Cover Story

CH. ANSTAMM BROOKWOOD JOINT VENTURE

Once upon a time in the land of Anstamm the ladies in waiting were waiting. Queen Charlene was about to bring forth her first litter. Far, far away in the land of Brookwood, the Brookwoodiens waited also; the pick of the litter was to be theirs and they were hoping for a new princess. At last, the message came. A single male heir had been produced. He would, of course, move to the land of Brookwood if the Brookwoodiens wanted him. They did! However, they felt such a precious little prince should have dual citizenship and so Anstamm Brookwood Joint Venture was christened. Six weeks later the precious little prince moved to Brookwood where he immediately won the hearts of all the realm. Don Petrusis dubbed him IVAN and it stuck. As time passed and Ivan grew he proved such a delight to live with that he would have been cherished if he had never won a single contest. However (in limited combat), with breeder, owner, handler Patty Brooks, Ivan amassed many trophies. In 1994, Ivan completed his championship with three specialty Best Of Winners and Reserve Winners Dog at the STCA Montgomery County Specialty. In 1995, he became a Multiple Group Winner and finished the year ranked number two Scottish Terrier Dog and number four Scottish Terrier by "Dog News." In the first two months of campaigning in 1996, while still only two years of age:

Ivan will live happily ever after, eating cookies in our bed each night when he is old and gray, just as he does every night today. He brings a smile to our lips, a song to our hearts, and joy to our souls. Fred and I are blessed by his very special presence and by the very special friendship we share with his co-owners at Anstamm, Miriam Stamm, Cindy Cooke, and Linda Nolan.

President's Message . . .

TO THE MEMBERS OF THE SCOTTISH TERRIER CLUB OF AMERICA:

Thank you - ONE AND ALL. There cannot be a more cooperative group than this one. This does not mean that there were not difficult times during my presidency, nor does this mean that there was continuous acceptance of what was being done. It means that there was constructive criticism when needed and that you were helpful and involved when necessary.

The Board, without exception, has been a dedicated one. They worked well together and agreed to disagree. I am sure it was difficult at times, but we worked like a team, and I am proud of them.

I DO have one concern for our future and that pertains to our newer members. We MUST encourage and welcome the new members to the fancy. Most of us were helped along the way, and we need to guide others. I came up through the process as a breeder-owner-handler like many others, and win or lose, it was always the most rewarding aspect of the sport for me. We must encourage our new members to dare to 'do it all.' I think that the participation and the struggle to perfect is STILL the driving force of our sport. We put SO much emphasis on the win, and there is much more to the sport than that. I guarantee one thing - when you help a new comer, they will NEVER forget you, and more important - THEY INSURE OUR FUTURE! Not a bad legacy.

At this time, STCA is busy at work on many fronts: Montgomery County preparations, the illustration of the standard, constitution changes, yearbook, year 2000 plans, articles/tapes collection of our revered Scottie people, health articles/seminars, health research, etc., etc. All of these activities reflect a responsible and vital membership.

- 'To promote the quality breeding of Scottish Terriers, to protect and advance the interest of the breed and sportsmanship conduct.'

Sounds good to me! See you in October!

Shirley

AKC Delegate's Report . . .

June 11, 1996
Joanne Kinnelly

The June 11, 1996 meeting was preceded by Delegates Forum presentation on the Obedience Committee, the Canine Health Foundation, the Internet and AKC and then a question and answer session with the Executive Vice President and Chairman of the Board.

At the meeting following, the amendment to Chapter 3, Section 4B of the "Rules", establishing a restricted non-breeding registration based on color was not adopted. The amendment to Chapter 12, Section 4 of the "rules" to require inclusion of the names of agents in show catalogs was adopted. The amendment to Chapter 14, Section 4 of the "Retriever Field Rules" providing an optional method of starting dogs in stakes was adopted. The appeal of the Board disapproval of Dachshund Club of America delegate candidate (because of employment as a professional judge) was denied by the delegates. An informal, non-binding advisory vote was taken on the subject of the AKC move to North Carolina. 122 delegates voted in agreement with the move. 11 voted against. The Chairman reported Board decisions that the Companion Animal Recovery program will become a separate 501 C3 tax exempt entity; that there will be capital upgrade for desktop publishing; that there will be a fund for management and preservation of AKC's art collection; that an obedience video will be produced; and that the Board recommends an amendment of Article IV, Section 5 to state that parent clubs own breed standards with AKC having full use of them. This to be read in September for vote at the December meeting.

Read for vote at the September meeting were amendments: (1) to Article VI, Section 9 of the Constitution to eliminate requiring that member clubs be elected by ballot unless request is received from at least five delegates; (2) to Chapter 11, Section 1 of the "Rules" to enable residents of countries with registries whose pedigrees are acceptable for AKC registration to exhibit for 30 days under the foreign registration number; (3) to Chapter 3, Sections 6 and 7 to the "Rules" to permit dogs whelped outside the U.S. to compete in Novice and, if registered with AKC, in Bred-by-Exhibitor; and (4) to Chapter 17, Sections 24 and 25 of the Pointing Breed Field Trial Rules to permit the American Pointer Club to hold annual National and National Amateur Championship Stakes. Delegate Committees will also report in September. A press conference was held following the Meeting by Dr. Berndt, Mr. Merriam and some AKC staff and was attended by Dog News reporters Sari Tietgen and Matt Stander. □ study of Scottish Terrier results on the traditional vWD ELISA vWF:Ag blood test and results of the new vWD DNA test. Cornell is the repository for the extensive vWD records from Dr. Jean Dodds' former hematology laboratory in Albany, NY. Researchers expect the study may help refine the vWD blood test's borderline (possible carrier) values.

A statistically significant number of Scotties is needed to insure the study's scientific validity. Please share test results on any of your Scotties which have been tested by both the new DNA vWD test and by the ELISA vWD blood test at Dr. Dodds' or Cornell's laboratories. All information on dogs and owners will be treated confidentially.

Confidential Information Collection Forms are available from Dr. Marjory Brooks, Comparative Hematology Section, Diagnostic Laboratory, Cornell University, Ithaca, NY 14853. Phone: 607/275-0622; Fax: 607/275-0720. Information requested is: AKC number and name of dog, DNA test result, ELISA vWF:Ag blood test results, accession number of vWF:Ag Albany and/or Cornell tests, dates tested.

Cornell's study could assist Scottish Terrier owners whose dogs have tested in the possible carrier zone understand the true carrier status of their Scotties. This could be especially helpful for deceased dogs which cannot now be DNA tested.

Letters

The Bagpiper welcomes articles and letters for publication.

Due to space limitations, articles and letters should be of reasonable length.

Articles and letters may be edited for clarity, taste and length.

All articles and letters must be signed and must contain the writer's address and telephone number. Addresses and telephone numbers will not be printed.

Anonymous letters or letters with initials only will not be printed.

Articles must contain source references, and where copyright applies, must be cleared to reprint.

vWD DNA Test

VetGen genetic testing for vWD in Scottish Terriers is now available. DNA samples are taken by dog owners using a VetGen Sample Collection Kit. The dog owner, using a cheek swab provided by VetGen, simply runs the swab inside the dog's mouth, gently scraping the lining of each of the dog's cheeks to get a sample. This process is pain free and takes only about twenty seconds. The swab with the sample is then placed back in its container and mailed to VetGen. Within two to four weeks, a summary report of the findings will be mailed to the dog owner.

The VetGen Sample collection Kit is only $5. The testing of the dog's DNA and the summary report of the results cost $135 per dog. For further information call: VetGen at 1-800-4VETGEN. □

Trophy Committee Report

Patty Brooks
Chairman 1994-1996

I thank the Board for the confidence they showed in me when they appointed me Trophy Chairman, and for their unswerving support these past three years. I also thank my committee members, our upcoming Trophy Chairmen, Marge Carpenter and Dianne Welde. Marge did an outstanding job of making and executing the trophy plans for this year's Rotating Specialty, hosted by GNYSTC and she will do an excellent job as Trophy

Chairman next year. Dianne has done all the record keeping and list making for our committee this year, and has already commissioned breed specific trophies for next year's Rotating. A special thank you goes to Michael and Barbara Botak for assuming responsibility for the Lloyd and our challenge trophies between Montgomery show. Most of all THANKS TO EACH OF YOU who has supported the trophy fund drives these past three years! Thank you not only for your generosity but also for your promptness and willingness to support new methods of approach.

A few words about how your money is used. Trophies ordered from artists or artisans must be ordered 8 to 10 months in advance. Even some mass produced items must be ordered well in advance to insure timely delivery of the large number of pieces we require (65 for the Rotating and 92 for Montgomery). Of course, these orders must be accompanied by a 50% deposit so we are always working with uncollected funds, with the necessary advances provided by the STCA. Our budget for each show is the amount you donated for that show the previous year. Any surplus monies go into the STCA general fund and any shortfall is made up by the STCA. □

PAWSITIVELY CLEAN SCOTS!

A. It is recommended that all exhibitors examine their hotel rooms upon arrival and report any existing damage to the hotel manager immediately.

B. Traveling items should include the following when appropriate: Heavy duty plastic for floors, newspapers, heavy duty garbage bags, paper towels, baggies for picking up solid waste. A general cleaning solution, white vinegar and water in a spray bottle for the carpet (in the event your dog has an accident en route to the outdoor exercise area), and a good room deodorizer. Water, food, spoons, can openers and dishes. Medication for diarrhea should be routinely packed. It is not uncommon for a dog to develop colitis during the excitement and stress of a long weekend. Drying towels must come from home!

C. All dogs are to be crated when owners are not in the hotel room. It is often helpful to leave the TV on softly. Dogs will not respond to unfamiliar sounds if they don't hear them. If your dog is prone to barking, (we've all had at least one), you will want to take the dog with you when you leave the room. Dogs guilty of continuous barking may subject their owners to being removed from the hotel, with no room refund.

D. PAWSITIVELY CLEAN crates are located at hotel exits with items you may have forgotten to pack. STCA provides these items for your convenience . . . please use them.

E. Outdoor exercise areas must be kept clean! Do not exercise your dog in any area except designated areas, and pick up solid waste immediately and dispose of it in the proper receptacle.

F. If the hotel specifically requests NO GROOMING in your room, RESPECT OF THEIR WISHES IS MANDATORY. NEVER USE HOTEL TOWELS ON YOUR DOGS. When there are no grooming restrictions, common sense and STCA dictates that you spread a bed sheet or spread from your home under the grooming table before grooming. If possible, a hand held vacuum should be packed and used when necessary.

G. Taking litters of puppies to a Specialty weekend is never encouraged for the health and welfare of the pups. If you MUST travel with them, they should be kept in the standard puppy pen, NOT an exercise pen. The activity level of puppies is high, and they can easily move an exercise pen around.

