1999 SCOTTISH TERRIER CLUB OF AMERICA NATIONAL ROTATING SPECIALTY WINNER CH NEIDFYRE VITTA ROUGE

"Red"

"Red" is a true gift. This is the dog who represents my idea of a Scottie. He is sound, a solid carthorse type of dog with good temperament and plenty of strength to do the job for which he was bred. It is not enough to have the dog, we had Geoff Dawson to develop and present his innate quality to its greatest advantage. We thank the people like Leah Deckner, Janet Avery, Gail Holland and Mitzi Sizemore Knudson who have supported both financially and emotionally, and made it possible for "The Raddish" to stay in the ring. Many good breeders like Vandra Huber, Joan Duke and Marylee Zubaly have contributed their well-honed gene pools, and I hope they too have enjoyed him. Thank you to the judges who have appreciated and expressed their appreciation of "Red". Many thanks to Ken McDermott for the most exciting day of my life, and to the many friends who celebrated this great day with us. We look forward to cheering his children.

President's Message

FORWARD TOGETHER

As we complete the Forward Together journey for 1999, may I review some successes and services provided the membership as well as some tasks which remain on the drawing board. The four guiding principles (quality service, positive vision, commitment and accountability) shared with you at the beginning of the year as goals will now serve as the standard of evaluation. Achievements have been made possible through the tireless efforts of a strong and viable Board and a most involved membership who has donated thousands of hours for the benefit of the Club and ultimately the betterment of the breed. You are a most marvelous group.

SUCCESSES SERVICES

Let's enumerate some of the successes services provided members in 1999.

Agility is a fast growing activity, and it is an exciting and growing addition to the Montgomery County weekend.

Scottie Rescue continues to add to the number of locations willing to assist with finding appropriate placements. Also, the number of dogs needing good homes is a growing factor.

The 1999-2000 Membership Roster was mailed.

The Bagpiper published four excellent issues.

A letter was received from the American Kennel Club praising the STCA Website.

The Health Trust Fund has made donations to foster study and research at Michigan State University to develop a DNA test for carriers of Scotty Cramp. Other studies being funded are: CMO (Cranio-mandibular Osteopathy) also at Michigan State University, Canine Melanoma at Texas A&M University and Liver Shunt at Colorado State. Membership financial support is outstanding.

Education and Health Committee presented updates on Dr. Venta's research on Thursday evening of the Montgomery County Weekend.

The Illustrated Standard Committee completed "A Study of the Scottish Terrier," a five year labor of love project. Remember, in NO WAY does this publication constitute any change in the existing Official Standard adopted by STCA in 1993. Sandra Goose Allen personally mailed the booklets to all AKC judges. Judges responses have been overwhelming with thank you notes and positive comments. Accolades are many e.g., almost "excellent study" and "format," "wonderfully illustrated," "excellent drawings and illustrations," "precise data so helpful to judges," "a quality document," "most informative and well presented," "beautiful illustrated cover," "great size."

Planned with host club of STC of California who implemented a most marvelous National Rotating Specialty.

Planned a wonderful Montgomery County Weekend. Sweeps entries were 81 with Chris Cook judging. Montgomery entry was 204 for judge Ken McDermott. Congratulations to the great "new kid on the block," Tardun Truly A Treasure, for carving her place in history as Best In Sweeps from the 6-9 class. Many accolades to Ch. Neidfyre Vitta Rouge "Red" for taking his earned place among the greats as the Best of Breed for Montgomery County.

Friday buffet attendance went to an all time height of 245. O'My! What about that hilarious after dinner performance of "How Not to Show Your Dog". The audience truly saw another side to some most quiet members.

Ways and Means provided a most rewarding Silent Auction. Thanks for the dollars.

Saturday night's banquet was an elegant affair. Meeting and Awards were completed by 8:00 p.m. which we promised to do for Sunday exhibitors. Highlight of the evening was two-fold: To give recognition to those individuals making outstanding contributions to STCA and to present the annual awards to breeders and owners whose dogs had reached that pinnacle of success for 1999. They are the future generations. WOW! What a wonderful legacy and bright future. Ch. Heather Isles Hotdam 'N Hallelujah, What a heritage!! Ch. Caevnes Devils Due, the sire and a twice Lloyd trophy winner himself and now has his daughter winning this prestigious award. What a dynasty!!

True, the rain and mud on Sunday were terrible. But, everyone was in place doing a wonderful job. Being rainsoaked and standing in ankle deep mud in front of the judge and your peers is a most humbling experience. Everyone was a look-alike; no pretentiousness.

Elaborate plans are being made for celebrating the centennial at the National Rotating Specialty in Washington, D.C.

STCA is financially sound.

Officers and Board of Directors are most knowledgeable and look at the whole picture when making tough decisions.

Now the Club approaches with pride and nostalgia the ending of the 20th Century, but awaits with tremendous anticipation and enthusiasm the dawning of a new millennium. The first 100 years of STCA established the club as one of prominence with memorable events, eminent people and foundation Scotties. The membership is so greatly indebted to the forerunners for providing the revered legacy which enables each generation to make their own contribution and then pass the torch to the oncoming group. The proud heritage and honored tradition provides the momentum for exploring new ideas concepts and for expanding the vision of STCA. With this birthright, may we see the 21st Century as a new frontier, eagerly awaited with the certainty that members shall be equal to what it brings. EACH DAY BRINGS A CHANCE TO DO THINGS BETTER. WHAT WILL YOU DO with this day - this century that is so new?

Prepare for the exciting and challenging new century by doing two things. First, walk with me as my friend. Second, together let us continue to affirm our commitment to the work of STCA as paraphrased in the following 7 R's.

Renew the joy of owning a Scottish Terrier,

Review for understanding and fulfillment the Club goals and Code of Ethics,

Revere colleagues, respect diversity and the right to disagree,

Recruit and mentor faithfully,

Retain the great work ethic of volunteerism with a sweet-caring spirit,

Rejoice with the opportunity to seek and visualize new horizons which fastens achievements.

"Today should always be our most wonderful day."

JUDGES' EDUCATION COORDINATOR'S REPORT

Sorry I missed everyone at Montgomery County this year. From all reports, if one were to be missed this was the one. With most of the action over for this year we are starting to plan for next year. By the way we had some beautiful weather in Oregon at that time. Warm, blue skies, soft breezes, it was great

So far there are three breed seminars to be presented for next year. The first one will be in conjunction with the International Kennel Club's breed presentations in Chicago in February. Great time of year!

The next presentation has been requested by the Heart of America Scottish Terrier Club in March. For information on this one get a hold of Theresa Duncan. She can be found in the STCA membership directory.

The third breed presentation will be in conjunction with the National Rotating in April. Helen Prince is coordinating this one. The word is that the April breed presentation will follow about the same format that was used in Long Beach, California.

So far there is nothing planned for the rest of the year of 2000.

That's it for this year. See you all next year.

Fred Stephens

STCA Judges' Education Coordinator

American Dog Show Judges Advanced Institute's Scottie Presentation

BY SANDRA GOOSE ALLEN

The American Dog Show Judges Advanced Institute, held at Indiana University of Pennsylvania each year, has become an invaluable experience for me as a judge. The event which made its debut in 1995 has grown steadily since then. This year 109 judges traveled to this small, remote Western Pennsylvania town to study various breeds of interest. To qualify for the Institute one must already be approved for at least 5 breeds. Classroom sessions and practice judging offered a broad range of opportunity for learning. According to Gerard Penta, the Institute's organizer, this has become the largest breed specific program presented anywhere. Half of the breeds in each group were made available for study and I was on hand to broaden my knowledge of the Sporting Breeds.

Because of my previous background as Coordinator for STCA's Judge's Education Program and since I was planning on being there as a student, Fred Stephens asked if I might steal myself from my own studies to present Scotties. I was delighted to do so.

The fifteen judges assembled to study the Terrier breeds were eager and receptive students, anxious to learn all they could about our tough little terrier in the time allotted. They were most complimentary about the compilation of materials provided in the club's packet and quick to congratulate STCA on our new booklet, A Study of the Scottish Terrier. One of the students wrote, "It serves as an excellent amplification of the standard as well as an illustrated guide to the points raised therein. The excellent artwork and the format in which it is presented make it an excellent tool for breeders and judges alike."

Vicky and Rich Lapishka, brought several Scotties to the classroom. Following the presentation, students had an opportunity to go over these dogs and ask questions in preparation for the afternoon session.

Outdoor tented rings were set up on a lovely expanse of lawn and following lunch we met there for the practicum. The students judged a class of six lovely Scotties (three dogs and three bitches) brought by Jan Kostyzak, Martha Sovari and Lori Jones. Each student was given an opportunity to share their placement of the class and to state their reasons for placing them as they did. Then, I offered feedback and advised how I might have placed them. Overall, I was pleased with the group's understanding and grasp of our breed.

NOTICE OF CANCER SURVEY

Good news for all Scottie owners and breeders. Purdue University oncologist Dr. Deborah Knapp and epidemiologist/pathobiologist Dr. Larry Glickman are in the preliminary stages of formulating a Cancer Survey in the Scottish Terrier. With this survey, the researchers hope to establish the prevalence of certain cancers, in particular bladder cancer, in Scotties and the lifetime risk for this disease. They hope to identify risk factors for bladder cancer and to recommend some form of early screening practice in the susceptible population so as to diagnose this disease well before metastatic spread. This will enable veterinarians to start treatment much earlier than is commonly done now. This survey will also point toward new directions of future research such as WHY our Scotties are 18 times more likely than other breeds to develop this cancer. Possible genetic research may come as well.

Our roles in this important work will be to RESPOND. Whether we have experienced cancer in our dogs or not, we all need to join in this effort for the love of our breed and in the hope that we can learn valuable, lifesaving information.

Details will be forthcoming.

Health Trust Fund Secretary's Report

Joanne Kinnelly, Acting Secretary

This year continues with research projects on CMO, Liver Shunt, and Melanoma and begins a new DNA project to identify Scottie Cramp. The project, named the "Antonella Visconti di Modrone Research Project", has just begun and is in great need of DNA from affected Scotties and/or their families. For information and collection kits, contact Marilyn Lindsay, HTF chairman for this project at 937-323-6537 or e-mail Wildwind@erinet.com; or contact Dr. Venta at Michigan State University directly at 517-432-2515, FAX 517-355-5164 or e-mail at venta@cvm.msu.edu.

The Registry Committee member Linda

Orsborn will contribute an article to the upcoming Bagpiper. The committee, working with the Education and Health Committee chaired by Mary Lou Somma, is trying to promote understanding of the use of health registries. Claudia Leffler heads the Survey 2000 effort to follow up our 1994 health survey. She can be contacted with ideas. Mary Lou Somma represented HTF at the AKC Canine Health Foundation Parent Club Conference.

STCA member and veterinarian Marcia Dawson is pursuing a cancer survey with Drs. Deborah Knapp and Larry Glickman at Purdue University. HTF hopes to assist Marcia and Purdue.

At the STCA dinner HTF auctioned an artist's proof donated by Marion Krupp. Pins featuring the Health Trust logo are still available for a donation of $11 to the Health Trust Fund, S.T.C.A. Donations should be sent to Barbara DeSaye, 3947 Lum Road, Attica, MI 48412.

*Respectfully submitted,
Joanne Kinnelly, Acting Secretary*

New Champions and Title Holders

The following new Scottish Terrier champions and title holders are owned by STCA members as published by the American Kennel Club under "New Titles Of Record." They represent those dogs whose titles appeared in the July, August and September issues of the Awards book. Titles were obtained during the period May 1st through July 31st 1999. TO BE LISTED HERE, ALL OWNERS AND CO-OWNERS MUST BE STCA MEMBERS AT THE TIME OF THE CHAMPIONSHIP OR TITLE. (B = Breeder, O = Owner). List compiled by Barbara & Charlie Lounsbury and Lois Bolding.

PLEASE NOTE THAT THERE IS FREQUENTLY A CONSIDERABLE DELAY IN THE PUBLICATION OF TITLES. WE CONTINUE TO RECEIVE NOTES AND PHONE CALLS ASKING WHY A DOG HAS BEEN OMITTED FROM THE LIST, WHEN THE DOG'S TITLE HAS NOT YET BEEN PUBLISHED. PLEASE BE PATIENT! Please contact Barbara Lounsbury with information about omissions or corrections at 97 Colburn Road, Canterbury, CT 06331 or via e-mail at HOLLYLOCH@prodigy.net.

Merry Christmas From The Bagpiper Staff

WRITTEN BY SCOTTIES, DUNC AND ROBBIE MCGILLIVRAY

'Twas the night before deadline
And all through the 'Piper
Not a human was stirring,
But the Scotties were hyper.

The articles were written
And being proofread with care
By Charm and Grannie Annie, Davy
And more Scots who were there.

Tiffany in her kerchief
And Penny in her cap
Were working their brains
While their humans took a nap.

When out on the lawn
There arose such a clatter
Bonny and Gracie ran to See what was the matter.

Away to the windows
They flew in a FRAP,
And saw it was Bagpipers
All Ready to wrap.

The work was all finished,
The Scotties were free--
Cash, Blossom, Veronica,
Colleen, Sno, Sprite and Brie.

Then what to their wondering
Eyes should cause dots
But a miniature sleigh
Pulled by eight of the scots.

Now Sadie, Now Raven, Now
Joshua and Windy;
On Shadow, On Stacy, On
Cameron and Cindy.

So onto the patio
The Scotties they had gone
Straight up to the door
And stopped right beside John.

In the front door came Santa
With lots left to do.
The work all went quickly
Assisted by Bob, Loretta, and Pooh.

