American and Mexican CH. GARLU HAGGIS BAGGIS

By Eugenia Grow

TENGA CUIDADO CON EL PERRO QUE NO SALGA DEL CUARTO. SU NOMBRE ES "SEÑOR TWEED." NO MUERDE, ES MUY BUEN PERRO . . . GRACIAS.

This sign was posted on the door of all our hotel rooms in Mexico when we campaigned "Mr. Tweed" last May in the land south of the border. It says, in effect, (and a literal translation) "To take care with the dog that he does not escape from the room. His name is 'Mr. Tweed.' He will not bite and is a very good dog . . . thank you."

The fear of dogs in Mexico is not without foundation especially among the lower classes of the people. Their experience with dogs is mainly with strays or wanderers foraging for food or with large guard dogs that belong to the middle and upper classes. We found the largest entries in the three shows in German Shepherds and Dobermans, which seem to be the most popular for guard duties.

However, "Mr. Tweed" won the hearts of the Mexican people and his traveling companions. The clerk at the desk, the elevator girls, the shoeshine boys, the cooks in the hotel kitchen who prepared his special meals, and sent them up on a silver platter, the airline pilots . . . all were enthusiastic about this celebrity from the United States. He was the first to stay in the new, plush Maria Isabel Hotel in Mexico City.

. . . and Tweed took it all in his stride—true Scot that he is. From the moment he boarded the plane, with his own special seat between my husband and I, along with forty other passengers, he behaved as the well-adjusted Champion that he is. He made many friends for us and gave much pleasure in his two Best in Show wins out of the three shows, besides obtaining his Mexican Championship. He was a stout-hearted pal, tough enough, and willing to put up with all that we asked of him. He kept going all day, and withstood the changes with endurance and intelligence. He even endured the Acapulco earthquake with more calmness than his owners.

The Mexico Show Circuit is a truly memorable experience. We were "wined and dined" by the Asociacion Canofia Mexicana people, headed by Sr. Manuel Ibera, and Mrs. Ruth Covos and Mrs. Thelma Von Thaden. The sportsmanship displayed in the ring is something that all in the United States can reap a real lesson.

Our latest thrill is Tweed's Best in Show at Tucson, Arizona, over 876 entries. Under the very able handling of Daisy Austad, he was bestowed this honor by Judge Maxwell Riddle. This past February, he was Best Opposite Sex over 50 entries at the Scottish Terrier Club of America Specialty in New York, with Mrs. Blanche Reeg judging.

Ch. Garlu Haggis Baggis has compiled an outstanding show record. His major wins total 32 Best of Breeds, five Group Firsts, five Group Seconds, seven Group Thirds, five Group Fourths and three Best in Shows, All Breeds. He was the leading winner in Arizona and California in 1961 and placed in the top 10 winners of his breed in the United States for 1962.

This exceptional four-year-old dog was sired by Ch. Marloraín Dark Seal, a son of Int. Ch. Deephaven Red Seal. His dam was Ch. Garlu Merry Haggis, sired by Ch. MacKinnon's Top Trick, a son of Int. Ch. Walsing Winning Trick of Edgerstone.

We wish to thank all the judges who have had such nice things to say about Tweed, and have honored him with these wins. Our grateful thanks, too, to Daisy Austad for her great job in conditioning and handling him.

STATISTICALLY SPEAKING OF 1962

By John T. Knight

The year 1962 was a good one for terriers in the show ring. Some old-timers repeated their winning ways and many newcomers to the spotlight came forth to shine brightly. Let's take a look at who did what.

Miniature Schnauzers led in competition, as they did in registrations, with 5602. Scotties were next with 4219, followed by Wire Fox Terriers with 2970.

Lakeland Terriers captured the most Best in Shows with 18. Skyes were next with 14, followed by Westies with 13.

Group firsts saw Wire Fox Terriers leading with 65; Group seconds led by Scotties with 79; Miniature Schnauzers with 76 led in Group thirds and Scotties took the most Group fourths with 73.

Individual winners were: Best in Show—the Lakeland, Ch. Brazen Blond of Oz, with 16. Group firsts also to Brazen Blond, with 34. Group seconds showed a tie—Ch. Jacinthe de Ricelaine, Skye, and the White Bull Terrier, Ch. Radar of Monty Ayr with 13 each. Radar took it all with nine each in Group thirds and Group fourths. Radar also easily led in Best of Varieties with 72.

There are systems and systems for determining the top winners. An excellent one is that developed by Mrs. Irene Castle Phillips. To me, however, it has the defect of not giving full recognition to the minor breeds which are often overlooked or ignored by Group judges—not intentionally, I'm sure, but due to unfamiliarity with the breed. Studying the problem, I decided to tabulate the terriers for 1962 in accordance with how many they were able to defeat in competition WITHIN THEIR OWN BREED and the results are presented herewith. It should be interesting to compare the results of the two systems. Without disparaging Mrs. Phillips' system, it is true that a Group judge's eye will be caught by a flashy specimen and it will go up—even all the way to Best in Show and thus pile up points while an equally good or better specimen will be passed over because the judges don't know the breed or don't care for it. No disparagement of the judges is intended. They are human too. Well, here they are and let the brickbats fall.