H. As a show of courtesy and as a responsible dog owner, we encourage you to leave your calling card and a tip for the housekeeper. Responsible dog owners are willing to stand up and be counted!

I. All rooms are subject to inspection during your hotel stay by an STCA member, as well as a hotel representative, to insure that these and other specific hotel guidelines are being followed.

J. STCA members are expected to report any infractions to their Show Chairman or members of the Board as soon as observed.

K. It is understood that each member will be fully responsible for any and all fees charged by the hotel in the event they are found guilty of improper behavior and/or of damage to the hotel facility.

L. In addition, any alleged prejudicial conduct will result in a Bench Show Hearing which may result in suspension of STCA and AKC privileges.

EXEMPLARY MANNERS ARE THE ONLY MANNERS ACCEPTABLE!

When the Show Chairman informs the host hotels that we are responsible dog owners, he expects the membership to take this responsibility seriously.

STCA WILL NOT ACCEPT MEMBERS AND EXHIBITORS WHO ARE NOT RESPONSIBLE, NOR RESPECTFUL OF HOTEL FACILITIES DURING OUR EVENTS.

1996 Rotating Specialty Judges's Comments

By Dr. Robert J. Berndt

The Rotating Specialty of the Scottish Terrier Club of America, held on May 4, 1996, in conjunction with the Bucks County Kennel Club show, was a testimonial to the quality of the breed and to the accomplishments of the breeders. The entry of 97 reflected not only quantity, but also quality. The breed continues to improve and change in very subtle ways. Overall coat quality was outstanding, although there were one or two dogs being exhibited with coats that were not mature, and others that had coats that had grown past their prime.

Winners Dog was the open dog, Destiny's Stage Door Johnny. This dog presented the correct outline, reflecting good proportions and balance. The head was very masculine with a good dark eye to reflect the fire of the breed. Reserve Winners Dog came from the Bred by Exhibitor Class and was Starbarrack First Date. This is a very promising dog reflecting many of the qualities of the Winners Dog.

Winners Bitch was the Open, Anstamm Can't Say No. She reflected the fire and intensesness that is expected in the breed. She had a good hard coat and handled herself well in competition. The Reserve Winners Bitch was also from the Open class. She was Starview N Deblin's Star Talk. She was a contender with her correct outline and her intent expression.

The Best of Breed winner was the dog, Ch. Anstamm Brookwood Joint Venture. This dog presented the correct outline, had the talent to move with power and a ring commanding presence. His coat was in full bloom, and he acted like a winner from the first go-around. He made his presence felt when he eyed the competition. Best of Opposite Sex went to Ch. Amescot's The Eyes Have It. This bitch stands for quality and moves with the correct gait for a Scottish Terrier. Her correct coat and expression completed the picture.

Best of winners went to the dog Destiny's Stage Door Johnny. Three Awards of Merit were made to Ch. Destiny's Staying Power, who was the sire of the BOW dog, to Ch. Duff-De Ruby Tuesday and to Ch. Caevnes Devils Due.

Sweepstakes

By Theresa Duncan

I would like to thank the STCA for giving me the opportunity to judge the Sweepstakes at their National Rotating this year. I would also like to thank the exhibitors for presenting their puppies to me for examination. I certainly enjoyed the experience.

Overall, I was very pleased with the exhibits. The exhibitors's grooming and presentation was pleasing, and, while we all like to see a well-groomed Scottie, I caution everyone to remember that grooming is not a hereditary factor in breeding. Two areas that I found could be improved on are expression and rear movement. We seem to be losing that piercing Scottie expression which comes from a deep set, dark almond shape eye. We need to work on angulation, since we are seeing too many straight rears. This, along with open and long hocks, results in lack of drive from the rear.

My Best In Sweeps bitch I found to be well balanced, typey, good bone, nice head, and, of the three division winners, to have the better eye, be lower to the ground and to have the better rear movement.

I congratulate all the breeders and wish you the best! □

STCA's 1996 Rotating Specialty

By Ruth Ann Krause

Approximately ten years ago, Dave and I were sitting around the breakfast table with John and Barbara DeSaye. While the bulk of our conversation was devoted to dog talk (of course), at one point we were amused to compare what we would do with a million dollars. John said he would buy a large motor home and travel the country, attending each Specialty. I have no idea why I remember this conversation, but I suspect this would be a dream come true for most Scottie fanciers. Who among us doesn't look forward to regional, rotating and our national specialties each year?

Preparation for our specialty shows is dependent upon the talents of many, as well as their willingness to devote time for 'the cause'. I am constantly in awe of the generosity of volunteers who make these shows so memorable.

Our rotating specialty was held on May 4th this year, hosted by the Scottish Terrier Club of Greater New York and held in conjunction with the Bucks County show. New York's specialty was held the following day in conjunction with the Trenton Kennel Club show.

Regional Show Chairman, Karen Hansen, gave of her talents and endless hours to insure a fantastic week-end for the Scottie lovers and exhibitors.

Managing a full time job, a severe case of pneumonia, and a near fatal drug reaction, Karen was always on top of things, attending to the smallest detail. I will always be in her debt!

Week-end festivities included our STCA Board meeting, a lovely banquet, followed by a program presented by researcher, Dr. Schall, regarding the new definitive testing procedure for vWD. A health seminar on genetics was presented by Kathi Brown. Added to the two specialties were three additional all breed shows, making this a 5 show cluster for the serious exhibitor. If, like yours truly, you were privileged to include a bit of R&R to this full week-end, you were truly blessed.

I could never adequately express my appreciation to the New York club and its members whose total effort produced this fine week-end. My national chairmen also receive my public praise. Patti Brooks, National Trophy Chairman, was ably assisted by Mary Carpenter. Due to her Sweepstakes judging assignment, Theresa Duncan avoided a conflict of interest and was assisted by Gail Dalrymple. And, hats off to Dinner Chairman, Carole Carpenter, for a lovely banquet.

Once again, to everyone who worked in any capacity, my sincerest thanks for a job well done!

Yes, John, it would be fantastic if we could all travel the country from specialty to specialty - but I hope someone stays home to do the work required for these memorable events!

I hope to see you all at Montgomery County in October, and mark your calendars for STCA's Rotating 1997 - Easter week-end, Dayton, Ohio! (Yes, the Dayton Club is knee deep in preparations as I write.)□

The Nine-to-Five Scottie

The Scottie Publicist

By Carole Fry Owen

The Nine-to-Five Scottie article in the AKC Gazette (December, 1995) was a favorite of many. Here's the "rest of the story" about one of those workers.

Molly is a PR Specialist. Call her a publicist.

Molly is Scottish Terrier Nickelsworth Grace. She is owned by Barbara Christiansen, executive director of the Los Angeles area's La Cañada Flintridge Chamber of Commerce. Molly goes to work with Barbara almost daily.

One of Molly's big jobs is the "Shop La Cañada" campaign. She is always available for publicity photos with local merchants. Molly loves to dress up as can be seen in the Chamber's business directory-monthly planner. Molly is dolled up in a costume to fit every month. In January, she smiles under a New Year's party hat. In June, she wears a bridal veil; in August, sunglasses. October, naturally, shows Molly kissing a jack-o'-lantern. Get the idea?

California merchants capitalize on Molly's charm. She appears in ad after ad. In one real estate ad, Molly suggests, "La Cañada's a Great Place to Live."

Another ad shows Molly in bunny ears leading Easter shoppers down the bunny trail in La Cañada Flintridge. Goodness, Molly's even been an official judge for the Chamber's Dog Look-A-Like Contest.

Her duties obviously extend far past office hours. What would the local Memorial Day Parade be without its Molly? Barbara says Molly visits schools and convalescent and retirement homes. She's been mascot for a local rabies clinic, too, and appeared in the 1994 Pasadena Humane Society and SPCA Calendar.

Molly understands juggling jobs. She's a working mother. Molly's raised a number of successful Scotties herself. Several champion children call Molly "Mom."

Who is your Nine-to-Five Scottie? Send information and photos for future features to Carole Owen, 9 Coachman's Circle, Big Spring, TX 79720, ph. 915/263-3404. □

Helen B. Gaither

Remembered by Alice Watkins - June 1996

It is very difficult to write about a dear beloved one who has just passed away. Helen was my best friend, role model, and mentor.

My first introduction to Helen was 28 years ago, through Stewart Gettle (Saggettes). Stu had bred to several of Helen's good stud dogs. He would plan several trips a year to visit Helen. These trips brought him a lot of pleasure. Wanting company for the 5 plus hour trip to Wheeling, West Virginia, Stu began inviting Ed and me to go with him. We would leave about 4:00 AM and arrive in time for a nice long chat. Helen always served a delicious lunch. For those who have never been to Helen's house, what an experience! Her dining room had numerous shelves from floor to ceiling. These shelves are laden with silver trophies her Scotties have won at various shows. I have been to stores that sell silver, but never have I seen so much silver in one room. The famous "Tauskey" photographs of all her top winning dogs are prominently displayed on the walls in the dining room, hallway and living room.

The next part of the visit was to go to Silver Ho Kennels, just outside of Wheeling and owned by Dr. Nancy C. Lenfesty. Dr. Lenfesty was the handler and manager of all the Gaidoune Scottish Terriers. They would bring some of the dogs out, one at a time so you could see them. What a thrill it was to see all of these wonderful and some very famous Gaidoune Scotties. Helen and Dr. Lenfesty were very particular and fussy, and would not place their dogs or puppies with just anyone. They had to know you for quite some time before they would trust you with one of their dogs. They also would turn you down for stud service if they felt your bitch was a poor specimen or if they felt a pregnancy would endanger the bitch. Because of this policy, Ch. Gaidoune Great Bear's record of champions and get, sired by him, were of better than average quality.

If Ch. Gaidoune Great Bear's record of champions had been measured by percentage of total get sired, I believe he would stand out as the all time top producer in the USA. When they used the phrase, "Bears The Mark of Excellence" in their ads, no one I knew ever took issue with that statement. This did not mean that they were only interested in show dogs. Helen would bring dogs from the kennel that wouldn't make it in the show ring and make house pets out of them. I think that Silver Ho kennels may have housed about 100 Gaidoune Scotties at a given time during their height of success. You may look in most Scottish Terrier books written in the last 25 to 30 years and find statistics on Gaidoune Scottish Terriers, but now I would like to give you a personal glimpse of the Lady behind the scenes.