Giving a Bagpiper gift to Santa
Were Doone, Gabby, Zilly, and Bea;
Tyson and Tipper,
Cory, Anne, and Phoebe.

Also helping were Pip
Rubin, Liz, Rowdy Clancy and Flint.
Away flew Santa Claus, smiling and winking
His eyes held a glint.

But all heard him exclaim
As he gave a loud laugh,
"Merry Christmas to all
From the Bagpiper Staff."
(and their hardworking Scotties.)

A written report was distributed. Important general information from written report as follows:

Sweeps/Obed./Agility Day—Lulu Temple: There will be thirteen vendors who have rented tables at Lulu Temple. They will all be located in lobby area.

Montgomery plans are proceeding smoothly. Spec Arrangements has received 244 reservations for the Sweeps buffet, and 175 for the Annual Meeting Banquet.

The Scottish Terrier Club of Greater Washington will host the Rotating Specialty for 2000. The STCA Rotating will be held on April 22, 2000. Events for the Centennial will run from April 20th through the 23rd. Plans are progressing smoothly, and Polly commented that she was very confident that arrangements were very well in hand.

Polly remarked that the dates in the Montgomery Packet need to be changed to align with Dr. Deubler's schedule. The latest date should be the end of April.

We also need to evaluate agility trophies, cost versus entry, etc.

Report of Delegate to the AKC: J. Richard Seelbach

Written report was presented. Changes suggested to the AKC Constitution and by-laws will be voted on by the delegates over the next few months. It is Dick's suggestion that when the issue of the President of AKC being a delegate comes to a vote, that our delegate be instructed to vote against this policy. At the December meeting of AKC, the revised section on discipline and trial boards will be presented. This will be voted on next June in San Diego.

Report of the President: Maxine Stickler

Maxine started her report with the following quote: THE ULTIMATE MEASURE OF A PERSON IS NOT WHERE THEY STAND IN MOMENTS OF COMFORT AND CONVENIENCE, BUT WHERE THEY STAND AT TIMES OF CHALLENGE AND CONTROVERSY.

Correspondence: Maxine discussed several letters received by her and her responses to them. One was from Vandra Huber in regard to the parameters of the McVan Award. Maxine has responded to this letter, and a copy of both of these letters was distributed to board members. A letter was received regarding a Parent Club Conference to be held late fall 2000. We would be interested in participating. A letter was received from AKC commending us on our website and the information available there.

A letter was received from the STC of Greater Houston, regarding Judge's Education Seminars and the role of Regional Clubs in the area where they are being given. The consensus of the board was that at any time we are involved in a seminar in any given area of the country, regional clubs should be contacted in advance for assistance and attendance at the seminar. It was suggested that this be part of the Judges Educ. SOP.

A letter will be written to Mary Beth O'Neill at AKC stating that anything from AKC that has to do with judge's education should be directed to the STCA Board, or the Judge's Education Chairman.

A thank you note was received from Sandra Anderson, 1999 Rotating Judge. Many, many letters have been received from judges praising the new Illustrated Standard. Some of the phrases used were, "wonderfully easy to follow," "simple and easy to use," "convenient size," "knowledgeable presentation," etc.

Maxine announced that Letty Passig will be doing a special packet for overseas visitors attending the Centenary celebration.

John DeSaye has notified us that the diamonds we use in twenty five year pins are increasing in price. The Centenary pins will be ready for the April Celebration.

A letter was received from a breeder stating the deplorable condition in which a bitch was returned to her after several years, by an STCA member.

A number of web-site related calls and letters have been received by Maxine. She responded to each of them immediately.

Rain Drops Keep Falling On My Head...

THAT WAS THE THEME SONG FOR THE 1999 MONTGOMERY COUNTY SHOW. IT WILL BE REMEMBERED NOT BECAUSE IT WAS THE LAST SHOW OF THE CENTURY, BUT BECAUSE IT RAINED SO MUCH THE EARTHWORMS CAME TO THE SURFACE!

But all the rain did not dampen the spirits of the diehards...two or four legged. Our judge, Mr. Kenneth McDermott, kept saying "think dry," and he must have truly thought it. He carried on with the business of judging as if it was a warm spring sunny day in May.

Our trophy table added brightness to the cloudy day with the reflection of the lovely silver trophies chosen by Pat Wooster, trophy chairman. It was no easy task getting all of the trophies that are awarded as well as the challenge trophies to the ring in all of that rain. Nor was it any easier for Mike and Barbara Botak to get them back to storage. However, Bonnie and Susan Schneider had the ring looking great with all of the mums. Gene Hains has suggested we add bales of hay to the corners next year...for more use than just decorations!!

Muriel Lee, Jerry Roszman, and John Sheehan kept the ring running smoothly. They are quite a team and do a great job keeping everyone in order. Jerry even did the double duty of clean up. By the end of the day, people had to be careful in the holding area as to not walk out of their shoes. The mud became like glue not wanting to let go! But the rain did not drown the sportsmanship of the exhibitors. What wonderful attitudes each one had as he did the best to show his dog under the less than ideal conditions. However, the Scotties didn't seem to mind one way or the other!

The Scottish Terriers had the largest entry for the show with 204 dogs entered. All of the dogs were so lovely that Mr. McDermott could not make a quick decision. After the individual examination, he moved the dogs together and individually before making his decisions. All of the class winners can be very proud as the competition was very strong.

To go Best of Breed at Montgomery County is the highlight of any career of a Scottish Terrier. The winner this year, Ch. Neidfyre Vitta Rouge, owned and bred by Gail Gaines, is a deserving dog that has had many top wins before. Gail can take great pride in the breeding of this dog.

The Best of Opposite, Ch. Greatscot's Dangerous, owned and bred by Nancy Walthers, is a beautiful young bitch. No doubt we will be seeing more of her in the future.

Winners Dog, Balgair's I Did It My Way, owned by Janet Avery and Joan Duke, and Winners Bitch, Stonehedge Athena, owned by Michele Parmiter, certainly earned their wins at this prestigious show.

Sweepstakes on Friday at LuLu Temple ran so smoothly, one would think Sue Martin, was a professional show secretary. She was so well prepared that questions never had a need to be asked. I have been told she was not half as calm as she appeared!

Obedience Trials began promptly at 8:30 a.m. with Judge Marie Huffman working 21 dogs. Letty Passig continues to do such a great job as Obedience Chairman. Each year she prepares the ring for the trials as well as organizing it. It is well worth getting to LuLu early so you can watch those Scots going through the trial. Just to help you understand how difficult it is for the Scot to qualify, out of the 21 dogs entered, only one qualified on Friday. Even though the handler is disappointed, the Scot's attitude is "hey, this is so much fun, just give me another chance, and I WILL sit square this time." And of course the handler will do just that!

The Agility Trial is such a fun way for the Scot and his owner to work together. There were 20 dogs entered with 16 of those also entering the jumper classes. This gave an entry of 36 for Judge Lavonda Herring to score. If you want to have fun with your Scots, consider entering Agility at Montgomery County in 2000.

LuLu became a center of activity when ring stewards, Joanne Kinnelly and Michael Cook, called the first class into the ring at 12:30 p. m. Christine Cook, our judge, set about judging her 81 entries with confidence. Those 6-9 month old babies show age doesn't make any difference when it comes to confidence and attitude. And in fact, the Best In Sweeps came from this class. Christine seemed to enjoy her task as she went through each class. Her selections for division winners were 6-9 Tardun Truly a Treasure, owned by Theresa Duncan, 9-12 Thistlepark Loudspeaker, owned by James and Margo Park, 12-18 Reanda Red Hot, owned by Bergit Coady-Kabel and Hans Kabel. And her final selection for Best in Sweeps was Tardun Truly a Treasure. And that little girl never doubted for a moment that she was the best!

What a delightful surprise was in store for the exhibitors and spectators for lunch! Donna Cone prepared a gourmet sandwich with a side of salad and a fabulous soup...certainly not your usual dog show food! I can only speak of how good it was by hear say. I was also one of those who didn't get in line before the food was sold out. Donna promises that next year there will be better and MORE! We thought she had prepared way too much this year, but dog showing makes one hungry!

As show chairman, I thank each and every one of you who helped to transform LuLu Temple from show ring to dining room. With everyone's help, the change was done quickly. A record 246 people enjoyed fellowship and good food at the buffet after Sweeps. Liz Heywood, buffet chairman, continues to see that we have a variety of foods each year. It was a fun time for all.

This year we had a short skit of dog handling on how not to judge and show dogs. It was presented by Betty Cooper, Helen Prince, Bonnie Lamphear, Joseph Pendon, Pam Wilson, David Cook, Nancy Burleson, Bill deVilleneuve and Kellie Verrelli. It was hilarious entertainment for all! Too bad Helen didn't choose to be a redhead on Sunday!

In case watching the dog show did not interest you, then there was plenty of shopping for Scottie items available. There were 13 vendor tables and more are planned for next year. STCA held a silent auction, handled by Tina Sadosky and Irene DoRosario. Each Regional Club contributed two items for bidding. The proceeds will go towards covering the extra costs for the 2000 year celebration.

The Annual Banquet held on Saturday was an opportunity to be a part of the recognition spread of those who have received coveted awards. The room was beautifully decorated with center pieces of Scotties on each side of the Washington Monument and patriotic glitter was spread at the base provided by the Scottish Terrier Club of Greater Washington, D.C. The flashlights with the STCA logo were table favors and also provided entertainment for guests as they flashed the Morse code to each other.

The Anstamm Award, which is not always presented each year was presented to Joanne Kinnelly. Sue Martin was honored with the Good Sportsmanship Award. Those receiving Silver Service Medallions were Eric and Marlene Burgess, Marshall and Daphne Branzell, and Marion Needham Krupp.

The Awards table represents awards presented to owners of dogs who have achieved the fulfillment of specific criteria. The coveted Lloyd Trophy, won by Dr. Louis and Norma Mitchell, owners of Ch. Hotdamn 'N Halleujah, was the centerpiece of the table. It is quite an accomplishment for all of the dogs and their owners who won one of the awards.

This year STCA began the banquet at 6:00 p.m. with a goal of being completed by 8:00 p.m. Even with our auction of a print, generously contributed by Marion Krupp, for the HTF, we were finished by 8:05 p. m. So make plans now to come and be a part of your STCA Annual Banquet next year. I wish to thank each STCA member for your support in making our 1999 Montgomery County weekend so successful and so much fun!

See you next year at the Rotating in Washington, D.C. and Montgomery County.

1999 Regular Class Judge's Critique

MUDDGOMERY COUNTY '99

The beauty of Saturday gave little hint of what was to face you, me and everyone else at Ambler, PA on that fateful day, October 10 1999. The evening drew grey and clouds thickened. Joan and I came out of the vigil Mass on Saturday evening and the sky was of one color - gray. As the night came to an end I looked out from our motel window and the ground was wet. What would tomorrow bring?

Sunday morning saw us up long before any daylight. The rain was falling steadily in the parking lot. We donned our raingear, our Bean bootshoes, our raincoats, hats, etc. and we were off to the sacred rounds of the Montgomery County KC show. It was in 1961 with the late Seth Campbell, and his wife Roberta, that I made my first pilgrimage and I have been there every year since save for two - the year that we were married and the year that the Pope was in Central Park in New York (it rained that year, too). Of all the wonderful and wonder-filled times that I have been there and of those thirteen which I have been honored and blessed to have judged, this was the most overwhelming!

The rain of Saturday night had lasted all night and it continued until about 1:00p.m., at times very heavy and at its best, a heavy mist. It made for the most difficult of times for dog and man. But we are a hearty lot and the show went on. At the outset the entrance to the holding area was good, firm and covered with green grass. Before we were halfway through the classes the entrance to the holding area became a quagmire looking to suck off the shoes of any who dared try walk through it. Seeking to make the dogs and exhibitors as comfortable as possible I offered them the choice of standing in the holding area with their Scotties in their arms and of bringing them out and standing in the pouring rain as I sorted through the classes. Almost without exception they chose to be out in the rain because at least there they were not ankle deep in mud. IT WAS HORRENDOUS!!!!!!!!!!!!!! When I asked Annie Clark if she had ever judged under worse conditions and she said that she hadn't, I could only reply, "Thank God it will be uphill from here!"

Let me start by thanking the Scottish Terrier Club of America for the true honor that it was to have been invited to judge their National Specialty Show. It is the singular greatest honor which any breed club can bestow upon a judge. I did not take it lightly but I know that the circumstances and decision-making put us all to the ultimate test. The consistent high level of sportsmanship shown on that day by those who love this old, wonderful breed, under these most adverse conditions MUST be commended and I thank you for that. It would have been understandable if you had become impatient or had simply given up. But you stayed with it, moved on, did the best that you could and acted in a manner which bestowed honor upon you and your breed. It was a manner in keeping with that of the lady to whom this Specialty was dedicated, the DUCHESS ANTONELLA VISCONTI DI MODRONE, a LADY at all times and in all ways. THANK YOU.

To my in-ring Stewards - Ms. Muriel Lee, Mr. Jerry Roszman and Mr. John Sheehan, thank you for being an aide to the exhibitors, the fanciers and to me. My classes were carefully assembled and ready to go as soon as the previous class ended. It was never my intention to rush through the assignment and neither did I want you to think that I could not wait to get it over with. I was there to JUDGE your breed and to find what, in my opinion and on that day, filled my idea of what your Standard was describing. In the end I was very satisfied with those Scotties which I had rewarded.

WD was given to #167 from the 12-18 mon. class, a dog who "filled my eye" - here is a youngster of superb type; balanced, correct size, with wonderful planes to his head and sufficient foreface to do the job for which he was bred. He came into the ring a ball of fire and he never quit. His brindle coat was gleaming on a dreary day and it covered a lovely body with well sprung ribs, a short, level back and with his tail set perfectly and wagging in constant anticipation of the next adventure.

