo FL 34643

Although we are not yet sanctioned by the AKC, we have been busy as a club holding fun matches and participating in many activities involving our Scotties and dog clubs. Our next Fun Match will be held on March 26, 1989. It will be the 4th one so far! We are hoping to receive permission soon from the AKC so we can begin holding B-Matches.

From October 1987 to December 1988, members of our club completed Championships on 8 Scotties. Most were owner-handled.

NEW CHAMPION GLENBY BLACK RUBY "GUSSIE"

By Ch. Glenby Gallant Venture × Ch. Glenby's Special Blend
(Making # 10 For Brenda)

Gussie finished in 10 weeks of showing and what a show girl!!
She never let me down!

We thank Alice Shepard (Paddyhill) for raising Gussie to be the show girl she is!!

Watch for her handsome black son: SOON TO BE OUT!

Our club is also actively involved in helping with the Hospitality at the St. Petersburg Dog Fanciers Association Show, the last one being January 14, 1989. Sixteen members worked. We are conspicuous in our red T-Shirts with our club logo, which cause many people to say, "O, I didn't know there was a Scottie Club!" We are just beginning, but we are growing!

THE WASHINGTON STATE STC "The Clan Clarion"

Felix R. Zollinger, Editor P.O. Box 1893 Woodinville, WA 98072

The WSSTC is happy to report a most successful year. Our 43rd Specialty was held on June 10th at the Sherwood Inn near Tacoma, WA. Sweepstakes Judge was Mrs. Betty McArthur, and Dr. T. Allen Kirk, Jr. judged the Regular Classes. The results were as follows:

WINNERS DOG/BEST OF WINNERS - Glad Mac's Taliesin the Bard, owned by Camille Partridge

WINNERS BITCH - Seeing Red, owned by Sanford Rosenfeld

BEST OF OPPOSITE SEX - Ch. Quercus the Beat Goes On, owned by Sandra and Thomas Lehrack

BEST OF BREED - Ch. Sandreg's Foxmoor, owned by James and Elizabeth Boso

The Grooming Seminar was a hit, and those who came were fortunate to be taught by Christine Stephens. Our Fund Raising efforts with the STC of DAYTON (our T-shirt, their watch) was a smashing hit.

Our active Scottie Rescue is headed by Bob and Eileen Childress.

Looking ahead, we hope you will plan to join us on June 9, 1989, for our 44th Specialty. Sanford Rosenfeld will judge Sweepstakes, and Mrs. John G. Wanner will judge Regular Classes. It should be an exciting show.

Officers for 1989 are:

- President - Harry Hicks
- Vice President - Diane Zollinger (1989 Show Chairperson)
- Corresponding Secretary - Patricia Farmer
- Recording Secretary - Margie Vinciguerra
- Treasurer - Janet Kerns

CORRECTION

The names of the Corresponding and Recording secretaries of the Greater Pittsburgh STC were not reported correctly in the Fall, 1988 issue. Pamela James is the Corresponding Secretary and Laurie Dunbar is the Recording Secretary.

Scottish Terrier Club of Greater Houston invites you to the Astro Series of Dog Shows: Our 9th Annual Specialty Thursday, Aug. 3, 1989

Class judge: Fred Stephens
Sweepstakes judge: Christine Stephens

There is a new Superintendent for the Astroshows:
Newport Dog Shows

Have an Astro Vacation our specialty weekend. Your children (and you) will find Texas-sized entertainment, Astroworld and WaterWorld, immediately adjacent to our air-conditioned Astrohalla show site. Convenient hotels are just across the street (yes, walking distance). And, our Specialty is followed by three of the largest all-breed shows in America, Aug. 4-6 (almost 4,000 entries daily last year).

We need another, and a wiser, and perhaps a more mystical concept of animals. For the animal shall not be measured by man. They are not brethren. They are not underlings.

They are other nations, caught with ourselves in the net of life and time—fellow prisoners of the travail and splendor of earth.

— Henry Beston —