The first Scottie Ed and I owned was Ch. Saggettes Murphy's Leisure, a son of Ch. Gaidoune Great Bear. I began showing Murphy when he was 5 plus years old. He became a champion when he turned 6. I lacked self confidence when I started to show Murphy, and without Helen's support I do not think I could have gone into the ring. The first C-Section I encountered was so traumatic for me, seeing that little dog with all those stitches. I had difficulty dealing with my conscience of having caused this awful thing. I was ready to bolt the scene as a breeder. Helen again was there supporting me with sound advice, and one thing she said which I will never forget was, "Alice, you will find there are more disappointments in breeding dogs than there are rewards." My thoughts at that time were, how can this be, you are so successful. So many times these words have been recalled, especially when one is dealing with puppies who looked so promising, then fell apart, a breeding that didn't take, newborn dead puppies and diseases lurking around every corner. Many times her words of encouragement have given me hope when I believed there was none.

Helen's kindness was extended to everyone she befriended. Whenever there were sick friends and neighbors, you would find Helen, in the kitchen cooking and packaging food that she would deliver to those in need. Most of her friends will miss her famous homemade Christmas cookies and chocolate Scotties that she would decorate with colorful paper, wrapped and sent over the Holidays.

Three personal stories I would like to share with you speak of the character of this wonderful lady.

Several times over the years, Helen would call to tell me to be on the look out for a perspective home for a rescue Scottie that was being held in her local pound. She knew the volunteer at the pound and they had agreed that the dog was not to be put to sleep, and that Helen would pay his or her board until a good home had been found. Her generosity was also extended to the other poor waifs who were sheltered in this facility as well.

One evening after finishing her kitchen chores, Helen picked up some of her jewelry lying on the counter to take upstairs. The jewelry fell out of her hand and onto the kitchen floor. She was able to retrieve all pieces except her most treasured one, which was a diamond ring that had belonged to her grandmother. For days the search went on and no ring. Even dog stools were checked in case they had found and swallowed this expensive morsel. The search for the ring never really ended for Helen. She finally reported the loss to her insurance company and was reimbursed accordingly. Helen went to a jewelry store to try and have the lost ring duplicated. Another ring was made but it did not have the same sentiment as grandmother's ring. About 4 years ago, she decided to remodel her kitchen. She told the workmen that if anyone happened to find a lost ring there would be a handsome reward for its return. The ring was found and the reward was gratefully given. That should be the end of a happy story, right? Wrong! Helen immediately reimbursed the insurance company and could not understand why they were so shocked in receiving the check from her.

About 13 years ago, Helen made an inquiry of how much I was asking for a puppy I was planning on selling. I told her the price, not knowing why she was inquiring. She told me she would be referring someone to purchase the puppy and for me to quote half of the price to this individual and she would make up the difference. The person who would be buying the puppy had fallen on bad times. Their old Scottie had died and they couldn't afford to buy a puppy at current prices. I was instructed by Helen never to tell this person about her involvement.

Footnote: The Scottie mentioned above passed away last year. While Helen was in the hospital this past April, she had me deliver another Scottie puppy to this same individual as a gift. This friend's husband died four days after Helen passed away. I have been told that this young Scot has been a big help in getting the friend through this very sad time.

Helen would be very embarrassed to read what I have written about her. She was a very humble, dignified, independent, free spirited, generous, witty and loyal individual, who thought of herself as being just ordinary. My wish to all of you is that you may have the experience of having a very best friend like Helen B. Gaither. □

Inez Hartley, A Tribute

By Evelyn Kirk

A Phi Beta Kappa graduate from West Hampton College, Inez Hartley was a warm, gracious southern lady who, with her husband, Heywood, bred lovely Scotties under the prefix Woodhart. She was a very busy person, a retired high school teacher, an elder in the Presbyterian Church, a past PTA officer, and past President of the Virginia Kennel Club in Richmond. She found time to raise two children, Robert and Sue, to judge internationally, and years ago she wrote the Gazette column for the STCA.

Inez was a member of the STCA for many years and judged Terriers, as well as other breeds, during her career. Even though she had been in ill health, she continued her judging assignments up until the weekend before her death in June 1996. Inez Hartley was buried in the family plot beside her husband in Georgia. A popular judge, she will be missed by many, many people in the dog world. □

Bonding

By Lee Netzler

A marriage contract is less serious compared to promises uniting us, and when considered from the point of view that partners who would like to cancel it may legally divorce, and often do. There's no such law allowing us to quit.

But you and I are willing volunteers, first casual acquaintances, then friends who found out that we make good company. And now, whenever you are next to me I smile, thinking how we'll spend our years until this mutual commitment ends.

These days, divorcing pairs are no surprise, but failing vows don't worry you and me. Some folks could take example from our ties; Dogs wrote the book about fidelity; I pledge dog-caring as a life-long oath. With these, Dog-Master bonding binds us both.

Sometimes God Picks the Prettiest Flowers

By Dr. Vandra L. Huber

I'm afraid misfortune of devastating proportions has hit our house. On June 26, 1996, Am. Can. Ch. Gaelforce Postscript, "Peggy Sue," was diagnosed with liver cancer. At 4 AM, July 3, 1996, she died in her puppy bed. She was 5 1/2 years old. We buried her in our garden with her favorite carrot toy and some dog biscuits. We placed a Scottie garden statue on top of her grave to stand watch, surrounded by some lovely Scotch Moss and Forget-Me-Nots.

We still are uncertain what type of cancer it was. We believe that it was lymphosarcoma, which attacks dogs between 5 and 7 years of age, and is more common in Scotties than many breeds. This form of cancer is usually treatable, and life can be extended for 6 months to three years. But, it didn't happen with Peggy. Her cancer was concentrated in her liver, one of the worse and most unusual places for cancer in canines.

I am fortunate that the only board certified oncologist in Washington State, Karria A. Meleo, worked five miles from my house. My primary veterinarian, Susan Torganson, was also there for me. We started chemotherapy Monday, and she seemed a tiny bit better Tuesday and appeared to be tolerating it well. Thirty-six hours passed without serious reaction to the chemotherapy. She also received some special synthetic plasmas that add protein to the blood and help to eliminate the extensive edema. After her plasma treatment, Peggy wanted to go home. We sat outside together and I watched Peggy Sue sit in the grass as if she was soaking in the strength of the sun, the beauty of the flowers, and the power of the breeze - one last time.

She was alert until the end, and it comforted me that she would perk up when I would come in the room. Michael and I slept in shifts so she was never alone. But, in the end she knew how difficult it would be for me if I would have to make a life or death decision. So, with dignity, no cries of pain, she just went to sleep. I thank her and

God for that.

While the choice was made to share Peggy Sue with the dog world for several years, I have few regrets. Some people only saw her in the lime-light. Some people only saw me soaking up her wins. Only a few saw me as I held her at the end of a show and cried each time I said goodbye until the next time. But, I told myself, she'd come home to me eventually, after she had done her work in the ring. I held on to the joy I saw in people's faces when they saw her at her best. I could do this, because I also knew I left her in the trusted care of her special friend, her handler Maripi Wooldridge. Maripi loved her as much as I did. The same can be said for Joe Kinnarney, Camille Partridge, her breeder, and my dear husband Michael Krolewski.

Most folks only recall Peggy Sue with her handler Maripi. But I am proud to say that I personally put the majority of points on Peggy Sue. Her first breed win was under Mrs. Mildred Bryant at a tiny show in Idaho. I had sent her with Dennis Springer to learn to walk on a lead. Dennis won the breed with Peggy Sue bouncing around. He didn't show her in the group. Mrs. Bryant asked him in the group ring where the little Scottie bitch was. Dennis replied, "In her crate." She said, "Big mistake. You just lost the group!"

Maripi had me hold her back (needing one point) so she could go to Great Western, where she finished under now STCA President Shirley Justus over more than 30 bitches. Then I brought her back home. I wanted to take her to Canada and show her at the BC All Terrier Club show. The judge that day in Canada was Anne Rogers Clark. She narrowed down her choices to the top winning Westie and Peggy Sue. She brought them out to look at each other. Peggy stood her ground and kicked her rear legs. In typical Annie fashion, she said, "Put her over there." With a twinkle in her eye, she pointed - Best in Specialty Show, from the 12-18 bitch class, over 200 terriers. I showed her to Edna Joel a month later and put the first All-Breed Best in Show on her at the Victoria Kennel Club. And, I showed her at her first Montgomery County (she was the second youngest special in the ring that day).

As most of you know, there are many great show dogs. The majority either are great in the all-breed ring or in the specialty ring. I am proud to say that Peggy Sue won in both. There was her first specialty win under Breeder-Judge Elaine Rigden. I was so nervous. Jackie Seelbach had to keep me calm. Then there was her Montgomery Best of Breed under Fred Stephens. I thank him for having the courage to put her up, even though he and I spar in our own backyards. Mrs. Clark gave Peggy Sue her first All-Breed Best in Show in Florida. At the STCA rotating specialty in Kansas City, Judge David Merriam was just starting to go over Peggy Sue. Just then, 20 chairs crashed to the floor. Peggy pulled into herself, looked over at where the commotion was coming from and showed all the better. Maripi and I laughed about it afterwards. Her second Montgomery specialty win was under Mareth Kipp, who commented on her proper Scottish Terrier head and expression, her fluid movement and meticulous presentation.

And, of course, there was the Garden. It was nerve wracking and wonderful. First, there was the breed competition with Maripi and Peggy in the ring, Joe Kinnarney, my husband Michael and me outside of the ring, wondering what Holloway would do. We were all tense, but Maripi and Peggy shined. After judging was over, Holloway teased Maripi by saying, "I had you worried, didn't I?" Then it was off to the group with Stephen Shaw. I thought I would die when Maripi tossed a piece of liver and he handed it back to her. His face looked so stern. Once again, Peggy Sue, with Maripi's guidance, was a star, each hair in place, each movement carefully orchestrated. And, then there was Best in Show. I recall thinking, "Isn't it nice, Jackie Hungerland really gave her a good look. Now which other dog will she pick?" When she said she'd have the Scottie please . . . well, the rest is history. Hundreds of letters, calls, television appearances, FDR's daughter-in-law calling and love pouring in from around the

We showed her three more times after that, in Seattle at the rotating specialty under Judge Ed Bivin, at the Washington State Scottish Terrier specialty under Nellie Holland, and finally Montgomery last fall, where she went Best of Breed under Scottish breeder/judge Carol Annan.

In January, 1996, she was bred to McVan's Duke of Earl. She came home to me then. She settled on our bed as if to say, "So what else is new since I've been gone?" Peggy Sue's puppies were born in March, three girls (two blacks and one wheaten) and two boys (a black and a wheaten). I feel fortunate that Peggy Sue was home with me for the last 6 months, and that I had the opportunity to see her beautiful puppies being born.