WB went to the winner of the Open class #56, a bitch who has it all in a good, honest package that could not be denied. She, too, is wonderful for size, has a short back with a marvelous body, is low, compact and moves well on both ends. It was her steady, correct carriage which took her through to BOW at the end of the day and I would have been proud to have owned her.

My Best of Breed line-up was, quite understandably, the very best line-up of Scotties that I have ever had at any time in any one place. If you weren't there let me tell you that it was a glorious sight and they did the breed and themselves proud. In the end I went for what I always find correct - a properly balanced Scottie WITHOUT any exaggerations but with the total essence of the breed wrapped up in a single package - a dog of the size, shape, make and condition to perform the job that this breed was meant to do. I found all of this and more in CH. NEIDFYRE VITTA ROUGE. He had all that I was after and a front that could stand as a model for what is correct in this breed. On this day of soaking wet grass, fronts could not be hidden. This front SHOULD never be hidden!!! It is the kind of front that is rare yet perfect in the breed. He has a great, strong (NOT long, thin) neck with which he could grab and punish any game that he was put on and he has the strength of foreface and large teeth needed for the hold. It pleased me to find such a wonderful dog for my BOB.

Behind him for BOS was CH. GREATSCOT'S DANGEROUS, a perfectly functional Scottie of the feminine type - she, too, is a strong bodied bitch with beautiful spring of rib, with level, parallel planes to her head and a gleam of "wickedness" in her eye. Her profile is the prototype by which others of her sex can be measured for correctness. She came to show and with another great bitch of similar proportions put on one of the best competitions of the day. In the end her correct tailset, rear drive and front reach moved her into this position of honor. May she produce many more like herself!

As pluses I must tell you that I did not find any offensive eyes on this day and neither did I find any bites that were off. There were several exhibits which needed more foreface with correct strength to be on balance with the skulls and to perform their work. One cannot judge Scotties correctly without keeping in mind that they MUST be functional. Fronts, that old bug-a-boo, still need a lot of help. This was very easy to see in the wet grass but what might not have been as obvious was the fact that forechests were too often weak or missing. When I judge this breed I always feel for that keel forward of the legs. To me it is a needed ingredient in the proper makeup of a Scottie.

A personal issue but one which I will never cease to talk about is proper conditioning. This is a double-coated Terrier with a hard, crisp outer coat and a short, warm undercoat. It takes time and effort to prepare this breed correctly BUT it is worth every minute put into it. I did NOT see too many that had their fronts, necks and heads clipped beyond belief - but I did see a few. I have a feeling that my reputation may have preceded me in this regard and I hope it always will. Please take the time, make the effort and do up your coats in a manner which honors your breed. There are no real short-cuts to success because in the end you cheat yourself and your wonderful Scotties.

Again, my thanks to the STCA, its Officers, its members and all who love this grand old breed for making this latest Specialty memorable for the character of its people and the spunk of the breed. Thank you, too for my tasteful and useful gifts. May the future be kind to you and your beloved breed and I look forward to seeing you all as we move on in this sport which gives so much pleasure to us. May God bless you.

Sincerely
Ken McDermott

P. S. I would be remiss not to tell you that, as I walked the ring just before starting my judging, and saying a prayer for those who are in the sport, have been in the sport and will be in the sport, as I always do before I judge, in addition to the Duchess I remembered specifically a lady who was a friend and a client to me as well as

1999 Sweepstake Judge's Critique Christine Cook

I find Scottie puppies to be ornery, unpredictable, and they have a mind of their own. This is the way Scottie puppies should be. Scottie puppies always seem to do what they want, when they want, and not always to our wants. To me they should always enjoy themselves, have fun and do what they want. I think some exhibitors take it all too serious when it comes to Sweepstakes, let them have a good time, it will pay off in the long run.

It's always nice to see so many quality puppies in one day but to put your hands on them is really unforgettable. The puppies were all presented well and had good attitudes, maybe one or two were a little hesitant, only because it was their first show. It was a long day for all of the puppies, but they showed well. I feel one of our problems to watch out for are our fronts, mainly the elbow area. The elbows are suppose to be close to the rib cage, so when your hands go down over the shoulders to their legs then feet, your hands shouldn't stop at the elbows. Also watch those heads, there were some shorter skulls and muzzles. When you put your hand around the muzzle it should fill your hand... Just a couple of areas to watch out for.

My three division winners, I felt were very balanced for their age division. All three were in good condition, were sound and with nice fronts. They all had that something extra, all asking to win. But the 6-9 month puppy bitch held her own all the way to the end and it was a long day. She stood her ground and did ask to WIN.

When I first judged Sweepstakes I was told to judge the puppies on that day, I'll never forget that and always have tried to do this. I felt that I did that on this day.

A big Thank You to the exhibitors for letting me judge your puppies with so nice of an entry. Again, I want to thank the S.T.C.A. for giving me a second opportunity to judge Sweepstakes. It was double the honor and so exciting.

Third Annual Agility Trial
by STCA Susan Harned
Agility Chairperson

Friday, October 9, 1999 was a gorgeous day for the STCA Agility Trial. It was held in the rodeo arena in back of the LuLu Temple, at Plymouth Meeting, PA. We started a 1 p. m. so everyone who wanted to participate in both obedience and agility could do so without feeling rushed. There were 20 entries this year. Every standard class had an entry and all but Excellent A in Jumpers with Weaves had entries.

Lavonda Herring, from New York, was our judge. She designed some nice courses for our Scots. There was one qualifier in Novice A, two in Novice B, one in Open and one in Excellent B. In Jumpers, three out of the four entries qualified in Novice B and one in Novice A. The largest class of the trial was Open Jumpers with Weaves having ten entries! Two Scots qualified. There was one qualifier in Excellent B. High in Trial went to Ch. McGlyn's Hamish of Mac Nab, JE owned by John and Joyce McNabney. It was "Ham's" second time to be shown and his second leg on his title! John drove all the way down from Connecticut in the morning and drove back after the trial. Joyce missed seeing Ham's fantastic run because she was at home taking care of a sick Scottie.

The trial could not have been a success without the help of some dedicated workers. John McNabney served as time keeper and provided us with lovely mums and holders for the course, as well as pumpkins. Kellie and Tim Verrelli helped with just about everything and provided some jumps. Lorayn Lapin was an excellent score keeper. Glenn Pollock, who isn't even a member of STCA or a Scottie owner, brought jumps and helped all day! She was great! For those of you who jumped in and helped move equipment or substitute as a timer or scribe, thank you. I could not have done all the work without the help of my husband, Harry, and daughter, Eliza. Eliza still amazes me how she can fit all the equipment into our car and still have room for us and all 7 dogs! I also wish to thank the STCA Board for supporting Agility at our specialty. Sue Martin did a great job as secretary! We had many phone conversations about how things are done for agility since she had never handled an agility trial before. I enjoyed working with her. Thank you everyone.

There were some very good teams running that day, and whether they qualified or not everyone seemed to enjoy themselves, especially the Scotties! I hope everyone will look back with fond memories on the last STCA Agility Trial of this century!

Obedience Trial by Letty Passig

STCA Obedience Chairperson

We had a glorious day for our Seventh Annual Obedience Trial. Our judge, Marie Huffman, kept all the dog/handler teams moving smoothly. For the first time, we all had time to eat the delicious lunch at the LuLu Temple before going to the agility trial.

The favorite obedience exercises for Scotties usually are the group exercises - the long sit and the long down. However, in training Scotties in obedience, you always have to expect the unexpected when you get to a trial. That was what happened this year when several of the dogs were doing very well until they got to the group exercises. They just could not sit still!

Our Highest Scoring Dog in the Regular Classes was Black Penny Olivia, UD with a score of 189 in the Open B Class. She is owned by Dr. Lynn Budzak of DePere, WI. First Place in the Graduate Novice Class went to Oakridge's MacAnnie owned by STCA member, Louise DeBlois of Vernona, NJ. First place in the Veterans Class was 7 year old, Rockbottom's Scotch On The Rox, CD with a score of 184. She is owned by Kate & Edward Curley of Roseland, NJ. Kate is also a member of STCA.

We hope everyone in obedience will come to the STCA Rotating Specialty that will be hosted by the Scottish Terrier Club of Greater Washington, DC on April 22-23, 2000. The Sweepstakes and Conformation show will be held on the 22nd and the Obedience Trial will be held on the 23rd. We promise to have a wonderful judge, lots of great food, prizes and fun for all participants.

MICHELE FUJAWA, COMPUTER TECHNOLOGY CHAIRMAN

There has been a change! Our web address has changed to <http://clubs.akc.org/stca>. Last month the AKC redesigned their entire website which included placing the national breed clubs in a new directory. I am still in the process of searching for some of the files that were "misplaced" in the migration. Don't hesitate to contact me if you discover any files that are missing. Your input has been very helpful!

If you have a chance, check out the new AKC website (<http://www.akc.org>). You can still catch all of your favorites like - online registration dog show rules & forms and weekly show group placements. One exciting new feature is the ability to get an online status of the points/majors your show dog has accumulated. This option is free and is usually updated within two weeks of the show where your dog earned the points. For a fee, you can get online pedigrees and detailed show records for any of your dogs!

Bookmark your favorites! If you stumble upon a website you'd like to revisit, you can "bookmark" the site. If you are using Netscape, you can easily add sites to your "Bookmark" list by pressing the CTRL key and the "D" key (CTRL+D). If you are using Microsoft Internet Explorer, you can add a "Favorite" to your list by pressing the ALT key and the "A" key (ALT+A). In MS IE this will bring up your "Favorites" selection list. Make sure the STCA website is at the top of your list! (<http://www.akc.org/clubs/stca>)

Regional Club Websites. More of our regional clubs have web sites! Link to the regional sites and more at <http://clubs.akc.org/stca/stcalink.htm>.

The STCA Rescue site is being updated by Pam Wilson. In addition to the latest information regarding regional rescue contacts, there are some pictures and stories. A wonderful new feature is the On-line Rescue Form. Take the time to read some of the great rescue highlights!

Take a look at Health and Registry info. We'd like your input on a Health Registry. We have set up a site with several links to all types of sites. (<http://clubs.akc.org/stca/stcareg1.htm>). These sites will help explain and illustrate the function of a registry. If you have a chance, browse these links and then let us know your thoughts. Your input is important.

Just a reminder! We are trying to keep fully marked catalogs on our website for all Regional and National Specialties. At present, if MB-F is the superintendent, there is no need to key the entire catalog with results, because MB-F does a great job of providing that information via their website. But, for independent specialties and specialties not held through MB-F, we need some volunteers (usually one of the winners or a club member) to key in the catalog and results. Thanks to the people who have sent me specialty major wins (BOB, BOW, BOS, WD, RWD, WB, RWB and any AOMs). I know lots of people who sign on to the STCA website on Monday mornings following a specialty to see who won! Please contact me if you have any questions

(email to: fujawa@prodigy.net). (We need input from the Obedience and Agility folks, too.)

What are e-mail lists? There are several types of e-mail lists or newlists on the internet for Scottie lovers. When people subscribe to e-mail lists, they can participate in on-line discussions. Some folks, however, just prefer to "lurk". When someone submits a note or responds to a note, it is sent to all list members. Some e-mail lists are small (less than 100) and some are large (almost 1000). Because of the volume of e-mail that is generated, you can choose to subscribe to a mail list in DIGEST format. Instead of receiving single e-mails throughout the day, you will get 2-3 e-mails in one day, each consolidating 8-10 individual messages. If you will be gone on vacation or you are busy, you can set various options so mail is not sent to you until you request mail again. It is very easy to subscribe to an e-mail list. There are both public and private lists.

CH. SPRINGBOK SEA U IN MY DREAMS

Mardi, Jack's girl

Mardi finished her championship at the age of 5 with three majors; a three, a four and a five. She had been out of the show ring for two and a half years during which time she gave us a litter of two puppies, one of which was Winners Bitch from the puppy class at the GDSTC Specialty in March, '99. This daughter, Springbok Dream Lover, was also second in her class at the STCA National Specialty at MCKC in 1999.

Mardi is the fourth champion for her dam, Springbok's Shades O' Scarlet, and the twenty-sixth champion for her sire, Ch. Charthill Seaworthy.

Thanks to judges Elaine Rigden, Ric Chashoudian and Joseph Mecera for rewarding her quality and outstanding showmanship with these major wins.

And a special thanks to Jackie Breazeale for her superb job in presenting Mardi to her very best!

"MaryBeth" has one of those personalities that takes you in and holds you forever. We adore her and wish to thank Rusty and Margo for letting us love her so much. We failed to advertise her championship last year because of the arrival of our second daughter, Marty. While we were getting ready for a baby, we were raising MaryBeth's first litter. She was bred to her great-grandpa, "Ben," and gave us six gorgeous boys. Look for them soon in a southern ring near you!

Reflections

ELSA MEYER

LAST YEAR ELSA MEYER, ONE OF THE WORLD'S MOST IMPORTANT SCOTTIE BREEDERS, DIED AT 92 YEARS OF AGE. HER WORK AS A BREEDER SPANNED HALF A CENTURY, BEGINNING WITH A BITCH PURCHASED IN 1946. A 1992 SCOTTISH TERRIER BREEDERS AND EXHIBITORS ASSOCIATION ARTICLE BY DAN ERICSSON REPORTS "MRS. ELIZABETH MEYER'S REANDA PREFIX HAS MADE HISTORY IN ENGLAND AS NO ONE HAS EVER BEFORE OWNED OR BRED A LARGER NUMBER OF CHAMPIONS, 34 ALTOGETHER." HER REANDA ROSITA HOLDS, TO THIS DAY, THE RECORD AS THE BEST BROOD BITCH THE BREED HAS EVER KNOWN IN ENGLAND, PRODUCING 9 BRITISH CHAMPIONS FROM 7 LITTERS Sired BY 6 DIFFERENT STUDS. REANDA ROGER ROUGH, SHOWN IN THE LATE '50s, HELD THE RECORD FOR MOST CCs WON BY A DOG FOR APPROXIMATELY 30 YEARS. ELSA'S SCOTTIES WERE SENT ALL AROUND THE WORLD AND IF YOU LOOK BACK IN THE LINES OF TOP PRODUCERS IN CANADA AND THE UNITED STATES, YOU ARE SURE TO FIND A "REANDA". I DON'T ATTEMPT TO LIST THEM FOR FEAR OF MISSING MORE THAN I IDENTIFY.

NEXT YEAR, BERGIT COADY-KABEL, DAN ERICSSON AND JOE BARR WILL OFFER A TROPHY FOR BEST OF BREED AT THE SCOTTISH TERRIER CLUB OF ENGLAND IN ELSA'S MEMORY.

OUTSIDE OF THE RATHER BRIEF RECITATION OF SHOW AND BREEDING RECORDS ABOVE, I THOUGHT A BETTER TRIBUTE TO HER IN AMERICA WOULD BE RECOLLECTIONS FROM SOME PEOPLE WHO PURCHASED BREEDING ANIMALS FROM HER AND THOUGHTS ON WHAT MADE HER A GREAT SCOTTIE BREEDER. I'LL BEGIN AT THE BEGINNING, WITH BERGIT WHO HAS BEEN GIVEN THE PRIVILEGE TO CARRY ON USING THE REANDA PREFIX....

Bergit Coady-Kabel

(REANDA)

It was Mr. Bockholt, an astute dog man from Hamburg, Germany, who introduced me to Mrs. Meyer and her famous Reanda Scottish Terriers during Crufts, 1964.

I had signed up to complete a three-year apprenticeship at the Bockholt's trim shop, but since Mrs. Meyer needed help more than the Bockholts at that point, it was agreed upon for me to train the first year at Reanda Kennels instead. (I returned to Reanda after finishing my German apprenticeship, working for Mrs. Meyer for two more years.)

Elizabeth Meyer and her husband Eddie were from Austria and had moved to England. Eddie Meyer had been a successful motorcycle racer in the 1930's and was knowledgeable about cars as well. Mr.

Meyer and his brother co-owned a garage (which was a car repair shop as well as a gas station) in Hatfield, one hour north of London. The Meyer's home and kennel were on the same property behind the garage.

Mr. and Mrs. Meyer had no children. Both were gracious and kind people and I was treated like a family member. Even though Mrs. Meyer was of petite frame and stature, she was a strong and courageous woman and she has been my role model throughout my life. One example of her strength that is ingrained in my memory was when Mrs. Meyer was told by doctors that her beloved husband had cancer of the liver and three weeks to live. She went to the hospital twice a day and never let on to him what she knew. She said he was not the kind of person who could be told.

Mr. Meyer died three weeks to the day and I almost did too. At that point in my life it was the most devastating experience I had ever witnessed and could not believe anyone could live through it.

When working at Reanda I met many breeders and dog people in general from all over the world who would come and visit and look at the dogs. One of those breeders was Betty Malinka, Sandoone Kennels who invited me to the States. No sooner had I landed in Chicago, Mrs. Meyer received bad news about her own health. She had been diagnosed with cancer and had to undergo surgery. She asked me to come back since no one knew how long this would take and the kennel had to be run to full capacity. Of course I went back and everything went successfully. As years went by, I always told her she would live to be 100. Unfortunately that did not happen.

One of Mrs. Meyer's best friends and mentor was her handler, George Barr. He was a great dog man and handled for Mrs. Meyer until he passed away some years ago. George was responsible for a large amount of the Reanda success. Later, Mrs. Meyer moved from Hatfield to Stanwell Moor, close to Heathrow Airport, where she bought property from George Barr and built a house. She was very fortunate to have Joe Barr, George's son, and his wife Pauline living next door. Both looked after her in her later years.

Mrs. Meyer's success was always greeted in a humble fashion and plans for future hopeful breedings were always in the making. One of her strongest beliefs about a stud dog was that no matter how much the stud fee, no matter who owned the dog, if you thought he was right for your bitch, you used that dog because, after all, the puppies will be yours. Mrs. Meyer also believed after evaluating a litter that if no puppy was better than the mother, you did not keep one. One other important fact comes to mind. Mrs. Meyer would always say, "If you get one very good pup in a litter, you are very fortunate."

Whelping was taken very seriously. All litters were whelped in Mrs. Meyer's bedroom and stayed there until they were ready to go into one of the outside kennels. Puppies were weaned a little according to their mothers. The bitches who wanted to stay with their puppies longer were allowed to.

Feeding was one of the most important aspects to Mrs. Meyer. She always told me, "Remember what you put into a dog is what makes it come into condition." To this day I remember the diet we fed consisted 80% of meat, pressure cooked daily and all of it cut up by hand by Mrs. Meyer. Imported horse meat from Brazil was the main course, breast of lamb was added for the younger dogs and since she did not want the older, heavier generation to have less, we added tongue and throat meat to their dishes. Feeding was a ritual.

Mrs. Meyer was a good groomer and my first teacher. I stripped and trimmed hundreds of Scotties. Later I realized she never had commented much. A few years ago on one of my visits I brought up this subject and her reply was "I know, but had I not been satisfied I would have said so!" Since she wanted me to learn Westies as well, she contacted Mrs. Kenney-Taylor of "Sollershot" fame and so one day a month I would spend learning Westies.

Besides working the kennels, helping with all aspects of the care and training of the dogs (usually between 25 and 40), Mrs. Meyer was also concerned about my mental well-being. I was able to take English classes at a college and joined a Catholic youth group where many activities were available.

Over the years we stayed in touch and always on my flights to visit my parents in Germany I would stop in London and visit Mrs. Meyer for a day or a few hours.

A few years ago, it was gorgeous weather in London when we landed about noon. I was able to talk a cab driver into taking me to the nearest Red Cross office to rent a wheelchair. After much ado, Marjorie (Mrs. Meyer's housekeeper) and I convinced her to get into it. Off through the village we went. We had the greatest of times and talked about all the paths where we had taken dogs for walks.

I miss Mrs. Meyer and the side trips to London but I thank God for giving me such a great start in the dog world.

Marg Moran McQuinn

(HOPSCOTCH)

Fortunately for me, Elsa Meyer was quite a letter writer. I don't know how else a single woman fresh out of the university could have afforded to strike up an overseas relationship that was to profoundly shape my approach to breeding and showing.

Our correspondence began in a somewhat backhanded way. I had been searching for a stud dog to which I wished to breed my fear-biting, demodectic-mange affected bitch! (Newcomers can do a great many stupid things without a mentor!) There weren't many dog magazines at the time (not that I could have afforded to subscribe anyway) so I found a copy of Dog World at the local library, copied the addresses of all advertisers of Scotties in the classifieds and sent them a photocopied form letter asking for information about their studs. I was probably a bit vague about my bitch's faults...

Jake and Nancy McClosky of Chicago provided one of my responses, and what a chain of events it set into motion. They had recently imported Eng. Ch. Reanda Rock Silver and included a photo and his pedigree (which included Elsa's address). I had never seen a silver brindle before and thought he was stunning. I eventually did breed to this dog but my immediate decision was to forget about breeding my own bitch and instead buy a puppy from Rock Silver's breeder. Some months later, I owned his grand-daughter, my foundation bitch, Can. Ch. Reanda Red Cherry, a year later, his grandson, Am. Can. Ch. Reanda Raimond (both sired by Elsbeth Clerc's Swissrannoch Solo) and a year after that Can. Ch. Reanda Regina.

Over the course of the years that we corresponded (and later telephoned as I became somewhat more affluent), Elsa passed on much information that created a deeper impression than she probably realized. I have saved those letters, which I re-read as preparation for this article.

First, while Elsa's life revolved around her Scotties, you should know that some of her views would not be considered "correct" by some people these days although they were quite appropriate at that time. But had she not had those views, doubtless an unknown novice, such as myself, half a world away, would never have been able to purchase such a good bitch, no strings attached, for such a reasonable sum. She bred a lot of Scottie puppies, which she sold around the world.

Her letters nearly always included a rundown on who she had bred to who. I realized she bred to a diverse range of stud dogs, some of whom belonged to her fiercest competitors. The rationale was always about how he was the right dog for this bitch. Although we never actually discussed this, I came to believe that for her, getting a dog that was right for the bitch was more important than his pedigree. Much of this thinking is probably behind my somewhat loose pedigrees and my propensity to ship bitches to stud dogs across North America as though they lived next door. I have always maintained a close interest in breeding/show activities of British breeders, no doubt in large part due to one Christmas gift Elsa gave me: a lifetime membership in the Scottish Terrier Breeders and Exhibitors Association (which, to this day, entitles me to their "annual".)

Sometimes I got a brief report on show wins and a few words about what the judge had been looking for, and now and again, some perspective on the breeding relationships and dynamics among the winners, losers and judges.

Her best letters discussed things like feeding, Scottie Cramp, vWD, Parvovirus and vaccination protocol for Parvo (when it first appeared). Bergit mentioned the emphasis on feeding. Here's an excerpt from the letter that preceded the arrival of my foundation bitch: "The puppy gets 4 meals per day: milk sweetened with honey or sugar and some cereal in the morning and a drink of milk in the afternoon. Midday and evening she gets beef stewed with carrots and onions and mixed with wholemeal puppy biscuits which have been softened with the soup of the boiled meat. They also get some of the raw meat mixed in with it. I always give puppies as much as they can eat as a Scottie puppy must have a short thick body."

Her views on disease, especially vWD, shaped my thinking significantly. My foundation bitch had tested as a carrier by Dr. Jean Dodds test and I was having to re-assess her future as a breeding animal. Elsa expressed puzzlement over a condition she had never encountered in 14 generations. Shortly thereafter, a dog Dick Hensel had purchased from her tested in the carrier range and he decided to sell it. This bothered her a lot and she said she would not sell any more breeding stock to countries that did this testing; it made no sense to her to remove good dogs from the breeding population on the basis of a condition she hadn't seen in decades. My own bitch, when re-tested, subsequently tested normal and high-normal, so one wonders how many good, healthy dogs were eliminated from the breeding population on the basis of, what has later been demonstrated to be, unreliable tests. I decided Elsa knew what she was talking about and subsequently refused to test for vWD until the advent of DNA tests.

As a result of a bad experience with my first U.S. handler, Elsa urged me to contact Bergit to show my next dog in America. Thus began a friendship that has lasted 20 years and which has led to friendships with others in turn. At the end of the day, this may be the greatest measure of tribute I can give to Elsa. A passion for breeding, showing and exhibiting dogs seems somehow incomplete to me unless it is coupled with the personal joy of meeting new people, learning from them or teaching them.

Dan Ericsson

(RAGLAN, SWEDEN)

I came to work for Elsa and the Reanda Scotties as a school boy one summer and ever since we were the best of friends. She taught me practically everything about Scotties and she has meant a tremendous lot to me personally too. Life at Reanda was never boring and the dogs and their well-being came first. When I came there at first she had approximately 25 adult Scotties plus puppies, so there was plenty of work to be done and Elsa never stopped working. She was constantly doing something and everything was supervised by her. Despite all this, she took time to teach me trimming, talk about dogs and breeders as well as explain all things connected with the breed. She was very forthright in her views and also honest and she was in no way blind to her own dogs' shortcomings. It was interesting to listen to the way she saw things and certain things have stuck. She was a great stickler for correct feeding and she lavished care - and food! - on young stock. The Reandas were also always strong and sturdy and she was a master at rearing puppies and they also seemed to reach their maximum potential. Her method of rearing them would probably seem a little complicated to most breeders nowadays, but she got results and did not believe in shortcuts!

Elsa Meyer managed to establish a certain type within the breed, which for most breeders is something they never achieve. Although it is perhaps incorrect to categorize, I feel a typical Reanda Scottie was short and sturdy with good front and shoulders. She was also very particular with eyes and stressed the importance of dark and small eyes and the vast majority of the Reandas were brindle, a colour she always preferred. I also remember her telling me never to use a dog that wouldn't show, regardless of other virtues. She was of course right, and she had herself used rather timid dogs on occasions, so she soon grew conscious of the importance of showmanship.

The Reanda dogs had a very profound influence on Scotties worldwide. Mrs. Meyer exported several dogs to Scandinavia and I think it is fair to say that the two dogs she sold to me, Ch. Reanda Ravita and Ch. Reanda Ruler, have had a major influence on the breed in Sweden. Most Raglan-bred Scotties go back to them and Ravita figures even more prominently than Ruler, but she was born in the early '70s and Ruler approximately ten years later.

What was then the secret behind Elsa Meyer's success in dogs? Well, the question is not easy to answer. Elsa herself claimed that she was passionately interested in everything connected with Scottish Terriers, meticulous about feeding and rearing and that she tried to breed to type. She strongly believed in finding the right dog for the bitch when mating her, rather than looking at pedigrees for ages, and consequently, she strongly believed that the dog had to be right rather than its pedigree. I remember her saying that too many people look at pedigrees which are of no value if the dogs do not match and are of type. Proper understanding of breed type, a natural ability to distinguish between major and minor points in assessing a Scottish Terrier, carefulness and a natural flair for breeding good stock are also part of the secret. But like other really successful breeders, one was unable to put into words what it was that made her so brilliant a breeder. May I also add, that this was not a case of false modesty - Elsa Meyer was widely liked and respected for her unassuming personality.