I like to think that Peggy Sue helped to refocus attention on balance, type, and correct size. In my opinion, she had the most beautiful head planes I have ever seen. In the process, she stole the hearts of millions. After Westminster, two thousand folks turned out for Peggy Sue's homecoming in Seattle. The many warm letters and gifts were beyond my belief.

During her career, Peggy Sue accomplished many things. She won 6 Scottish Terrier National Specialties, more than any other Scottie in history, 20 Scottie specialties, 30 All Breed Best in Shows, more than 160 Best of Breeds, and defeated more Scotties in a single year than any other Scottie in breed history. She left as her legacy five loving, happy and healthy puppies, and the many people who loved her and hold her memories dear.

Joe Kinnarney joined the Peggy Sue team during her second year of campaigning. Without his support and love, I would not have been able to share Peggy Sue with so many. He saw Peggy Sue at Montgomery, and she made him shiver with excitement. He met with Maripi shortly thereafter. Could Maripi find him a Scottie like that? Through Peggy Sue, we have become friends as well as partners. I could not have gotten through her successes as well as her illness without Joe. I am thankful also for my husband Michael. Many of you don't know him because he's always staying home taking care of puppies. But he loved Peggy Sue as I did. He was there when she arrived at our house and when she died. And, he laid her in the ground for her final rest.

I do not know what is planned for Peggy Sue in the great beyond. But, I know even as she was dying, she gave me many precious gifts. Time is one gift. Each moment, I have learned, is ever so fragile and precious. I thank each of you for the love you have sent her way and my way. I ask each of you to hug your Scotties tight and enjoy each today. Take a walk and smell the daisies of summer, the daffodils of spring, the crispness of autumn, and the calmness of winter. Watch your Scotties kick up their heels, catch a ball and talk to you. And thank your God for life, each moment and each day.

Finally, I ask you for your continued prayers for all our Scots and other canine friends who are struck down by this terrible disease. Cancer now strikes more than one in four Scotties and other canines. We have set up a trust fund where every cent will be used for canine cancer research. If $1 was contributed for each dog lost to cancer, we could make a difference.

With love,
Vandra Huber, Michael Krolewski, Joe Kinnarney, Camille Partridge, Maripi, Peggy Sue's five wonderful lively puppies. □

Health Survey Followup: Carrier Frequencies

By Susan Martin, Survey Coordinator

Many of you have asked for the statistics presented at the Montgomery County 1995 Health Seminar by Dr. George Padgett, Michigan State University. These numbers were compiled by Dr. Padgett from the survey that was done by the club in 1995 based on dogs owned and litters born between January 1, 1993, and December 31, 1994.

We will deal with the health statistics first. Remember that there were 471 surveys returned that reported on 1540 dogs. Of this total, 772 dogs were reported to have a health problem. From this data, Dr. Padgett calculated the frequency of carriers (gene frequency) in the general population of Scotties.

Before our survey, the literature listed twenty-eight genetic diseases in Scottish Terriers. As the result of the information that was provided to us through the survey, we now know of thirty-six genetic diseases. You may say that this looks like a step in the wrong direction, but we can now say with assurance that our information is more accurate. These numbers compare well with other breeds that have done health surveys, and this gives validation to our numbers.

In order to calculate the frequency of carriers, Dr. Padgett used the Hardy-Weinberg Law (Hardy-Weinberg Equilibrium). This is a rather complicated mathematical formula that we will not delve into here. If anyone is interested in more information, contact me, and I will provide you with the details. The Law was designed for autosomal recessive traits. It can be used on autosomal dominant and sex-linked recessive traits. It cannot be used on polygenic traits because with polygenic traits more than one gene is involved. It cannot be used on any trait for which the mode of inheritance is unknown. Although it is not perfect, we will use the Law anyway in order to guesstimate carrier frequency.

In the first article, I inadvertently included Cushing's Disease along with Addison's Disease. That was incorrect. Cushing's Disease is not considered genetic because it is caused by a tumor on the adrenal or pituitary gland.

One third of all Scotties born have or develop a genetic defect. (Some of these defects we would more likely classify as faults, such as overshot or undershot jaw.) On the average, there are 4.7 defective genes present in each Scottie. These averages are similar to other breeds that have done health surveys. Here is a comparison.

Breed	Number of Diseases	Frequency of Affected Dogs %	Average Number of Defective Genes Per Dog
Scottish Terrier	36	33.3	4.7
Cairn Terrier	37	40.2	5.0
Bichon Frise	32	29.8	4.63
Newfoundland	26	66.5	4.53

Now let's look at the litter survey information. There were 169 surveys returned that represented 294 litters. There were a total of 1243 puppies in these litters for an average per litter of 4.23 pups. The ratio was 1.03:1 males to females. The 104 still-births represented 8.3% of births. Another eighteen pups (a total of 122) died prior to twelve weeks for a total of 9.8%, comparable to other breed data.

Genetic Diseases in Scottish Terriers - Litter Survey

Disease	Number of Litters	Total Puppies	Affected Puppies	% of Affected Litters
Swimmers	8	27	12	2.7
Spina Bifida	1	1	1	0.3
Umbilical Hernia	5	17	7	1.7
Scottie Cramp	12	58	14	4.1
Ventricular Septal Defect	3	16	6	1.0
Tail Kink	4	11	5	1.4
CMO	1	7	2	0.3
Inguinal Hernia	4	17	4	1.4
Cleft Palate	2	6	2	0.7
Hip Dysplasia	1	6	1	0.3
Cryptorchid	1	3	1	0.3
Undershot	3	13	3	1.0
Overshot	1	6	1	0.3
Extra Toe	1	3	2	0.3
Portocaval Shunt	1	2	1	0.3
Seizure	2	10	3	0.7

There was a genetic problem of one kind or another in 16.4% of all litters. This may seem high until you look at the other side. At birth, 83.6% of all litters are genetically normal.

A video tape was made of the health seminar by the Health Trust Fund, which sponsored the evening. Each regional club has or will shortly receive a copy of this tape (contact your regional club secretary or Joanne Kinnelly, 810/349-8026). In his lecture, Dr. Padgett went into detail about using the information you know about your own dog and that of the dog to whom you wish to breed. Once you have the facts, you need to know what to do with them. In other words, how do you develop a breeding program and at the same time minimize the chance of producing genetic diseases? Dr. Padgett presents a formula for calculating the risk of being a carrier if related to an affected dog with an autosomal recessive trait. This is very valuable information. You should view the tape for the full significance of genetic diseases in our dogs and how to live with them.

I hope you will find this information, along with that in the first article, useful. We have just made a monumental breakthrough in our breed with the development of the genetic test for von Willebrand's Disease. In the absence of other scientific information, there is only one way we can improve on the genetic health of our dogs. We must be open with each other and share all of the information we can about all of the generations of ancestors of dogs that we breed. This way we can minimize, if not eliminate, the risk of producing affected puppies. □

A Scottie Tail

By Betty Lou Breese

The puppy nobody wanted had a gay tail. Even people looking for a pet to love refused to consider him because they wanted a Scottie that was perfect in every way. They never got past the tail to see his beautiful, compassionate personality.

Fate had decreed a higher purpose for Duffy! The world's luckiest day was the day the "pet people" turned him down.

My dear friends work with handicapped adults and children. They had brought children to visit my dogs and play with the puppies. They loved the Scots and wanted a pup so very much. I sent Duffy home with them and the magic began!

Duffy has made a place in the hearts of everyone who meets him. He seems to have a sixth sense of people's feelings and needs. When the little girl he lives with has a seizure, Duffy lays on her feet to comfort her and won't leave until she's fine again. He has learned to negotiate the in-house wheelchair and walker without the disaster of an upset.

My friends were pleased with Duffy's reactions at home, but they were thrilled with what he did next.

They had to attend a meeting of other teachers and handicapped adults. Duffy looked so sad as they prepared to leave for the meeting that they decided to take him along.

It was a lovely, cool day, and Duffy waited outside in his crate. At lunch time, my friend came to walk Duffy. As they walked, several handicapped adults came outside and were delighted to see a dog!

My friend wasn't sure how Duffy would react to strangers and their wheelchairs, walkers, braces, etc.!

He was amazed to see Duffy, on his own, go up to each person, tail wagging, and adjust to each one's handicap. Duffy spent time with every person. They couldn't get over how intuitive and loving he was. He made their day! Duffy has an open invitation to visit any time.

Currently, Duffy and my friend are working one-on-one with a seven year old autistic child. The child is responding so well to Duffy and looks forward to playing with him and being responsible for walking him on his lead. If the child drops the lead, Duffy lets him know and waits patiently for the child to pick it up again and go walking.

The people who love Duffy and look forward to his happy visits never notice his handicap - a gay tail! □

"Will you still need me, will you still feed me, when I'm sixty-four??"

By Paul DeBene

The above verse from the old Beatles tune could be the thought of our dogs. It has suddenly occurred to me that here I am, 5 dogs, all in the house, and three of them have seen their tenth birthday come and go.

It really heartens me to see the effort that people put into keeping their canine seniors healthy and comfortable, especially to those of you with multiple dogs and finite space. We all want to have space for the next promising puppy, but God forbid it comes at the expense of one of our old ones.

And what do we get for all the effort that we spend to keep our old ones going? Well, there's a treasure chest full of wonderful memories for me. From my oldest, the excitement of my first dog; from my second oldest, my first championship certificate and the beginning of many special friendships at the shows . . . 4 champions, 3 specialty winners and a bunch of nice companions.

So excuse me, I have to go, one of the old ones has headed to the door (again) . . . she couldn't go out with everybody else 5 minutes ago, could she? What's that spot on the floor? Bo "leaked" a little during his dinner, that needs to be cleaned up . . . "Calvin, it's only two steps — what do you mean you can't get back up on the porch?!!!"

Crazy days, to be sure. But sadly it won't be long before these days are just memories, too.

Surfing the 'Net: 101

By Charlie Lounsbury
STCA Computer Technology
Committee Chairman

I'm sure that you have all seen these five little characters http: many times over the past few months. These characters are the signal to you and to the computers that make up the Information Superhighway that what follows is an address to a Web Site. This address may include enough data to take you to a specific document on the Web Site, or it may simply take you to Web Site's Home Page. The http Server is the actual program that responds to Hypertext Transfer Protocol (http) requests. These five characters are really the first part of the Universal Resource Locator or URL. The URL allows the WWW to work across multiple platforms or types of computer systems. A sample URL with parts identified would look like this: see figure 1

The Service, System Name and Directory Path are the only required parts of the URL; the remaining parts are optional. During the early days of the Internet, e-mail was the only method of communicating, and it was via text messages only. As the interest in the Internet grew, people began to look for ways to send more extensive files and then graphics with their e-mail. In the late 1980's and early 1990's, these transmissions became available as the e-mail systems extended their abilities. In the last few years, this demand for extended communications capabilities has been stretched even further as multimedia became more and more available on the home PCs. Now, for example, people might want to send digitized clips of their children or Scot-ties to grandma via the Internet. The providers of the Internet software have responded, and today we have the WWW with the capability of sending not only pictures and movies but also sound. The web browsers, programs that read and display data retrieved from the WWW, need to know what kind of file they are looking at and what they have to do to show it to you. A new standard evolved to allow the extensions on file names (the part after the period, filename.ext) to tell the programs what kind of files they are. This new standard is called MIME (Multipurpose Internet Mail Extensions) and provides for everything from text (.html), to movies (.mpeg or .avi), to pictures (.gif, .jpeg, and .tiff), and also sound (.au and .wav). These extensions will not usually affect your use of the WWW. Your Web browser will display whatever it finds on the Web to you.