Mrs. Meyer judged Scotties worldwide and wherever she officiated she was held in the highest regard. For me, personally, it was a privilege to be a close friend of Elsa Meyer's and her dedication, stamina and personality continue to be a source of inspiration.

Elsbeth Clerc

(RANNOCH, SWITZERLAND)

I met Elsa first in the middle of '60s when I was looking for a Scottie. I contacted a Swiss breeder called Paula Meyer (Radimey) - not related to Elsa - who advised me to contact Elsa and insisted that I ask for a brindle Scottie. I bought a silver brindle bitch who became my foundation bitch. Reanda Rasuki was a well-built daughter of Ch. Reanda Ringold, a great character-not so outgoing in temperament as her father and rather stubborn in the show ring but an easy whelp.

In 1967, two more Reanda bitches joined my home - another light brindle followed by a black. I spent many days and weekends with Elsa keen to learn everything about Scotties. We spent hours together talking about this and that: about kennel managing, about present and past champions (...one day I asked which Scottie she considered to be the best one according to the standard - she immediately answered: Ch. Westpark Derriford Baffie), about promising youngsters coming on and of course about planned litters. Elsa did not believe much in pedigrees but she had this incredible flair which matings could or should be successful and this made her an important and well recognized breeder. I do remember her very well when she answered my question about a planned litter: oh, don't do that, this is too close. I believed in her answer and that whatever she told me was right still is. Her breeding book was unique and no secret. She carefully marked the whelping if normal or with troubles and of course where she sold the puppy. It was easy to trace back the female line and she never hesitated to tell the background of the bitch. She was always very open to any discussion about whelping problems.

Going to shows with Elsa was another experience I would never miss. She introduced me to the post-war well-known and well-reputed Scottie breeders who made history. It was at the shows she told me what type and quality in a dog is and what makes a typical Scottie.

Feeding was one of the highlights of the day and important at Reanda. She told me the proper feeding for Scotties and my dogs are still fed the same way. For many years wheat meal was available in our country but for some reason England gave up producing this excellent basic food for dogs. Elsa cooked every day fresh meat, either beef or lamb, adding onions and carrots. The soup was used to soak the wheat-meal and to the cooked meat she added Woffle (who remembers this deep frozen meat?) or tinted tripes.

Puppies were reared very carefully. The first week they spent in the so-called dog kitchen and it is still unbelievable that she had bitches with puppies in her kitchen with the other dogs running around. All the dogs respected each other.

Twenty years ago we sometimes had swimmers, and Elsa showed me the gymnastics she did several times a day with the puppies in order that their hindlegs did not get too stiff. In the early days in Stanwell Moor, her dogs were kept in George Barr's kennel close to her house but not for a very long time. They conquered the house with charm and enjoyed the freedom of house and garden. Sofas and chairs were for the benefit of the dogs. Males and females were always kept together without problems.

Elsa was open to health problems of the breed. While the only breeder on the Continent using mostly Reanda dogs in my breeding (I count Ch. Swissrannoch Solo as a Reanda dog), I did not have many health problems. The Reandas can be considered a healthy, sound line having some Scottie Cramp from time to time; also I had in my early days 3 or 4 puppies with CMO. I introduced another line and got some vWD, but have not heard of any cases of vWD in the recent years.

At one point, some Reandas were not very showy, extrovert dogs. Clever as Elsa was, she realized the problem, mated her bitches to showy males and she got the desired show temperament. Beside the temperament she got more extroverted dogs - that were everybody's friend.

In all the years I knew Elsa and her dogs, she bred for type and quality, having always her type in mind. She was a responsible breeder and looking for a good home to place the puppies was a "must". My homebred Ch. Swissrannoch Solo was born at Reanda; she reared him in her usual way and he was 6 month old when I first met him and of course I fell in love with him. I started to show Solo as often as I could; otherwise he was in her capable hands. He got his first CC at 15 months, the second four months later and it was at this time she had to go to the hospital for a cataract operation on both eyes. She advised me to send Solo to Fred Sills for handling. But after he won the second CC in Birmingham, she decided that Solo had to stay in Stanwell Moor since he was not used to being in a kennel a whole day - he might be unhappy. She was sure that Solo would become a champion very soon. Solo won his last CC at Crufts and Elsa was in tears. That was Elsa Meyer - always anxious about her dogs.

One of her Scottie friends had to give up breeding for health reasons and her dogs, the Larksgate Scotties, found a permanent home at Stanwell Moor. She was also very helpful to Edith Plane (Stedplane), breeder of Ch. Reanda Ringold and many Stedplane puppies found a good home through Elsa. That was also Elsa.

Elsa's Austrian heritage was the reason the Reandas had over the years a big influence on the breed in Holland, Germany, Austria and Switzerland.

You easily could recognize a Reanda Scottie: very typey heads, soundly built, strong boned, full of substance and hard coated. Important was also the temperament but as I said before - they did respect each other and there was none more stubborn than my first bitch. I still have two Reandas - one is multiple Ch. Reanda Rainbow Warrior, born 1986 and Reanda Rosie Gray (she very often used the same name after 10 years) born in 1990, both brindle and typical Reandas.

What more can I say? She was a great personality, a dedicated and honest breeder and always willing to give advice to beginners. From her I learned to be patient - an honest breeder has to deal with ups and downs - every breeder has from time to time problems - but just wait, another time will come. Her dogs had that little extra that made the REANDA type, which we are going to lose. With the death of Elsa Meyer, an era in Scottish Terriers has gone.

Those Pesky Elevated Liver Enzymes

What Are They And What Do They Mean?

MARCIA DAWSON, DVM

One of the moments I enjoy the most as a practicing veterinarian is seeing the light of understanding shine in my client's eyes when I am able to successfully explain a complicated condition or procedure. Maybe there is a bit of a teacher in all of us at one time or another. I just know that I feel personally rewarded when I can help clients understand the disease, the diagnostic protocols, and the need for us to work together for the best care of their pet. This doesn't happen every day, nor is every client interested or concerned enough to learn. But the ones who care enough to make the effort make my day. I believe the best pet owners are informed and inquisitive people who stay current with health issues and do not hesitate to bring their own knowledge and experience into the veterinarian/client relationship.

What I would like to do with this and possibly future articles is to combine my passion for veterinary medicine with my love of Scotties, and address topics that concern, affect, and probably confuse most of us. I hope to bring some level of understanding on the more complicated issues to the best of my ability, and I encourage the exchange of ideas, experiences, and input from anyone who is willing to contribute.

"So, what's the deal with elevated liver enzymes in Scotties?" It was my colleague and good friend on the phone. She went on to describe marked elevations of specific liver enzymes in an otherwise healthy, seven-year old Scottie bitch. My friend had proceeded with all the standard tests to find an answer for her client, but in the end, a definite diagnosis remained elusive. It was an unsatisfying and frustrating conclusion, to say the least.

Having had no direct experience with this problem at the time, I was of little help to my friend. But since then, after several phone calls, letters, and e-mail postings, I have discovered that there are multiple cases of unexplained elevations of liver enzymes in Scotties, and that there is also a great deal of confusion and speculation on just what is going on. I thought it might be helpful to explain in some detail just what these enzymes are, where they originate and what they mean when they are elevated. But first, a bit of liver anatomy and physiology will be useful.

Weighing in at about one pound in a 27 pound dog, the liver nestles neatly up against the diaphragm, hovering over the entire abdominal contents in a position befitting its essential role: that of protector, primary provider, producer, and major recycler. It is truly the king of metabolic and digestive function and its list of duties is impressive:

- Receipt of all blood flow from the gut via the portal vein
- Production and metabolism of essential proteins such as albumin and clotting factors
- Center of carbohydrate and fat metabolism
- Center of bile acid, ammonia, drug and hormone metabolism
- Production and storage of bile
- The major detoxification center in the body
- Center of the reticuloendothelial (RES) system, essential in recycling worn out red cells as well as cleaning up, stockpiling, and sweeping out

At the heart of all of this activity is the hepatocyte, the liver cell, a tiny hexagonal factory fitting up against its neighbors in an efficient and miraculous pattern to form the hepatic lobule. As revealed under microscopic power, the design consists of somewhat irregular rooms, crooked hallways, larger channels and finally huge vessels delivering food and toxins from the intestine in one corner, receiving oxygen from the heart and lungs in another corner, draining away the venous, spent blood at the very center, and collecting and shunting bile into the large ducts to aid in digestion. Your liver has the unique power of regeneration, is capable of forgiving most of the excesses in our lives, but asks little in return. And we just boil and bake the stuff for bait in the ring!

Now, where do those "enzymes" fit into this picture? And what is an enzyme anyway?

An enzyme is a protein, a molecule of a specific chemical structure, synthesized inside of cells and designed to be involved in certain complex biochemical reactions inside or outside of the cell. When the hepatic factory is humming along smoothly, all biochemical processes essential to the life of the cell also proceed normally. However, if you insult the hepatocyte with a drug or toxin, with the fender of a Toyota Corolla or the kick of a pony, with the backflow of venous blood from a failing heart, with infectious agents from the bowel or the insidious invasion of cancerous cells, then the factory may grind to a halt and the cell may swell, rupture and die. Thus, certain enzymes will be released into the circulation in levels higher than are normally found, and the veterinarian can gain a huge amount of information when the serum chemistry is studied.

The most common enzymes your veterinarian may report are ALT (Alanine Aminotransferase) and ALP (Alkaline Phosphatase). Of course there are many others, but these two are the flags we look for when first suspecting a liver disorder. ALT is an intracellular enzyme and is liver specific in the dog. When we see elevations of ALT, we know that there has been some degree of cell membrane damage to allow leakage of this enzyme into the circulation. This enzyme's half-life is 48 hours, meaning that one half of the enzyme should be gone in 48 hours. If we find on subsequent blood work that in fact the ALT levels have decreased by half, then we know this liver injury/insult was a one-time event, and healing is underway. If the ALT levels continue to rise, there is ongoing injury/insult to the liver and the prognosis is darkened considerably. The most common causes for marked elevations of ALT are chronic active hepatitis, primary liver cancer, hepatic necrosis (meltdown), pancreatitis, severe anemia, ischemia (loss of blood flow and oxygen), sepsis and toxemia. As you may guess, these are all pretty nasty problems and, in general, high elevations of ALT make us all a little nervous.

High elevations of ALP, on the other hand, usually carry a less dire prognosis, but this enzyme is more difficult to interpret. The reason for the complexity is that ALP is not liver specific but is found in many tissues including bone, kidney, placenta, intestine, and of course liver. All of these variations on the ALP theme are known as "isoenzymes", but only the isoenzymes derived from bone and liver have a half-life long enough to be clinically significant, i.e. detectable in a blood test. In the liver, ALP is produced by cells lining the narrow canals through which bile normally flows. Increases in ALP in the blood indicate bile flow obstruction due perhaps to accumulation of fats, bile stones plugging up the ducts, perhaps severe infection or cancer. ALP may also be elevated in response to certain drugs, such as anticonvulsants and barbiturates, with or without actual detectable changes in liver function.

To make matters even more confusing, there is a steroid induced ALP isoenzyme (we'll call s-ALP) which is also produced in the liver but is distinguishable from ALP induced by bile flow obstruction. Dogs are uniquely very sensitive to the effects of steroids, and s-ALP may be induced to very high levels with either naturally occurring steroid hormones or those that we administer. Causes for naturally occurring steroid release include stress (pregnancy, surgery, cancer) and Cushings disease. But steroids that we give an animal can also have a huge effect. Consider the very common use (and possibly over use) of steroids in the veterinary profession today. Any steroid medication including injections (long and short duration), "itch pills", topical medications such as eye or ear drops or skin cream can all cause an elevation of the s-ALP for weeks and even months after the medication is gone.

Typically, a dog with serious liver disease will exhibit some if not all of a variety of depressing and debilitating symptoms including vomiting, diarrhea, increase in thirst and urination, weight loss, lack of appetite, bleeding abnormalities, a sickly yellow cast to the eyes and gums, lethargy, and possibly seizures. The blood work will reveal an assortment of elevated enzymes and other parameters that will underscore what we already suspect the liver is very sick.

But what about cases like the healthy, normal middle-aged Scottie who came to my colleague's clinic for routine teeth cleaning and a high ALP was found on pre-anesthetic blood work? There were no other abnormalities. An appropriate next step would be to postpone the anesthesia for 6-8 weeks and recheck the blood at that time. If the ALP is still elevated, then other tests should be performed including bile acid test to check on liver function, blood tests to rule out Cushings disease, abdominal radiographs and possibly ultrasound concentrating on the liver and adrenal glands. In some cases, a liver biopsy may be indicated. Hidden disease may be found with a thorough search, but in some cases, no explanation is found.

So what is the deal?