The most important question is "How do I get on the Web?." As I have men-ed, but remember the speed and visual appeal of what you see from the WWW will be greatly influenced by your computer system. If you have an old, slower computer that you want to use to try out the WWW, most of the Web browsers have a option to turn off the graphics on the documents. Although it's not as much fun, you can still access all of the data available on the WWW without seeing the graphics. The minimum system that you should consider for WWW access should be a 386/33 with at least 8 megabytes of RAM and more than 100 megabytes of hard disk space available, if you don't have any of the software loaded. If you are using an Apple computer, most of the Macintoshes have the necessary power to serve as on-line terminals for the Web.

2. The modem: The modem, or modulator - demodulator, transforms the digital signals (1's and 0's) to the telephone system's analog signals. The speed of the modem is measured in baud or bps (bits per second). For quick conversion, each character you send requires 8+ bits. A suitable modem for use with the WWW will be capable of at least 9600 bps, with 14.4 Kbps (14,400 bps) being much more popular. The ability to use the latter, or any modem rated faster than this, is affected more by your local telephone company than anything else. Most modems will allow you to slow the transmission rate if you are having problems communicating at the higher rates. The telephone lines available, and therefore the maximum consistent transmission speeds, have continued to get better and better. Soon, the need for the modem may disappear when ISDN (Integrated Services Digital Network) becomes more available. ISDN eliminates the need to change the signals to analog and will allow transmissions in the area of 100,000

bps. This system has been around for over twenty years and is generally only available in major cities, but, with the rapid growth in the Information Superhighway watch for its availability locally. Modems exist in two different varieties, internal or external. If you are trying to determine if you have a modem, the external modem is much easier to detect; it is a small box with a cable to the back of your computer and two modular phone jacks. The internal modem can usually be found by looking at the connections on the back of the computer. If you see a board with two modular telephone jacks on it, you probably have a modem. Modems usually have two phone jacks on them so that you can connect a telephone to one (phone) and an extension to the wall jack to the other (line). The computer connection, either the internal modem or communication port that the external modem uses, will have an address and IRQ (Interrupt Request) assigned to them. These two numbers will probably be required as you set up your software, so record them and keep them handy. Setting these two numbers correctly can be the most difficult part of setting your computer up to communicate. If your communications are not working properly, get some help on these. The good news is that once they are set properly you shouldn't ever have to worry about them again.

3. The software: Although it can be very troubling to try and decide what will be the best software for you, choose a package and stick to it. Since almost every computer I see today has either Windows 3.1, Windows 95 or is a Macintosh, we will assume all software referred to from this point on provides a GUI (Graphical User Interface). The greatest problem I have seen in using computers is that people keep switching software rather than mastering what they have. The easiest way to get onto the Information Superhighway is to find one of the available services, such as Prodigy, America On-Line, MSN, etc., which provides a local telephone number for access, get a copy of their free

Technology Committee Update

Charlie Lounsbury, Chairman

I'm afraid your technology committee chairman is here with a warning for all who think viruses only affect living organisms and other people's computers, BACK-UP! Yes, I must admit I've been hit by the dread MONKEY-B virus once again. You would think I'd learn. At least all the STCA stuff was on the hard drive I saved and I now have more room on the new drive I bought so I can save what's left on my old D: drive. All of this to say my updates to the STCA HomePage have been slower than planned, but they are in the works now. Keep watching, like the 4,000+ people who have looked at our web page over the last two months. To be more accurate, 1,861 checked it out during May and 2,224 took a look in June. Most of our requests have come from people with the .COM suffix on their addresses, but we have had requests from a number of foreign countries as well. The most foreign requests have come from Canada, then Japan, Peru, Australia, Italy, Costa Rica, Finland, South Africa, Israel, Mexico, Germany, Estonia, United Kingdom, and former USSR.

From the E-mail I have received from the web page, it is apparent we have two big needs: more information on membership (to be supplied shortly by reprinting the article from The Bagpiper), and a contact for on-line breeder information. All offers from on-line members would be appreciated. There have been a number of wonderful finds while cruising through cyberspace:

Scottie HomePage	http://w3.ag.uiuc.edu/VJR/scottie.html
AKC's HomePage	http://www.akc.org/akc/
MBF's HomePage	http://www.infodog.com/
VetGen's HomePage	http://www.vetgen.com/
Our Dogs: Dogs UK (this one's worth the long address)	http://dSPACE.dial.pipex.com/town/square/tac61/dogsuk.htm

Try these out, don't forget to come to Montgomery, see you there! ☐ software and 10 hours of free access, and try them out. I believe all of these provide Web browsers as part of their service. When you install the software and go on-line the first time, be patient and read all of the instructions on the screen. Most of these services will automatically detect the equipment and software you are using and download any new or additional software required. Click on the WWW button or menu item, and you will be on the WEB!

4. The printer: Part of the wonder of the WWW is its ability to display its information on almost any display (CRT) and/or printer. The HTML (Hypertext Markup Language) provides translation of its documents to be viewable on almost any system. This will allow you to print longer documents for later reading.

You may find that saving the document to your hard disk and printing/viewing it off-line will be both faster and more cost effective. Check out your software's documentation to fully understand its capabilities.

Now, if you have purchased all the right components, installed them correctly and are very anxious to try it all out, the big question is, "How do I get on to the WEB and find what I am looking for?" Please make sure you have plenty of time for your first session. The Web is very addicting, and your first visit will take extra time to get used to the many options. I would plan to spend at least two hours. The first step is to load the software from the on-line service provider you have chosen. I use Prodigy and therefore will use their interface as a reference from this point on, but all of the vendors I have encountered now provide almost the same options to their customers. So if you are using another service, please pay special attention to what we are doing and look at your screen for similar options. First, we want to be looking at the main menu provided for your on-line service. To sign on, you will have had to supply your ID and password. If not supplied directly, your program will have supplied it programmatically. Choose the icon, button or menu item that points to the World Wide Web, WWW, or Web Browser from the main menu. Remember, from this point on, if you see an indication that a particular word or graphic is hot, usually a different color, and it looks interesting, click on it, and in a few seconds you will be on your way to a new document. If you don't like what you see when you get there, just click on the Go Back icon and you will return to the previous screen. If you don't see anything about the Web on your menu, look for an item pointing to the Internet or Information Superhighway. If this is your first use of this option, you may be provided with a menu allowing you to limit access by your children or tour the Web. Take the tour, and take notes if that helps you. To find specific pages or documents of your interest, click on highlighted words or buttons to take you to the "search engines." The most popular of these is YAHOO. If YAHOO can't find what you are looking for, try the other search engines; they have different data bases. Here you will be able to type in keywords, and the system will search and return a list of documents to you. For example, you might type in the word SCOTTIE. You will now see on the screen a list of documents in which the word SCOTTIE appears in either the title or in the document. Some searches can result in hundreds of "hits"! The computer will show you part of the list and give you the option to view the rest of it. Read down through the list, and when you find the document you want to explore, click on it. You will now be on your way into the Web. If you find a Home Page you might want to return to in the future, click on the HotList option on your screen and save this address in your private HotList. Think of this as "speed dialing." The next time you want to access this Home Page, all you will have to do is click on the HotList item you want to go to.

Learn to navigate the WWW, and you will literally have the world at your fingertips. I think Dan Rosenbaum (drosenba@cmp.com), editor of NetGuide (<http://www.netguide.com>), in the February 1996 Net.Editor column provides us with excellent food for thought on why we should have an STCA Home Page:

"... The net isn't about consuming information. It's about sharing information. It's about wandering through the electronic jungle, looking to strike gold. You post yours, I'll post mine, and together we'll create something." □

Gamekeepers, Legends and More

Crufts '96

By Dr. Barbara Lounsbury

I reached deeper into my pocket. It was gone! What would I do? How on earth would I find my way back in time? A moment of utter panic, and then my fingers brushed something at the very farthest recesses of my pocket. Yes! The Map! I quickly unfolded it, spotted a landmark and felt the adrenalin rush recede. I was O.K. I turned west, and, once again, headed back to the place I had left so long ago.

Wandering in uncharted jungle? Driving the far reaches of Alaska? No - just trying to find my way back to Hall 1 at the Crufts Dog Show!

Picture a hall several times the total area of Madison Square Garden. Now envision five of them, arranged in a sort of asymmetrical horseshoe, each one running into the next - a venue housing 20,000 dogs over four days, hundreds of "trade stands," and dog lovers as far as the eye can see. As my students would say, "Awesome!"

Crufts, named after Charles Crufts, the gentleman who founded the show in 1891, now belongs to the Kennel Club (note - no country of origin required!), who moved it from the venerable Earls Court in 1991, much to the chagrin of many British dog fanciers. But what the National Exhibition Center lacks in ambience, it makes up for in square footage. The entry is so large that only one or two groups are benched and judged each day. In addition to a full schedule of judging in the 29 rings, there is a full complement of activities in the Special Events ring, including agility, flyball and obedience. Nearly all participants in these events are Border Collies, whose benches are decorated with hundreds of cards and good luck charms from home-club well wishers. Other activities throughout the day make apparent the eclectic nature of doggy folk in the U.K., and include such things as duck herding demonstrations, hearing dogs for the deaf and the Kennel Club Junior Organization competitions. I was fascinated by the Gamekeepers Class, in which men and women nattily attired in tweeds exhibited various breeds of working gundogs. "What's a gamekeeper?" I inquired. "One who keeps game," I was told, the gentleman's tone suggesting that I must be a bit slow. "Keeps game where?" I asked. "Why, on the estates, Madam, on the estates," was the very patient reply!

The British take their dog ownership seriously, as evidenced by a very active "Good Citizen Dog Scheme," which sponsored daily demonstrations. Billed as "The Show Within The Show," the phenomenally popular "Discover Dogs" pavilion gives visitors the opportunity to meet 160 different breeds of dogs each day. Breeders are available to answer questions and to assist in deciding which breed is the right one for each family. Many of the dogs on display are show dogs and are available for hugging, especially to overseas visitors who are suffering serious Scottie withdrawal!

Scotties were judged on Sunday by Miss D. Blackstone, who passed on a nice entry of 83. In a system somewhat similar to ours, each class winner in dogs and bitches enters the ring for "the challenge." The winner is presented with a Challenge Certificate, colloquially referred to as a "ticket." Three tickets are necessary to make up a champion, a far more difficult feat in the U.K., where champions compete for tickets with class dogs, and with only about 30 shows during the year at which tickets are awarded. Unlike our ambivalence at "going Reserve," the Reserve CC at British shows is highly coveted. The CC winner in dogs and in bitches then competes for Best of Breed. The dog ticket, and BOB, went to the very lovely Ch. Mayson Paper Chase, handled by Susan Gaskell, with Reserve going to Stuart Plane's Am. Ch. Sandgreg's Toreador at Stuanne, a very handsome young dog who has done some nice winning, and who, along with his kennelmate, is helping to popularize wheaten in the U.K. Best Bitch went to Carol Annan's Lomondview Granny

Black. Carol judged Montgomery in 1995. This was the bitches third ticket; she is a drop-dead gorgeous bitch who would have been on the return flight with me if she had been for sale! Reserve went to another lovely Mayson bitch, Ch. Fantasia, owned by Mr and Mrs. G. Baker.

I was fortunate to have had the chance to visit with a number of Scottie and Sealy friends, but surely the highlight of the day was the opportunity to chat with the venerable Miss Betty Penn-Bull, whose Kennelgarth prefix needs no introduction to lovers of the breed. Not only was Miss Penn-Bull there - she's missed only one Crufts since 1927, but she was showing her own dog! Miss Penn-Bull has recently updated her famous book on the breed and has very generously donated the proceeds to the Scottish Terrier Emergency Care Scheme, the British version of Scottie Rescue. A lady truly as much a legend as her Kennelgarth Scottish Terriers! □

Harry and Letty

By Letty Passig

It's October, 1994 and I know Harry, my very best pal, will love the new AKC Earthdog Program that just went into effect. Terrier trials rank right up at the top of his list of favorites, along with people, food and cute Scottie bitches.

With great anticipation, we wait for the first Earthdog Test to be held in our area, and we wait, and wait, and wait. November passes, then December. January comes, and I know that no tests will be held within reasonable driving distance for me until spring. At the same time, I get bad news. Nine-year old Harry, Ch. Munro's Dark Squire Brown, CD, CGC, CG, WCH, who received the San Francisco club's Versatility Award at the 1994 STCA dinner meeting, is diagnosed with lymphosarcoma. He is started immediately on chemotherapy. He has dearly loved going to ground at all the many, many terrier trials I have attended, since he was 10-months old. He'll be crushed if he is not well enough to go to the Earthdog Tests with me. To Harry, a suitcase in my hand always means he is going on a trip.

At last, an Earthdog Test that we can attend will be held at Crosswicks, NJ, early in July. It's a dual event. The first day is an American Working Terrier Association (AWTA) den trial and the next an AKC Earthdog Test.

After 6 months of chemotherapy, Harry has lost all of his furnishings, his beard, eyebrows and ear tufts, but he still has a nice hard short coat on his body and his happy disposition. When he gets his shot on the Monday before the trial, my vet says there is no reason why Harry can't go with me. Harry usually feels poorly on Wednesday and Thursday after he gets a shot, but also usually recovers on Friday and has a good weekend. He follows his usual course. By our 6 a.m. leaving time on Saturday, he beats me down the stairs and runs to the car thrilled to be included in the group. Now we'll see what effect the chemotherapy may have had on his desire and ability to go to ground.

For the AWTA trial on Saturday, Harry feels good but seems to lack focus - a problem never encountered before. For the first time in his life, he doesn't enter the tunnel without a second command and doesn't start barking until it's time to take him out of the tunnel - definitely a non-qualifying performance.

On Sunday, I decided to enter Harry in the Introduction To Quarry Test to give him more practice before the Junior Earthdog Test begins. (The Introduction To Quarry Test is a non-regular class. Whether a dog passes or fails this test, the dog can still enter the Junior Earthdog Test.) Harry enters the tunnel on his own, but backs out and needs a second command to reenter. On the positive side, he starts to work the prey quicker and works vigorously. So even though he fails to pass the test, his performance is much improved. I hope he can pull it all together later for the Junior Earthdog Test.

There are nearly 100 dogs entered in the Junior Earthdog Test. We have to wait for more than 50 dogs to go to ground before it's our turn. Fortunately, Harry is feeling particularly good and seems much more focused than the day before. He races to the tunnel, and I hold my breath until he starts to bark. Then I remember I'm wearing a watch, and I glue my eyes to the second hand, silently urging him to continue barking for the required 60 seconds. There are lots of hugs and tears when the Judge says he qualified. We end the weekend with the first leg toward a Junior Earthdog title. We're half way there.

The Dachshund Club of New Jersey holds the next Earthdog tests at the end of July. The weather forecasts are mixed, either unbearable heat and humidity or more moderate heat. I hope for the latter, but no such luck. By 10 a.m., both the temperature and the humidity are in the high nineties. The only things that keep us alive are shade covers and a good breeze. The entry is very large again, and the heat takes a big toll on all the dogs and handlers as well. By the time our turn comes for the Junior Test, Harry's interest in going to ground has waned. He doesn't start working the prey in time the first day and takes forever to reach the prey the second day. I vow that I will never again enter a dog in an Earthdog Test when the heat is so extreme.

The next Earthdog Tests will be the 2-day event to be held by our club late in September. I worry whether Harry will be well enough to participate as he will have been getting chemotherapy for 9 months by then.

As September rolls around, happily, Harry is feeling better than ever. The test day arrives and it's cold. Harry is bursting with enthusiasm as he always used to be at terrier trials before he got sick.

He is so eager to enter the tunnel, I have trouble holding him in my arms up to the release point. When released, he races into the tunnel. Again I hold my breath until he starts barking. I forget to check my watch, and I feel as if I've been standing at the release point for at least five minutes before I hear that first bark. I worry that he didn't reach the prey within the 30 seconds allowed. He's still barking when the judge tells me to come and take him out of the tunnel. She has to remove the caged rats before I can get him to leave. Then the judge tells me that he qualified. He reached the prey with time to spare. My little dog with a big heart has his Junior Earthdog title - a dream that seemed unattainable when the year began. □

Mother Nature smiled on the STCM June Fun Match. We were all worried that 50 guests and members would have to travel by boat, as the week prior we had monsoon conditions, but Sunday was the ideal day, 75 degrees, low humidity, and sunny. Victor Miller came from Canada to be our judge. We had a lot of nice puppies for him. Best in Match Puppy was the Kinnelly's Kintyres Merry Chase. Joanne & Al also won Best in Match Adult with Wild Wind Leather and Lace.

After conformation judging, we had a Parade of Champions, Parade of Veterans, and Parade of Rescue dogs.

Sales are going well for our Health Fund Raffle. The 14 carat gold Scottie bracelet crafted by John DeSaye and the needlepoint Scottie checkerboard crafted by Debbie Horvath are the items you could win.

If you did not receive any tickets and would like some, contact Cynthia Wallgren or Barbara DeSaye. And...don't forget our September 7th Specialty.

The Scottish Terrier Club of Chicago held its annual Specialty Saturday, June 15th, at Lake County Fairgrounds in Grayslake, Illinois.

Sweepstakes judging began at 10:15 a.m. with Mr. Richard Hall having the honors of going over 22 young Scotties. Best in Sweepstakes went to Wild Wind Leather and Lace, owned by Joanne & Alan Kinnelly. Cindy Cooke, Buffy Stamm and Linda Nolan, of Anstamm Kennels, won Best of Opposite Sex with Anstamm Future Shock.

Mr. Kenneth McDermott judged Regular classes, consisting of 34 entries. WD/BOS went to Carden Fine 'N Dandy, owned by Caryl Alten. WB/BOW was awarded to Anstamm Atta Girl, owned by Anstamm Kennels. BOB was won by CH Jospen's With One Look, owned by Joseph Pendon

A luncheon followed judging, along with many Scottie items offered at the Ways and Means tables. Silent auctions were held for a Scottie Lamp and Puppy Starter Kit, along with a raffle featuring a beautiful Scottie blanket. Through the generosity of exhibitors, Rescue parents, club members and friends of the STCC, over $500.00 was raised towards the STCC general club fund and Rescue fund.

Thank you to all who participated in this event and donated items for the Ways and Means table. A big thanks also goes to those who helped put on the show and luncheon. Hope to see everybody in 1997.

GDSTC's second winter Specialty will be Saturday, November 30th, at the Greater Collin County Kennel Club show. Come join us.

We have been inspired to train some Canine Good Citizen Scotties. The Dog Training Club of Dallas County demonstrated the AKC's C.G.C. test at our May meeting. July's program was new videos from AKC and Purina.

Four GDSTC members — Jane Phelan, Daphne Branzell, Judy Larson and Carole Owen — joined dog fanciers from across Texas and the U.S. at Texas Dogs

Expo in Austin in June. Jane Phelan accepted a beautiful plaque at the awards dinner commemorating the selection of her and Bob as Texas Dogs' 1995 Breeders of the Year.

Several GDSTC members participated in final development of the new DNA test for vonWillebrand's disease in Scotties by submitting samples from their dogs. Soon after, the VetGen test went on the market. It identifies a Scottie's carrier or non-carrier status positively! The club plans a program soon about the new test, including demonstration of cell sample collection.

Let me brag about The Scotch Bark, GDSTC's bi-monthly newsletter. Our club members never lack something to say about the Scottish Terrier, and The Scotch Bark is always full of original articles. We are proud of our club's many fine writers and artists. Member Lana Gerdock illustrates the newsletter with original artwork. One recent issue included articles like "Earthdogs 101," by Moira Cumming, and "Crufts Dog Show, 1996," by Daphne Branzell. Allene Haldy has contributed many valuable articles — like "It's Time to Act," (recognizing serious medical symptoms and preventing accidents), "The Puppy Papers," (keeping track of important breeding records), "Sam, I Am," (vignette about a Scottie fashion model), and "On the Bookshelf," (book reviews). One of my favorites is "The Victoria Papers," by Jeanice Barton. Leland Thomas' (and before his term, Carla LaCoe's) presidents' messages are "state of the club" addresses which are especially appreciated by members too distant to make club meetings. Daphne Branzell's "News from San Antonio" is a continuing saga of Scottie rescue stories. Norma Bankston's two-part English Champion Tour was a great peek at the English Scottie scene. One article I enjoyed writing was "Super Scottie Training," about neurological stimulation exercises developed by the U.S. military for use in puppies 3 to 15 days old.