Dr. Gary Block, a veterinary internal medicine specialist in Warwick, Rhode Island is working on an answer. He has become very interested in elevated ALP in Scotties and is working with four closely related dogs with ALP values ranging from 400-2000 IU/L. These dogs are all healthy and happy pets that have tested negative for Cushings Disease and show no other abnormalities on blood work. The liver biopsies show moderate changes typical of steroid effects, although steroid use in these dogs is reported to have been minimal if at all. Dr. Block is working with Dr. Walter Hoffman at the University of Illinois to examine the blood samples from these Scotties and separate out the isoenzymes. According to Dr. Block, it is Dr. Hoffman's preliminary impression that the predominant isoenzyme is the steroid induced ALP and that this finding points to some degree of chronic stress in these animals. The next obvious question is where does the stress originate? Is there an underlying and more hidden process that has only begun to affect the system? Could the stress induced ALP be a flag for disease to be diagnosed at a much later date, such as cancer somewhere in the body? Or, as Dr. David Twedt suggests in his excellent article "Interpreting increased liver enzyme values in senior patients," are there more complex and not fully understood changes in the adrenal glands that produce many different steroids in the body, leading to unexplained but harmless increases in ALP in the liver? And, is it possible that there is a genetic factor at play? Dr. Block is exploring this possibility as well and is conducting DNA tests with the help of a geneticist, Dr. Geiger, at the University of Pennsylvania.

Clearly, there are a lot of questions to be answered. But the good news is that we may be able to help Dr. Block in his research. He is very interested in receiving blood samples from Scotties with high ALP levels who are otherwise healthy and normal, who have tested negative for Cushings Disease, and whose diagnostic work-up has included a full Chemistry and CBC, abdominal radiographs, and ultrasound. Dr. Block will run the blood test free of charge with his colleagues at the Universities of Illinois and Pennsylvania. As Scottie owners we are fortunate to have a clinician and researcher of Dr. Block's caliber who is eager to work with us. If anyone would be interested in finding out more about Dr. Block and possibly becoming involved in his study, please contact me for further details.

Meanwhile, stay tuned for future developments.

GOOD FRONT AND SHOULDERS?

For the last five to ten years practically all judges have commented on fronts and shoulder construction in their general summary, so it seems this is a part of the Scottish Terrier that is worth studying more closely.

Most judges complain about fronts and it seems that this is indeed a weak point in the breed. This is not only so in Britain and after having been fortunate enough to have had the opportunity to judge Scotties in many countries, I can only too readily assure you that the complaint exists worldwide.

One way to improve fronts and shoulder conformation is to clarify what a good front and good shoulders should be, so that they can be assessed accurately. They are integral parts of the dog so are here dealt with side by side.

The front is to me the part of the dog seen when the dog is directed towards you, not sidewise. The front legs should feel thick and round to the touch and this is something which must be handled to be appreciated. On a heavily furnished dog, it is impossible to tell whether a dog is properly boned and has straight legs without actually handling the dog and it is nonsense to say that an experienced judge can assess a dog accurately by only checking bite and testicles on a male. The front legs should not be twisted and curved and the feet should point forwards. Some legs feel a bit uneven but this is not a fault and should not be penalized as it is natural in a short-legged breed like the Scottish Terrier.

The distance between the front legs should be large enough to accommodate a man's hand, normal-sized, and for it to be able to weigh the brisket in the palm of the hand. The hand should then be allowed to drop to the floor with the legs so straight that this forms what may be termed a square foot. The term wide or broad front is sometimes used too and this is what a good front should be.

The feet must point forward, be fairly big with strong, elastic pads, not splay or elongated.

While assessing front construction, depth of brisket should also be examined and the brisket of a correctly made Scottie should be slung between the legs. The brisket of a typical dog should feel like a large egg in the palm of the hand and this is an indication that the dog is properly slung between the legs and not set upon them, which unfortunately seems to be a trend in the breed today. Such dogs may be deep in brisket but often lack width and do not always have a square front - most seem to have an "oblong" front viewed face on.

The legs should be short too and the body very deep. A useful tip is to place a normal fist under the dog's brisket behind the front legs sidewise. There should then be no space in between the dog and the table. If this is so, the dog is too tall and lacks proper depth.

There seems to be a widespread incorrect belief that great depth of body is linked with poor fronts and failure in front construction. This is not so at all, but it is well worth remembering that 2/3 of a dog's total weight is carried by the forequarters. This inevitably means that a lot of pressure is put upon the front, particularly during the growing period and dogs with incorrect front assembly may deteriorate in front if allowed to be excessively fat when growing. This is however basically due not to excessive weight or substance, but to poor front construction. Had the front been correct, it would not have suffered negatively from substance, so the basic fault to eradicate is front construction. This is a part of the dog easily seen on Smooth-haired Dachshunds, a breed with exceptional depth of brisket but mostly also with proper forearm and good fronts visible to the eye. Many coated breeds have poor fronts due to the fact that so much is disguised and not revealed by knowledgeable judges!

Shoulders are very important. Good shoulder angulation and shoulder placement make a lot of difference to the general quality of the dog and it is not only cosmetically as good shoulders will make a dog move sounder with longer strides thus making movement less exhausting and more functional. Shoulders should be assessed from the sides of the dog, and as seen on the skeleton above, the shoulder assembly consists of two major parts: the shoulder blade and the upper arm. Ideally they should be the same length and should form a distinct angle. A dog with such shoulders moves with a long smooth stride and has a pronounced forechest with legs set under the body in profile. Such a dog is very flexible and slung properly. However, many Scotties are either upright in shoulders and upper arm resulting in too open an angle between the two skeletal parts or more common!- are too short in upper arm.

This pushes the front legs forward too much, impairs movement giving a rather short uneconomical stride. Such a failing also inevitable produces less forechest and if the upper arm is really short, the front legs appear to be set almost in front of the dog. This is not only incorrect but is also a functional fault. A dog built like this moves without proper length of stride.

Shoulder blades set well back give the dog a smooth neckline merging into the back without an angle and also allows the dog to carry his head higher. This gives the dog a lot of class and quality and somebody once said, exaggerating, of course, when asked to define quality in a dog that it was synonymous with good neck and shoulders. Much truth lies in this, however, so perfection in this part of the dog is well worth aiming for.

The shoulder blade and the upper arm have no skeletal link or joint which connects them to the body of the dog. They are held in place by muscles and tendons. Incorrect construction puts enormous pressure on these. This can lead to excessive muscle development on the shoulder/upper arm and is then termed "heavy shoulders" and is not correct but quite often seen in Scotties. The deep heart-shaped ribcage of a typical Scottie provides ample "walls" for shoulder/upper arm and they should lie flat to the body. There is no anatomical proof in saying that wide ribcages give poorer shoulder-placement and shoulder-angulation, so this is an erroneous belief. Even Bulldogs which have barrel-shaped ribcages are perfectly capable of having good shoulders. The shape of their ribcages is however not so deep so does not give shoulders/upper arm the support (or "walls") a well-constructed Scottish Terrier provides.

The elbows should lie flat to the body, not be protruding. This is a very common failing in the breed and is basically caused by crooked front legs, legs set too much in front of the dog due to inadequate length of upper arm or due to insufficient width of ribcage.

A good dog is made up of many integral parts but as fronts seem to cause so much discussion, I feel they are worth studying carefully and it is indeed a complicated part of the dog's anatomy to grasp. No dog is on the other hand made up of isolated parts and so much has to be taken into consideration when evaluating or judging, but a proper understanding of the actual facts is an asset and I hope this article has helped to clarify one important part of the dog's anatomy -- front and shoulders.

Correct square front with straight thick legs, deep brisket and properly slung.

Crooked front legs and out at elbow. Too narrow in front. Feet not pointing forward.

Front with good width but without proper depth of brisket and consequently too tall and not properly slung. Good straight leg.

Too narrow in front as a result of the ribcage being too narrow. Good depth and good straight front legs. Front too oblong.

Angus and the Ducks

STARRING DESTINY'S ANGUS MACTAVISH

BY RUTH M. WYNN

As soon as the Daffodils, Crocus and Tulips push their heads up through the cold dark earth in spring, the mallard ducks start arriving at our Feeding Station for seeds and cracked corn.. This year brought the ducks, male and female together, then three males, then another pair. One female has an old injured webbed foot so I have named her and know that there are at least two different pairs coming at different times of the day. They come for food and like to rest in our fenced-in backyard before heading back to the Harriton House Creek to swim.

MacTavish, (RB 10/96) tolerated the ducks visits and they ignored him. Angus, was only 12 weeks old when the ducks flew in March, 96. I hurried over and caught him by his collar and gently warned him that they were Mommy's ducks.....do not harm Mommy's ducks." I let go of his collar and waited for him to charge the ducks and chase them away. He walked quietly over and the ducks ignored him thinking he was MacTavish. Angus spent many hours out at the feeding station watching the ducks feed and following them around the yard. One fateful day the three male ducks decided to visit our in-ground pool. Though they are entirely welcome to spend time at the Feeding Station, the pool is off-limits.

I would unlock the gate, walk up the stairs, run across the deck, and flap my arms menacingly to send a clear message.....NO DUCKS ALLOWED HERE. Angus, followed me up to the pool and jokingly I told him to get the ducks out of the pool area. He crouched down and stalked across the deck quietly and gently herded the surprised ducks out the gate and back to the feeding station. The ducks quacked and complained but did obey.

After that day, I made up a command word for Angus....If I called out "Border Collie" Angus would immediately drop into a crouch and slink up to the gate, up the stairs, across the deck, and herd his friends away from the pool area. Each fall the Sweetie Wheatie, charming, silly, always wanting to see "feathers fly". I've noticed that Angus has taught the other Scotties gentleness of spirit unless a chipmunk or squirrel happens by the clan.

Again this spring I watch the ducks, feed, rest and then head for our swimming pool. I ran for the gate and called out "ANGUS, BORDER COLLIE". He came running to the gate. Crouched, stalked and headed for the pool; herding is his forte. Seamus followed ready to be of service and the girls thought, "what fun." It is hard for me to understand how Angus remembers the command when six months of winter interrupt his sport. The ducks have left again for this year but next spring, when the Daffodils, Crocus and Tulips bloom, the same ducks will return, see the same yard full of Scotties and land anyway to start a new year with our "BORDER COLLIE" Angus and his cohorts.

ducks leave our yard and we will not see them again until the following Spring. For three years our little Angus has continued to herd and enjoy his friends the ducks. For two years his brother, Seamus, has joined him with the pool patrol. He doesn't crouch but he calmly follows Angus bidding and they work together. Megan, Seamus' littermate, came to live with us when she was 9 months old. She tolerates the ducks but enjoys the pool chase more than the quiet time that Angus spends with "His Ducks." Enter Molly, our

The Michigan Club was well represented at the STCA Awards Banquet. Four awards came home to Michigan. The Anstamm Achievement Award was presented to Joanne Kinnelly. The STCA Good Sportsmanship Award was presented to Sue Martin. The Rosenfeld Breeder's Certificate was awarded to Sally Johnson and Sara Cebulski. The Alchemy Bred By Exhibitor Award was presented to Maurine McConnell with Barbary Haymaker and Barbary What About Me. Our own Paul DeBene was also introduced as a new STCA Board member. Congratulations to all.

Our specialty was super this year and we retired 3 of our challenge trophies. Judge Jane Phelan found her BISweeps winner in the 6-9 puppy dog class. Barbary Tomfoolery owned by Maurine McConnell and Dolores Strong. After Sweeps, Phyllis Harp put on an agility demonstration with her 2 scotties. Judge Peggy Beisel-McIlwaine had entries of 49 in Regular Classes. WD/BOW was Wild Wind Son of the Sea, owned by Ed, Marilyn, and Kim Lindsay. WB was Rexroth's Tiggi, owned by Elizabeth Griffin and Lesley Walter. BOS was Dragoon Spectator, owned by Anstamm Kennels and Michele Fujawa. BOB was CH Greatscot's Dangerous, owned by Nancy Walthers.

For those of you who were at Montgomery County, you know that it rained and rained and rained. I'm sure many of our scotties wondered why they were allowed to "play" in the rain and mud. Congratulations to all the winners and Happy Holidays and good luck in 2000!!

The STCC annual fall match was held on October 24, at Arcadia Park on a sunny day. Our match conformation judge was Dany Canino, who reviewed an entry of 10 lovely puppies. Her selection for Best Junior Puppy was Jacglen's L'Ange de Noel, owned by Paul LaFontaine and Jacki Herron Forkel. Best Senior and Best in Match went to Top Brass Almost Heaven, owned by Marilyn Garfield.

The costume and pet parade judge was Matt Sadovsky, who had a lot of winners among his 11 entrants. In addition to the "show," we also had a great array of scottie collectibles available for sale, an obedience demonstration, handling practice before the match, a scrumptious buffet lunch, and of course, a raffle. Everyone had a wonderful time!

We are looking forward to our upcoming Christmas party in December. On behalf of the entire STCC membership, we wish you all a most enjoyable and safe Holiday Season!

Once again, the faithful flocked to Ambler, PA., beckoned by the ritual we all know as Montgomery. The 1999 edition of Montgomery County Kennel Club's annual Show of Shows tested the mettle of our beloved die-hards almost as much as the mettle of their owners, friends, and fans. We congratulate all the competitors on a job well done and point with pride to the accomplishments of all STCGNY members at Montgomery County. BOW went to Stonehedge Athena, owned by Michele Parmiter.

BOS to BOB was won by a breeder/owner handled bitch hailing from the Greater New York area. CH Greatscot's Dangerous owned by Nancy Walthers captured this prestigious award.

STCGNY is always pleased with a successful rescue effort, and this month we're especially proud of Rescue Chair Bill Berry who announced the 275th rescue placement.

Officers were elected at our June meeting. Those elected were: David Miles, president; Carolyn Sweazy, corresponding secretary; Ruth Adams, treasurer; Pat Curts, recording secretary; Donna Wagner, Dan Stickler, and Ann Coleman, directors.

The STCGL's 1999 Specialty was held at the end of August. Although entries were down to 60, the Louisville Courier-Journal had run a feature on the Thursday before the show. They featured club member Dan Stickler who spoke well of the breed. As a result of that article, there were about a dozen pet scottie owners who came to the show.