Other original articles in The Scotch Bark have included "Christmas Scottie Advertising," "GDSTC's Advertiser's Contact Program," "Is Scottish Terrier Grooming Divinely Inspired?," "Abbey's Tattoo," and "Peggie Sue Comes to Midland, TX — Well, Almost." If you want good Scottie reading, subscribe to GDSTC's The Scotch Bark. Subscriptions are only $8/year from Theresa Thomas, 5305 Jane Anne St., Fort Worth, TX 76117.

Scottie fanciers can now better identify with Noah and the Ark, having experienced torrential rains during the Sanctioned "B" Match held Saturday, May 11th, at General Butler State Park in Carrollton, KY. The annual event, held in conjunction with the Kentucky Scottish Heritage weekend, was moved from its past site to a wonderfully spacious tent set on asphalt and located by the Information Booth. At first we were greatly disappointed with the move, but in reality, it worked much better in terms of being dry and warm, having more spectators, providing more visibility, and talking with spectators concerning the characteristics of Scotties. The new site was also a great area for boutique sales.

Ron McConnell (Barbary Kennel), judged an entry of 15. He selected Barbary's Live Wire, owned by Donna Cambron, from the 3-6 months puppy class, as Best Puppy in Match. Anstamm Wild Child, owned by Donna Cambron, was selected as Best Adult in Match. Spencer, owned by Louise Latham, was selected Best Pet. Slumber, owned by Carolyn Williams, was judged Best Dressed. The Parade of Champions featured Stickler's Colonel Maker's Mark, owned by Leslie "Dan" Stickler, and Marvin & Jackie Burton's brood, including Charthill South Pacific, Majac's Great Escape, and Majac's Illusion of Annie. Spectators loved the beautiful Scotties as they paraded and showed "their stuff." A special thanks to Majac Kennels for so graciously supporting the match with four beautiful dogs, three of which were champions.

ing bagpipers joined us for lunch, thinking the wonderful tent and display of food was for their hospitality. That's fine, as we are a gracious, hospitable and patient group, but strong willed.

Rescue Chairperson, Leslie "Dan" Stickler, has successfully placed another great Scottie. New owner is Ruth Devine. Leah McCarthy, a STCGL member, was notified about the Scottie when the dog was placed in the Frankfort Humane Kennel. Leah, Ruth and Dan made a beautiful match. The rescue will be named DD #2. Scottie invitations and menu are being planned for the debutante's gala affair. Also, DD will have her own telephone listing. She has rescued empty hearts and brought her new family and friends together through unconditional love.

New officers and board members for 1996-1997 elected at the June meeting include: President, Robert McDonald; Vice President, David Miles; Corresponding Secretary, Carolyn Sweazy; Recording Secretary, Louise Latham; Treasurer, Ruth Adams; and Board Members, Donna Wagner, Leslie "Dan" Stickler, and Donna Cambron.

Monthly programs, planned by Vice President David Miles, have been of great interest. With approaching summer and the heat, Dr. Greg Crockett made an excellent presentation in June concerning protecting your dog from heat, fleas, ticks and pesticides. August was a month of high level planning for the approaching Specialty. The Eleventh Annual Specialty was held August 24th at the Holiday Inn Fern Valley. Beth Cloven of Benscot Kennels judged the Sweepstakes, and Ken McDermott judged the Regular classes. Details of the gala celebration will appear in the next issue of The Bagpiper.

Our 55th Annual Specialty was held on Friday, May 31st, in Bedford, MA. We remain an independent specialty, allowing exhibitors to compete for three separate days worth of majors, which include our supported entries at Ladies Dog Club and Framingham Kennel Club. The site is lovely: a large grassy field bordered by a golf course on one side and woods on the other. Nature cooperated by giving us a splendid day of sunshine and moderate temperatures.

Joan Duke of Richmond, VA, judged Sweeps and found her Best in Sweeps in the 12-18 month dog Selkirk High Tea, owned by Chuck & Anita Knirnschild. Best Opposite was awarded to Sugarbush Serendipity Sara, owned by Phyllis Kuhn.

Mrs. James Edward Clark passed on the Regular class entries with WD going to Helen Krisko and Frank Phelps' Kriscot's Kool Jazz Finvarra. The BOS in Sweeps bitch, Sugarbush Serendipity Sara, was WB/BOW. Carol & Harold Ames' CH Amescot's Talk of the Town won the Veteran Dogs class.

Mrs. Clark found her BOB dog in CH Haslemere Heartbreaker, owned by Jim & Marjorie McTernan and Tom Natalini, with CH Jospen's With One Look getting the nod for BOS. CH Amescot's The Eyes Have It, owned by Joyce & Jim Smith and Harold & Carol Ames, and Margo Park's CH Thistlepark's Seas the Moment TT, garnered the two Awards of Merit. Best Brace went to the wheaten littermates, Sno Mtn's Rebellious Ripcord and Sno Mtn's Magical Milky Way, owned by Gail Fisher and Ray Dubreuil.

Once again, Donna Cone orchestrated a sumptuous buffet at the show site, following the judging. Exhibitors traveled from as far as California and Florida and seemed to enjoy our New England hospitality. Why not join us next year?

Special thanks to Linda Orsborn, whose Scottie flag earned a hefty amount of money for the STCA Health Trust and to everyone who contributed to our day's success.

The STCGH Specialty was held on July 19th, at the Astroshows Series, as part of the Houston Kennel Club Show. Regular classes were judged by breeder/judge James Reynolds from Canada, and Charla Hill, Charthill Scottish Terriers, judged Sweepstakes. Trophies included original Black & White Ads, lovingly hand-crafted wooden Scottie wall plaques and wonderful Scottie bookends. After the show, we hosted a light supper in the grooming area. The Specialty Banquet was held on July 20th at the Astrodome Sheraton. It was a lively affair replete with a raffle and an auction of wonderful Scottie collectibles. Additional details of our Specialty will be carried in the next issue of The Bagpiper.

Our April meeting was an innovative one. Nancy Liebes, a professional facilitator and fellow canine fancier, led the meeting. She helped us have an open, frank discussion about the club's purpose and direction. The result was the following mission statement: "STCGH is dedicated to the promotion and protection of the Scottish Terrier. This will be achieved through community service, education, hosting an annual Specialty and fostering friendships among Scottie owners and enthusiasts." We then developed a plan of action in order to implement our mission statement.

In accordance with this plan of action, we participated in the 1996 Houston Highland Games and Scottish Festival on May 11th. And, as an unbiased observer proclaimed, "The 'wee Scots' stole the show!" We had a booth with educational information, and of course, the stars of the day, twelve 'wee Scots' present to greet passersby and march in the parade. One spunky fellow even tried to take on an entire brigade of bagpipers! A great time was had by all. We would like to thank Janice Langston and Barbara McNeil for making this possible.

We are all enjoying the "eye-catching" new format of The Skirl thanks to its editor-in-chief Janice Langston's desktop publishing skills. We would like to thank Carole Owen for her input in this article, as well as all of her efforts as our Bagpiper Correspondent — she is now taking a sabbatical from this duty, and she will be missed!

Our 1996 officers are: President, Felicia Gurrola; Vice President, Lynn Seyler; Corresponding Secretary, Janice Langston; Recording Secretary, Kelli Edell; Treasurer, Claudia Leffler. Board members are Marguerite Guice, Leonor Gurrola, Barbara McNeil and Mary (Pinke) Neck.

Energy, balance and that Diehard Spirit — the dogs have it and the humans could have used some at our annual agility fund raiser. Held April 28th at the home of Bonnie and George Casely, this was a well attended fun event. Some club members are attending classes and really getting into this activity.

June found STCGW members busy with two events. June 1st, Letty Passig hosted our summer Field Trials. There was a great turn out of 80 dogs. One of our rescue dogs, Lucy, showed everyone up at her first outing. She won the Scottie run-offs in both flat and hurdle races. She even tried go-to-ground and did very well. Three cheers!

Our annual Match (both obedience and conformation) was held the following weekend, June 9th, at the home of Vice President Helen Krisko. The Best Puppy in Match was Letty Passig's 9 month old girl, Munro's Dark Bubbling Brook. Weeknowe Walsing Jasmine, owned by Helen Prince and Victoria Ross, garnered the Best Adult in Match honors. The highest scoring dog in the obedience competition was Egar Alen PO of Hiwood, owned by Virginia Fairbanks.

The club is getting into the swing of holding AKC Earthdog trials. We will be offering all four classes on September 21st and 22nd. The classes include: Introduction to Quarry, Junior Test, Senior Test, and for the first time we will be offering Master tunnel. Our own Virginia Fairbanks has been approved and will be one of the judges for this event. For last minute information, contact Show Secretary David Bohnlein at 540-662-4272.

Vacation on the East Coast for a week after Montgomery County and join us for our Specialty Show and Obedience Trial to be held October 11th, in Fairfax, VA. Our obedience judge will be Richard Mullen. Kathleen Bowers will judge Sweepstakes, with Karen Harrison of New Zealand reviewing the Regular and Non-Regular classes. Show Chairperson Nancy Bamford plans a great event. Our Show Secretary Sharon Bowie can be reached at 44 Spring Valley, Charles Town, WV 25414-9721. Join us!

A great Scot Rescue Raffle offering a Scottie flag, original art by Kate Maynard, a ceramic by Richard Lawn, and a Rosalinde tea set will be drawn at our Show. Tickets (6 for $5) can be obtained from Vicki Campbell, 1275 Bannister Circle, Waldorf, MD 20602.

They also serve who only stand and wait! The members of The Heart of America STC stand in waiting, waiting for the myriad of details for our Specialty to fall into place, waiting for a rain free dog show weekend.

Popular Scottie artists have sharpened their pencils and are hard at work designing our 1997 calendar. Scottie rescue chairperson, Nancy McCray, has been busy placing the right Scottie with the right home.

With one eye on the calendar and one eye on our Scots' coats, we hope to see you ringside at Montgomery County!

We held our Annual Meeting on June 8th, at the home of Linda Terry. As usual, there was an abundance of good food. The following new slate of officers took over for the upcoming year: President, Margo Park; Vice President, Paul Bruneau; Recording Secretary, Donna Neale; Treasurer, Gerry Leonard; Corresponding Secretary, Leslie Lowe; and Board Members, Betty Lavers, Susan Nute, Linda Terry, and Donna Turner.

We are having a grooming workshop the 3rd and 4th of August. Tom Natalini (Stonehedge) from Andover, N. J. has graciously agreed to conduct the workshop for us.

Our membership packet has been updated and mailed out to all our members for a handy reference.

Our 5th specialty was held on July 10, 1996. We had an entry of 16 in Sweepstakes and 39 in Regular Classes. A four point major held in both dogs and bitches. Best in Sweepstakes, judged by Nick Levandoski, was Kriscot's Kool Jazz Finvarra, owned by Helen Krisko and Frank Phelps. Best of Opposite Sex in Sweeps was McCarvers Dream Of Gold, owned by Carmen and Vern Thompson and Margo Park. In the Regular Classes, judged by John T. Ward, WD/BOW was Schaeffers Morningstar Devil, owned by Donna Morgenstern and Ronald Schaeffer. WB was Destiny's Standing Ovation, owned by Susan Finn. BOS was CH Thistlepark Seas The Moment, owned by James and Margo Park. BOB was CH Jospen's With One Look, owned by Joseph F. Pendon.

THE BULLETIN STC of California

Elaine and Larry Carrington, Editors
5085 Las Lindas Way, Riverside, CA 92505

The 63rd annual Specialty of the STCC, was a stunning financial and popular success. Our show chairman, Jacki Herron, did an excellent job of organization, and her committee chairs all contributed substantially to the results.

Tina and Matt Sadovsky did a splendid job with the raffle and the silent auction, as did the dinner co-chairs, Ted and Hilda Miyamura, who also handled the dinner raffle.

Kudos also to those hardworking Scottie Bazaar people, Sherry Swickard, Monica Madore and Barbara Maki, and to Karen Gallow who handled the catalog advertising. Monica Madore was also our Trophy Chair, and Barbara Maki did double duty as chair of Hospitality. Others contributing to our Specialty success were Glen Herron and Michael Roberts.

Our Best in Sweepstakes Ravenscraig Frivolity, bred and owned by Al and Jeanie Jennings.

This year, BOB went to CH Jospen's With One Look, owned by Joseph Pendon. CH Wildman McVan Hoosier No. One, owned by Larry and Pat Wildman, was Nancy Fingerhut's selection for the 1996 BOS.

The theme of our Spring Puppy Match was the Rites of Spring, with flowers and Maypoles everywhere. Best Senior and Best in Match went to the 12 to 18 month bitch, Ravenscraig Frivolity. Best Junior was from the 3 to 6 month Puppy Bitch class, Hillhaven's Gina 'N' Tonic, owned and bred by Karen Gallow and Phyllis Selby Dabbs.

In addition to our show classes, we had a Pet Parade of companion Scotties, and competitions for Best Costume and Best Trick. These proved to be very popular categories. Best Costumed Boy Scottie, Duffy, sported an All-American baseball outfit, and the Best Costumed Girl Scottie, Mandy, was dressed in a wonderful flower bonnet and oodles of pearls. Both were owned by Monica Madore.

The Best Trick Scotties, Duncan, owned by Karen Gallow, and Fergus, owned by Richard Dore, gave us quite a show. Duncan performed a trick called 'The Elephant Walk,' wherein he climbed on the back of a volunteer from the audience and voiced appropriate commands to the 'beast of burden' below. Fergus performed the 'Moon Walk' in an imitation of Michael Jackson. The Pet Competitions were so delightful and the crowd so enthusiastic, that they will probably become permanent fixtures of our Puppy Matches.

Late in the spring, we had an excellent grooming seminar conducted by Al Jennings. We learned many new tricks of the trade, and made a goodly sum of money for the club, as Al donated his time and expertise, and Ted and Hilda Miyamura provided the location and lunch for the seminar.

At the Annual Meeting on May 10th, we elected our Officers and Board for the 1996-1997 term as follows: President, Jeanie Jennings; Vice President, Jacki Herron; Treasurer, Barbara Maki; Recording Secretary, Monica Madore; Corresponding Secretary, Karen Gallow. 1995-1997 Term Board Members: Debbie Hicks, Saskia Knight. 1996-1998 Term Board Members: Joyce Gast and Tina Sadovsky. □

Grooming Tales - Odds and Ends

By Merle Taylor

There has been so much written about the art of grooming the Scottish Terrier that I searched for some other avenue of the subject when asked to contribute to The Bagpiper.

It happened! Right in front of me. In the last few weeks, I have installed a new floor in our kennel's trimming room and added some new windows—what's this got to do with grooming? What one must realize is that when a new floor goes in, everything else must go out. While we do have built-in cabinets, there are "several other containers" that hold "stuff"—they had to go. A collection of "dog stuff" since 1968 can bring about a wide variety of products and tools. Anyone who has been involved in the dog show game for even a fairly brief period of time can certainly relate to what I am talking about. You know, that bottle of "special" shampoo with just enough for that "special bath," the last of the secret-recipe conditioner that was supposed to make my dog look wonderful, the near-toothless comb that might come in handy, in the right situation, of course, and nonetheless, the doesn't-spray bottle with a tad of "some kind of liquid" in the bottom. I must also mention the wrinkled second-place ribbon from 1971, the frayed Resco, as well as the spine-chilling grit from the fractured stripping stone. Need I go further?

Down to serious business! I sincerely feel that if anyone is going to spend endless hours and vast sums of money (and we all have) to show Scottish Terriers, then it is not only important to learn to groom and present dogs well, but also to get good basic equipment, have a good place to work, and dedicate your time and energy to getting the job done.

I feel there is nothing worse than working on a dog using a table too short, or, for some, too tall. I do not like to work down on a dog; I prefer them to be on my level. I was fortunate early on to have, in the kennel, a barber-chair base with a grooming table top. I have the table maxed to its height and an additional six-inch high grooming drawer on the top. This works well for me. I have another hydraulic table, but it's too low unless I am trimming a larger breed. Today, there are available several grooming tables that can be extended to a height comfortable for everyone.

Another aspect of grooming involves having the place to do it—a place where you want to go and enjoy spending time there. If it's a corner of the garage, basement, or laundry room, make it light and bright. Use your creativity and be your own decorator. What about investing in an additional table just for home, leave it set up, so you can go immediately and begin work while you are motivated. It reminds me of the dog owner who only groomed their dog when the weather was good because she didn't want to get hair in the house. Please! What about a vacuum cleaner? Place it in a convenient place so you don't have to go to the broom closet to sweep up afterwards.

Light, let there be light! There is nothing worse than trimming a black dog in a dark room on a black-topped table. Natural light is the best, but not many of us have the luxury of grooming by sunlight. Get those fluorescents working, get plenty of them. Don't put them on one side only—all the way around so no area goes unlighted. It's so much easier trimming feet and furnishings if you are working on a light-colored surface. Formica surfaces work great, but for a quick fix, put some newspaper on the top of your table.

As my age is gaining on Illinois' speed limit (two-lane), I have become accustomed to using a stool when I am doing a lot of grooming. I move around a lot, but it certainly keeps fatigue to a minimum.

I am sure everyone has their little addition, be it a television, radio, or cd player. I find myself not doing the grooming job I need to if the television is going, so I opt for the radio. I suppose an added feature for those who have Scottish Terrier owners close by is to invite them over for a "grooming party."

One more item that is needed—a mirror. Inexpensively had, groom from the mirror image—hang it on the wall nearby so you can see what you are doing. Along the same line and probably more important, make sure you know how your dog moves. So many times, dogs can look so much better coming, going, and standing if we watch them move and then groom. Toplines can be improved immensely. Move those dogs.

Now that we have the grooming area set up, let's work on the tack box—oops!, it's still in the car. My point, keep some of the basics at home. A pin brush, slicker, comb, nail clippers, Kwik-Stop, and what about getting a duplicate of that favorite knife. Speaking of knives, I have a collection that nearly matches our figurine collections; in fact, I think the knives might win out. All have been used at some time or another, and all are still used some time or another. No matter what knife you use, learn to use it properly, and use it properly.

Tables are ready, tools are ready, are you? Planning and sticktoitiveness are essential if you want to be competitive and successful. It reminds me of a teacher who makes an assignment of an essay to find "Johnnie or Joanie" completely finished within a minute or two. My point? If you truly want your Scot "lookin' good", get him/her ready every week whether you are going to a show or not. Daily grooming is certainly a good habit.

Nothing more than a mist of water and a thorough brushing keeps the coat looking good; however, serious business needs to happen every week. My work was always done on Thursday evening. Do the most difficult part for you first; get it done early in the schedule so that the rest will go easily with little frustration. Make sure the dog is completely finished. Don't leave any part to be done at the show. Do it then! If you think you are finished, spend another hour. If you have more than one dog to do, adjust your schedule accordingly. Grooming into the wee hours of the morning is for the birds. You must realize the dogs are creatures of habit, and you are probably interrupting their routine as well. Don't forget you probably are going to have to drive to the show—be sensible.

Also in your planning, allow for coat growth. Remember, if you pull a hair, it has to have time to grow in. The only way to salvage a coat that has gotten out of control is to take shortcuts—shortcuts generally mean cutting, which has little place in trimming the Scottish Terrier as far as I am concerned. A Scottish Terrier should have a harsh, dense coat. Clippering should be left to the headpiece and ears—no exceptions for me. Plan ahead.

Remember earlier, I mentioned "stuff." Included in that stuff was a mirage of shampoos, conditioners, stand'em ups, and slick'em downs. I don't know that it was necessary but, perhaps, it was mentally comforting to know that you use what so-in-so uses. I think sometimes we use too much "stuff." If a dog is in good condition, has a proper coat, and is groomed correctly, there should be little need for those "additives."

Oh! It's Thursday; I'm tired. No show this weekend. No grooming! Yeah! WRONG!

AWARDS STANDINGS

This issue's Awards Standings start fresh with first quarter 1996 and includes from January 1 to March 31, 1996. Thanks again to the Tally Committee for an excellent job on compiling results! Tally Committee members include Kathy Bagnell, Lois Bolding, Theresa Duncan, Elizabeth Heywood, Charles and Barbara Lounsbury, Susan Martin, Maurine McConnell, Polly O'Neal, and Jane Phelan. We are also welcoming Susan Riches to our committee as tallier of Puppy Bitches. These STCA volunteers review each show as listed in the AKC Awards books and work very diligently to accurately record wins. Neither a dog nor owner would ever intentionally be missed. However, if the AKC Awards books are inaccurate in any way (e.g. ownership, points, wins), or we have made a mistake in the tallies, it is the owner's responsibility to notify the Tally Committee in writing of the error. Address all correspondence to Mary Lou Somma, 5 Shady Lane, Sparta, NJ 07871 Telephone (201) 729-4341. It's requested that the tally award coordinator for the specific award be copied on the correspondence. Thanks and good luck to everyone.