Our annual meeting followed by the annual match, this year held in conjunction with the newly formed Great Lakes All Terrier Association A Match, began what to be like a busy year for the STC of Chicago. Carden It Scot to Be Wright, owned by Ron and Cathy Wright and Caryl Alten took BOB at King Kennels in Riverwoods, IL on August 22. New officers for 1999-2000 were elected following the match: President: Richard Bumstead, Vice-President: Cathy Wright, Secretary: Sarah Dye, Treasurer: Harry Serota and Board Members: Karen Sawyer, Renee Jasnoch, and Caryl Alten.

The annual "Howl-o-ween" Costume Contest and Parade, our club's most eagerly anticipated event of the year, took place on October 24, 1999. Scotties and owners alike strutted their Halloween finest in a contest patterned after a dog show with classes and winners for Most Creative Costume ("Mocha," "Fancy," "Whimsey," and "Abbra" as the BarberScottie Quartet shown by Caryl Alten and Lori Erdman); Scariest Costume ("Darby" as Bat Out of Hell shown by Cathy Wright); Funniest Costume ("Haggis" as Quacky Duck shown by Becky Dambacher); and Best Human and Scottie Costume Combo ("Abbey," "Kevin," and "Gypsy" as Oreo Cookie with Got Milk? Girl shown by Sarah Dye). The Best in Show winner was the BarberScottie Quartet.

Raffle tickets for the signed and framed Marguerite Kirmse etching "Watch Me Grow" are still available. The tickets are $5.00 each or 5 for $20.00 and can be purchased from Richard Bumstead, 1765 East 55th Street, Apt. M2, Chicago, IL 60615. The drawing will be held in December so order your tickets quickly.

The club's next event will be the Valentine luncheon scheduled for Sunday, February 13, 2000, at Zander's Restaurant in Downers Grove, IL. The club hosts a speaker on a health topic of importance to scottie owners and breeders each year for this meeting. More information will follow in the next Bagpiper.

In the meantime, members of the STC of Chicago wish other scottie fanciers a safe and Happy Holiday season and New Year celebration.

SFBSTC scotties and their friends and owners learned about a previously unexplored sport, Tracking, in September. True to our trainers prediction, the Scots with their big noses and love of treats delighted in following every scent trail laid for them. Many of us contemplated tracking titles during our lunch break of fried chicken, salads and cookies. Then it was back to work and more fun.

Several members made the long trek to Montgomery County so the Pennsylvania weather was the topic of conversation at the Hospitality evening preceding our annual Fall Specialty October 23rd (our weather was wonderful). Our Sweepstakes Judge, John Sheehan, awarded Best in Sweepstakes to Jospen's Legendary Island, owned by Joseph Pendon. Muriel Lee judged the Regular Classes; her winners were: WD, Hawkhaven Highlander, owner Ramona Benson; WB and BOW, Hawkhaven Angel Heart, owner Ramona Benson; BOB, CH Koch's Annie at Tinkers, owners, F. Melville & the late R. Harley; BOS, CH Ard Talam Seasam Liam, owners, C. & E. Sandovsky.

During this calendar year we have welcomed six new members. We close the year with newly elected officers: President, Peggy Burge; Vice President, Roger Clarkson; Secretary, Lynn Cantrell; Treasurer, Alice Ramsauer. The new Directors of the Board are: Ross Buffington, Nancy Doss, Sylvia Farquhar, Marjory Meeder and Michael Serrano.

We send Best Wishes for the Holidays (may all the Scots have big treats in their stockings) and to all - Great Joy in Y2K.

Sorry we missed the last Bagpiper deadline, but we'll try to make up for it this time.

In June our club participated in the Highland Games held in Kansas City. It was a fun day with many visitors to our booth to talk Scottie talk and visit and play with our scotties who were plenty tired after a full day.

Congratulations to all the winners at Montgomery County this year. Despite rain for much of the day and ankle deep mud, the show went on. Check out the STCA web site for the judging results.

The HASTC Calendar and Christmas cards are now available for sale from Theresa Duncan. This is our annual fundraiser and we thank all who contribute to its success each year. A special thank you to our artists this year who have kindly donated their talent to our calendar: Deborah Kindrick, Sherron McBee, Polly O'Neal, Cathy Wright and to Kay Addison who did the sketches for the Christmas cards. HASTC is planning a raffle for a Scottie comforter so watch for your tickets. They will be $1.00 each or 6 for $5.00.

Plans are underway for our Specialty on March 17th, 2000. Judges will be Betty Cooper (Besscott) for Sweeps and then, from Scotland, Sandra MacLachlan (Burn-view) for Regular Classes. There will be two all-breed shows following on Saturday and Sunday. Our banquet is planned for the Friday evening, and on Saturday, HASTC will host a Judges' Education Seminar presented by STCA Judges' Education Director Fred Stephens. Hospitality will follow the seminar so plan to attend the seminar and stay around for fun and refreshments.

For those of you who remember the beautiful oak crates that were the trophies for the winners of the BBE Classes in March, 1999 (see 1999 Bagpiper Cover, Issue #2), this year the trophies will be tack boxes so breeders, get those entries in for the BBE Class.

STCA will celebrate 100 years in the year 2000 with their Rotating in April in Washington, D.C. Plan to get those Scotties ready for the Rotating by attending the first specialty of the year in Kansas City, Friday, March 17, 2000.

We look forward to seeing you there.

Planning. Approximately 16 members spent months planning for this year's trip to the STCA's National Specialty. Polly O'Neal, I'm sure, was most assuredly relieved when the BIS Ribbon was handed out Sunday, for that signaled a job well done and over for the year. Polly and her staff spent months planning and implementing those plans with great results.

Theresa Duncan won BISweeps with her 7 month old bitch, Tardun Truly A Treasure. Wilscot's One Mo Time, MX, AXJ, CGC and Wilscot's Next Generation, AX, AXJ, CGC both owned by Pam Wilson and Kelli Verrelli were first in Brace. Wilscot's One Mo Time, MX, AXJ, CGC was first place in Excellent B Standard & Excellent B Jumpers with weaves at the STCA Agility Trials. The Lloyd Memorial Award was won by Ch. Heather Isles Hotdam 'N Hallelujah owned by Dr. Louis & Norma Mitchell. The Anstruther American Bred By Dog Award was won by Bob and Jane Phelan with Ch. Caevnes Dare Devil. The Ch. Sandgreg's Editorial Stud Dog Award was won by Bob & Jane Phelan and Norma Mitchell with Caevnes Devils Due. And Marshall and Daphne Branzell were two of the recipients of one of the Sterling Silver Medallion Award.

Planning. There's no time to rest and recover from the trip, for we will host the last Specialty of the year on December 4th in conjunction with the Greater Collin County KC show. The Sweepstakes judge is Kari Hill and the regular class judge is Robert Shreve. Trinity Valley KC has assigned Mrs. Martha (Pat) Huber the judging assignment for Scotties on Sunday, December 5th, but before the second day of competition, we'll all get to rest and visit at the Hospitality/Christmas Party. Anyone who's been to a previous GDSTC Christmas bash has experienced Jan Beaman's scrumptious culinary delights and will want to plan on attending this year as well. There's always a gift exchange that rounds out the evening with fun and laughter. Ya'll come, it's sure to be a most enjoyable weekend!

Planning. A grooming seminar is being planned for February 5th and 6th with Larae Shafer, although none of the details are finalized as of press time. Anyone who is interested may contact Lanier Hollingsworth by phone (817-355-625) or e-mail: l.hollingsworth@worldnet.att.net.

Planning: Our Spring Fling, better known as the Spring Specialty, is in the planning stage. The date is March 24, 2000, so mark your calendars now. The regular class judge will be Fred Stephens and Susan Finn, Sweepstakes Judge. There will also be three All Breed shows that weekend, so start planning now to attend.

BW/WD was Westpride River Runs Thru It, owned by Rick Fowler, Theresa Thomas and Lanier Hollingsworth; WB was Wilscot's The Next Generation owned by Kellie Verrelli & Pam Wilson; BOS was CH TKO Top Contender owned by Kathy & Chad Bagnell.

On Friday July 23rd, Pam Wilson was our Sweepstakes judge in conjunction with the Houston Kennel Club during the 4 day AstroWorld Series of Dog Shows.

BISweeps was Claudon's National Anthem (6-9 month puppy bitch) and BOS was Claudon's Early Light (6-9 month puppy dog) owned by Harry Sweet & Claudia Leffler.

Betty-Anne Stenmark judged Regular Classes: BOB was CH Tinker's Veronica, WD/BW was Hotdam Near Perfect owned by Ann E. Parks; WB was Claudon's National Anthem; BOS CH. TKO Top Contender.

Due to an editing error the winners of the specialty were not shown.

The annual Banquet & Scottie Auction with antiques garnered from local antique shops and one-of-a-kind handmade collectibles crafted by talented Scottie Artisans was held on Saturday night at The Stables with the STCGH Silver Anniversary as our theme. Our Raffle item, a Stained Glass panel featuring a Scottie between Two Thistles, was won by Eric Leffler. John DeSaye presided as our knowledgeable Auctioneer and kept the bidding rapid fire and highly entertaining. Our thanks go to the DeSays and Pam Wilson and especially to Claudia Leffler who served as our Show Chairman and the club members who did an impressive job in making our Silver Anniversary Specialty just that.

In the last two monthly meetings, the club has watched the new video "Puppy Puzzle" by Bob and Pat Hastings, internationally known handlers, judges and teachers who evaluate approximately 250 litters per year. The 2 part video explains their consistent and objective method of judging litters of puppies of any breed at 8 weeks of age. Interesting and informative, a lively discussion followed the video.

Plans are being made for the annual Christmas party and a puppy match and barbecue in January.

We all made it through the rain and mud at Montgomery, and then it was on to the Washington Specialty. We had a very nice turnout of 57 entries. Richard Hiller was our Sweepstakes judge. His BISweeps was Karascot's Scotch Mist, owned by Donna Morgenstern, Shirley Karas, and Robert Moore, III. Maxine Beam was our Regular Class judge. Her WD was Strutfire's Trilogy, owned by Karen Hansen, Lyn Zurl, and Donna Cone. WB was Ashmoor Manderly Bravo, owned by John Casper and Robert Moore. BOB was CH So What Moriarty, owned by Patricia Gallatin. Veteran Dog was CH Kriscot's Gold N Silver Sunset, owned by Helen Krisko.

It was a wonderful day in September for our AKC Earth Dog Trial. Approximately 200 entries made this day very busy, yet very exciting. All the participants and their dogs had a wonderful time.

The holidays will be upon us very soon, and our club is getting prepared for the annual Awards Dinner. This is always very well attended and lots of fun. Additionally, we are preparing for the annual Scottish Christmas Parade, held in Old Towne Alexandria, Virginia. This is truly a sight to behold, seeing 50 or more scotties strutting their stuff at this very festive parade. TV cameras are always present, and our scots seem to know when to smile. We really look forward to this even.

The Washington Club is remaining very busy with our plans to host the Year 2000 STCA Specialty. Many events are being planned, including a fashion show, so we hope everyone has put this show on their calendar. It's a new millennium, and it's SCTA's 100 anniversary. So come join the fun in DC.

Summer has suddenly come to a close and fall is in the air! And what a way to bring to a close, nice long weekends with our die-hard Scots, than Montgomery County weekend, the last National Specialty of the millennium. RAIN?? WHAT?? WHERE?!?! You've got to be kidding!

To start off, we had our Annual Club Picnic and Fun Match at the home of Dianne and Bill Welde. Dan Stickler did a wonderful job of judging the match. Then the Annual Greater Dayton Scottish Terrier Walk and Weiner Roast was held on a gorgeous day at the state park in Springfield. What a way to turn heads than to see everyone walking all those scotties through the park. We had a great time and so did the scots!

And least I forget, the Annual Steak Dinner at Valley Vineyard in Morrow, OH. It was a beautiful evening and with "wine in hand," each of us got to go out and grill to order our very own New York strip! This has become a very popular event for the club and is looked forward to each year.

November 7th will find a grooming workshop being held by Kim Lindsay-Stroede and Dianne Welde at the Welde's home. Registration is on a first received basis and space is limited.

December 4th will bring with it the club meeting at the home of Tim and Mary-Ann Cole. This will be in conjunction with the Annual Horse Drawn Christmas Parade in Lebanon, OH.

Happy Holidays to everyone! We look forward to the year 2000!

Our specialty and Sweepstakes was a great success, our heartfelt thanks to our judges, Michele Fujiwa for Sweepstakes and John Price for regular classes. We held a cocktail party on Saturday after our show at the home of Paul and Donna Turner, with boutique, silent auction and a professional auctioneer for our regular auction. Everyone had a great time and dipped deep into their wallets. We thank everyone who attended, and are sorry for the ones that missed all the fun. Our Saturday night affair seems to get bigger each year, please keep us in mind for next year.

Paul Turner and Rusty Park are hard at work keeping our web site up and running, which is not easy, due to the fact that Rusty is working in Texas most of the time. With the lazy days of summer we have just been trying to stay cool. Now that the Montgomery shows are over and we are starting to get some cooler weather, its time to get back into the swing of things. We are starting to work on our specialty plans for next year, selecting judges. Our show will be on Wednesday, July 12, 2000 next year.

We are also planning for our Christmas party this year, so everyone is busy trying to find a neat Scotty gift for the grab bag and also planning to see who can come up with the most delicious dessert.

Hope everyone has a great Holiday Season.

Best wishes from the Mile High City.

Hope your summer was a great one and hope fall and the holidays are even better.

We were very pleased to host our first Specialty Show on August 19, 1999 in Greeley Colorado. Considering what a short time frame we had to put on this show we were very pleased at our turnout. There were entries from all over the country and also Canada.

Mrs. Karen Bay was our Sweepstakes judge and Mr. John "Tom" Ward judged our regular classes. Both judges were delightful and we thank them for coming.

Mrs. Bay chose the following winners:
Best Puppy: Princescot Scent of Victory

Best Opposite: Stalwart's High Treason

Mr. Ward chose the following winners:

WB: Gyver's A Scoozza Mia

BOB: CH Koch's Annie at Tinkers

BOW: Gyver's A Scoozza Mia

We sincerely thank all of you for coming with your great dogs. We look forward to seeing you again. Our club not only thanks the exhibitors, but also a big thanks to Graceann Stewart our Show Chair. Well done!

We move on to our next Specialty which will be held February 18, 2000, in Denver Colorado. The show site will be the National Western Stock Show Complex just outside of downtown Denver and about 2 miles from show headquarters, the Ramada Inn Downtown Sports Center.

The Ramada has agreed to hold a large block of rooms in our name for the Specialty and also the three additional days of all-breed dog shows. Call the Ramada Inn at 1-800-388-5381 and reference "DOGS" for rates and information. These three shows will be hosted by the Plum Creek Kennel Club and Colorado Kennel Club, Onofrio will be the superintendant. All 4 days of shows will be at the same site. The Ramada is a full-service hotel and will be hosting our Banquet, cocktail hour, and boutique the evening of the Specialty Show. We hope you will consider Denver in your show plans for the Year of 2000. Mrs. Jane Phelan will be judging sweeps and Miss Maxine Beam judging the regular classes.

We have many more fun things planned as you will see in the Premium List. Remember Bergit's Grooming Seminar - you get 2 days with Bergit and lunch both days for only $100, and just before 4 days of dog shows!

Any questions please call Show Chairs David Cook 303-830-2109 or Sherrie Creekmore 303-399-9292.

Almost forgot, we hope you advertise with us. Rates are $25 for full page (2nd full page at $15), and $15 for half page. It is a great way for people to know you and your dogs at an affordable price.

Hope to see you in February.

September 23rd was the occasion of our annual Fall Match, with terrier handler Janice Carkin doing the honors. Gail Fisher and Ray Dubreuil's Sno Mtn's Talks A Lot prevailed as Best Puppy, while Jim and Linda Orsborn's Eowyn's Biker Babe was Best Adult. Best Opposite to Best Adult was Scott Wasserman and Joan Cahill's Kihuntin's Double O Seven. Best in Match went to the Puppy. Conformation judging was followed by our ever-popular races, with Ann Jackson's "Gus" triumphing in the Adult Division, and Will Mosher's Rococo's Hell On Wheels taking first place in the Puppy Division.

New England Club members were well-represented on Montgomery weekend. Janet Avery and Joan Duke's Balgair's I Did It My Way went WD at Montgomery. His very proud owner took him in for the grand finale, and emerged BOW. Janet Avery and Joyce and Jim Smith's Scotsmith Royal MacMillan prevailed in Devon's Open Bitch class, going on to WB and BOW. Strutfire's Trilogy, owned by Donna Cone, Lynn Zurl and Karen Hanson, was first in Open Dogs at Montgomery, and ultimately garnered the Reserve spot.

Truly a star on the big weekend was John and Joyce McNabney's "Hamish", who had everyone at the Friday Agility trial talking. It was only his second time out, but saw this little fireball capture his second leg and High In Trial for John, who trains and handles him. He already has a CH in front of his name and the Junior Earthdog title after it, and will be sporting the "NA" very soon. His full moniker is CH McLyn's Hamish of McNab JE. Our definition of Scottie Fancier is anyone who stayed ringside at Montgomery for the better part of the day!

Our Annual Awards Banquet is next week, with a new slate of officers elected on the day, so stay tuned. May you and your Scotties enjoy all the blessings of the Season.

“Marley”

STCA RESCUE OF THE YEAR, 1999

“Marley” (named after the reggae singer Bob “Marley” because of her dreadlocks) came to the shelter in Russellville, AR in June, 1999. She was picked up in the area as a stray and to best account was no more than 2 years old. Happy, outgoing, great temperament but unsocialized, she was liberated by Tracey Edwards who promptly had her groomed, which was no easy feat. Thanks to

Frontline and some patience, several dozen ticks were removed, mostly from her head because they could not penetrate the mats covering her body. To top it off, she appeared to be going in or out of heat. She was transferred to Amy Cada and treated for hook, round and whipworms and scheduled for spaying. Unfortunately, the Occult heartworm test came back very strong positive. A repeat test confirmed the heartworm and “Marley” was treated two weeks later. Then came 4 - 6 weeks of total crating; yet another challenge as “Marley's” energy rivaled that of a Border Collie. “Marley” went through every flavor of Nylabone edible bones, and Amy hung stuffed Kongs from the top of her crate, and traded out balls and plush toys to keep her “quietly busy.” Surprisingly, for a dog with few manners, she took to crating well. For four weeks she spent less than 30 minutes a day outside of the crate, and only then, on a leash for 6 - 8 short walks. After the treatment period her heartworm antigen was already declining and she showed no heartworms on x-ray, clearing her for moderate exercise. By six weeks post treatment, the green light was given for spaying-her organ function tests showed no damage from the heartworms. The vet remarked that she definitely had at least one, if not two, litters, but was in fantastic shape. A week of recovery, then freedom! By this time “Marley” had been with Amy and her boys for most of the summer and had strongly bonded. They even started a little agility and obedience. Almost three months from the day she came into the Central Arkansas Rescue program, “Marley” flew to California to her forever home with Gail Smith, Kelsey (Scottie Agility Champion) and three other dogs. All her energy will be expended now in agility training - watch for her in the agility trials.

Thanks to the many generous people who have contributed to the STCA Rescue Fund, “Marley” and others like her, have a second chance for a better life. We appreciate everyone who has donated money to this fund, and also to the regional and local rescue efforts. Without your help, our rescue people could not do the wonderful work they are doing. The following are just a small sample of other rescued Scotties who have passed through some of the rescue groups around the USA in the past year.

Daphne & Marshall

MEMORY OF MONROE SCOTTIE RESCUE

“Henry”

“Henry” was an 8 1/2 year old Scottie when he was turned in to a no-kill shelter in Minneapolis during the summer of 1998. He lived on a farm in southern Minnesota, and was kept outside at all times, even during the cold winters. His “job” was to keep cats and other stray animals out of the yard. “Henry” was aggressive to other animals, but was sweet as could be with humans. With his attitude towards other animals, age and not being housebroken, we thought he would be impossible to place. Luckily, the right home was found, and “Henry” now lives in Middlefield, Ohio where he is living the life of Riley. “Henry's” owners own their own business and he accompanies them to work each day and has become the company mascot. He owns his own life vest and goes out on his owner's boat on Lake Erie as often as possible. "Henry" is very happy and loved in his new home.

"Tessa"

"Tessa" was picked up by the USDA through a dog auction in Iowa in March of 1999. "Tessa" was listed as a breeder dog. Further evaluation estimated her to be anywhere between 10 and 13 years old. No doubt she lived her life in a cage giving birth to puppies over and over. She was turned over to a vet technician school and had surgery for a hernia, had a cancerous polyp removed, was treated for fleas and worms and was spayed. She was also treated for severe colitis. After her treatment she was scheduled to be euthanized. A student at the school contacted Scottie Rescue to see if we could give her a chance. We thought she would be unadoptable due to her medical problems and decided to add her to our family until she went to the Rainbow Bridge. During this time, we saw a personality and a will to live emerge. "Tessa" became a dog who liked to play with toys, interact with other dogs, and occasionally surprised us with her furniture climbs. Luckily for "Tessa," the right family came along who wanted a dog that really needed a home and lots of TLC. "Tessa" has gained weight, is now housebroken and enjoying being a dog. She shares her home with another Scottie, and is quickly becoming alpha dog.

TULSA AREA SCOTTIE RESCUE

"Mikey and Rosemary"

"Mikey" was an owner turn-in who had been through four homes before finding a permanent home. He has his CGC and Jr. Earthdog titles.

"Rosemary" was rescued from the Tulsa Animal Shelter. She had been there for almost two weeks and was picked up on her last day before being euthanized. She also has her CGC and Jr. Earthdog titles. She loves obedience work and is working towards a CD title in the near future. Both dogs are working on their Senior Earthdog training. "Mikey" and "Rosemary" are owned and loved by Frances Martin.

PERMIAN BASIN SCOTTISH TERRIER NETWORK

"Old Mac"

"Mac" - The Father of West Texas was 10 years old. He had been shown, then sold to a semicommercial breeder. An old dog with multiple health problems (mostly blind, mostly deaf, with grossly enlarged testicles, as starters), 'Mac' was not prime rescue material. The Scottie world owed 'Mac"! He had six heavenly months with Barry and Dawn before his death in January 1999.

STC OF GREATER NEW YORK RESCUE

"Gus"

"Gus" was a stray in very poor shape, large areas of missing hair and emaciated, but very sweet. His age could have been anywhere from 7 - 11 years and his appearance did not make him too adoptable.

Nancy and Charlie are both ministers and had adopted a rescued Scottie in the past and wanted another. He lived with them only four months before he was diagnosed with cancer, which had spread through his whole jaw, throat and neck and he had to be euthanized. In an article Nancy wrote for her church newsletter she says "I loved him - not because he was cute or smart (he wasn't) - but because he was innately lovable! He taught me a lot about God's grace and patience."

FRIENDS OF HOMELESS CRITTERS (GEORGIA)

"Laddy & Fella"

The story of these two 10 year old Scotties was all over the Internet earlier this year. They belonged to an elderly man. When he died, his wife took them to a vet to be euthanized. The vet refused so she tried to get the pound to put them down. Because the story was spread over the Internet, Kathy Musial took them in. It was pretty certain that they had no care, medical or physical since their owner had taken ill. They were old, grieving, confused and shaved to the skin. They had become so matted, the woman had started shaving at the noses and quit somewhere on the legs. They were adopted by Cindy and Tom. Five months later they came to Sharon Ero for their first haircuts and are now perfect, trusting gentlemen and two respectable little Scots emerge from all the fuzz.

SAN ANTONIO AREA SCOTTIE RESCUE

"Bradley"

"Bradley" was 10 months old when he came into the rescue program. Bred by a semicommercial breeder in South Texas, he did not sell as a puppy and after several reductions was sold at 6 months old to a family who lived in an apartment. Having lived the first six months of his life in a kennel with no training or socialization, he did what came naturally and lifted his leg all over everything. After two days, he was given away to another family who put him out in the back yard and ignored him except for giving him food and water. Frustration, boredom and loneliness led to destructiveness and at 10 months of age he needed a lot of work. Neutering was the first priority and then he went into training with Joy who can work miracles with almost any dysfunctional Scottie. After learning the basics he was ready to move on to a permanent home, which he found with Jim and Bruce in Dallas. He missed the most important months of his life in isolation but is catching up by leaps and bounds. TLC works wonders.

ROCKY MOUNTAIN STC RESCUE

"Rosie"

"Rosie" is a very special Scottie who came into rescue after being picked up as a stray. She not only had good looks and a beautiful disposition, but she was friendly with other dogs and very playful and wonderful with people. She was diagnosed with a heart murmur and had to have an ultrasound to determine exactly what was wrong. She calmly accepted the procedure - unlike most Scotties - and even amused everyone with "tricks" in the waiting room. The results showed that "Rosie" did have a very tiny leak in one of the valves of her heart, but at this point, and for many years to come, she would have no problems. "Rosie" found her special family and gave them her "heart" forever! They were not afraid to take on this adorable little lassie. Though she has slowed down over the years, she still enjoys the good life with two Cairn terriers, chasing the tennis and soccer balls, and sleeping between Mom and Dad (on her own pillow) in the bed. "Rosie" is the alarm clock who gets everyone up in the morning with Scottie talk and nose pushes. The Rocky Mountain STC is very supportive of rescue and provides the additional funds necessary to cover unexpected medical costs, such as "Rosie's."

CENTRAL ARKANSAS SCOTTIE RESCUE

"Wizzie/Andrew"

Two year old "Wizzie" was released to rescue in Nashville, TN because "my son isn't taking care of him" and "he's dog aggressive". His only problem appeared to be housebreaking, which proved easy to fix. He clearly did not miss being ignored at his previous home. He now lives in Texas where he is known as "Andrew" and enjoys visiting his favorite human's Show and Tell days at school, killing basketballs, and retrieving tennis balls.

SOUTH PLAINS SCOTTISH TERRIER NETWORK (TEXAS)

"Rosie"

"Rosie" was 5 1/2 months old when she was left at a veterinary clinic in Lubbock, Texas because her owners were having trouble housebreaking her. They traveled a lot and didn't have time for a dog. This young Scottie was turned over to rescue. The owners were contacted and would not give the name of their veterinarian but stated that all vaccinations were up to date. "Rosie" was checked out by a veterinarian and found to be in good health, and was placed with a family who had just lost their previous Scottie. They agreed to have her spayed within two weeks. Shortly after the surgery, "Rosie" became violently ill and when she was admitted to the hospital she was diagnosed with Parvo. She lingered on an IV for three more days and finally succumbed to the disease. When contacted by rescue, the previous owners admitted she had never had another shot after she was purchased from the breeder. This local breeder states that her serum dates are always checked and she advises the buyers about follow up shots. Her puppies are sold through a local pet store and other Scottie puppies bought from this store have died from Parvo. Because of a careless breeder and an uncaring owner, this Scottie's unhappy life ended much too soon and did not have a "happy ever after" ending.