GROOMING AND CONDITIONING THE SCOTTIE

PART III

By Ann Gilkey

When the novice groomer has become familiar with the various methods of grooming his Scottie, and the use of his trimming tools becomes an extension of his hands, he will usually have developed an "eye" to what more particular grooming can do to enhance his dog's over-all appearance. As the groomer becomes more skilled, he will become aware of ways and means to highlight the best in his dog's conformation and minimize the faults. By careful application of the Standard to the dog, one soon learns what is expected, appearance-wise, of the ideal Scottie, and can apply proper trimming care so as to bring his own dog closer to the mental picture of perfection. As perfection can only be attained in the mind's eye (the perfect Scottie hasn't been bred) one must attain the effect of perfection through grooming. At times, and on some dogs, this requires a "touch of genius" and the "touch" is acquired after many hours of practice and "daring" to go just a bit farther

How often have we heard, "That is the effect I wanted. . . . I just knew that my dog ought to look that way, but I was afraid to take any more off." Be daring! Take it off a hair at a time if necessary. If you honestly and intuitively feel that your dog's appearance will be enhanced by the removal of additional coat . . . take it off! If by chance your hunch was erroneous, you will have several months of looking at your mistake to see how your "effect" could have been achieved correctly. You may, and undoubtedly will, make other trimming mistakes, as do we all, but you'll never make the same one again.

As mentioned previously, the term "sectioning" refers to stripping a dog in parts with various time spans allotted between sections. Before actually beginning the stripping of any section, it is well to understand why this particular method is preferable. The forward section of the dog (head, neck and shoulders) presents a better balanced over-all picture if it is considerably shorter in coat length than that of the back and sides. The hair on the skull will be shorter by far than the back, so as to bring out the "long, lean head." The shoulders are brought out by creating a smooth, tapered line from the ear to the point of the shoulder (thus creating the need for shorter coat on the aforementioned portion). The effect of a "carrot" tail is created by different lengths of hair, and so we go.

In Diagram A, we illustrate a small portion of the back, known as the withers, being removed first. As you see, the withers are located directly behind the points of the shoulder blades and continue to the lowest spot in the forward section of the back. As the Scottie usually carries a tremendous middle-piece, if the shoulders aren't absolutely perfect in placement, a dip will occur at the withers, and if the fault isn't corrected in trimming, the topline and general appearance are ruined. As most Scotties do not have perfect shoulders, this "dip" at the withers must be minimized by particular grooming. So let us begin our sectioning at the withers in an attempt to correct the seldom admitted fault. Pluck the hair from the withers, as shown in Diagram A, approximately 14 to 16 weeks before the first show. The soft, fluffy undercoat may be permitted to remain until the new growth is in evidence.

Diagram B is presented to illustrate the second "section" to be removed 3 weeks after the first section. After removing the top of the neck, back and base of the tail, shown in Diagram B, you will no doubt wonder if your young "hopeful" will ever make it in time! He will look like anything but the projected image you have in mind of a beautifully groomed Scottie, whose coat seems to fit like a glove, and with four visible feet when in motion. As with most of life's little problems, things get worse before they get better, so hide young hopeful from the eyes of the world, grit your teeth, and get out your brush. Ten minutes a day with a good medium bristle hair brush will help stimulate the hair follicles, and you will soon be seeing "tooth-brush bristles" in Section A, at which time the fluffy undercoat should be removed. To do this, use your Magnet stripper as a comb, and go over the area a few times each day very gently and lightly. The undercoat will gradually be removed in this fashion, permitting the beautiful new coat to come through much faster than if it had to fight the undercoat to break through.

During the daily sessions, do not ignore the leg, body and face furnishings. These are to be brushed well, and kept tangle free, as well as the dead hairs plucked. When it comes time for these areas to be trimmed, you will want them to be in the very best condition, so that trimming and shaping can be done to perfection. It is advisable to keep them lightly oiled so they won't break off. Keeping adequate length to furnishings is often quite a problem, particularly on the very active Scots, whose day is not complete without a bit of digging or a "family" tussle. The brushing of the plucked sections, in addition to stimulating coat growth, will train the new hair to lie properly and evenly. As the new coat breaks through, some Scotties will appear to have developed a dandruffy skin (the human equivalent is seen as a ring in the bathtub after bathing). Dead epidermis cells replace themselves on your dog as they do on yourself. Since the dog can't get into the bathtub to scrub it off, you must do it for him, by keeping him scrupulously clean and brushed. A damp sponging of the plucked areas about once a week will be appreciated by your young hopeful. Dirt and sand are natural enemies of a new coat. Let cleanliness be your watchword in everything you do concerning dogs.

Having accomplished and digested the contents of the current installment, we will wait until next month's issue for further developments.

We seem to be experiencing the "lull" after the "storm" with the New York Specialty, the "Garden" and the Florida Specialty things of the past and next to nothing reported to this writer since then! This seems to be the case now and then, as these very "special" events tend to make us just plain sit back for awhile to either count our blessings or lick our wounds.

Because of the speed with which the New York Specialty results were handled by our "fast moving" editor, we were not able to present the judges' comments, received too late for inclusion with the coverage. We do, how-pleasure of going over most, if not all, of the top Scotties in the country, as the entry included the top dogs from the Far West, Midwest and the East. Sometimes we get discouraged because top quality is so rare and feel that progress is very slow and sometimes negligible. However, the four dogs that I would make the top four in the show were real quality, and there was very little except perhaps temporary condition between them.

"I think that in the last few years we have made improvement in shoulders and fronts, eyes and ears in our American-bred dogs. However, quarters and rears seem to me to need improvement. It is very promising to find breeders and amateurs as well as several of the newer handlers progressing in conditioning and presenting the dogs. I believe that in order to help the entries in all terriers, it is important for the breeders to be able to trim and handle their puppies before turning them over to a handler—in case that is necessary. None of us are born trimmers or handlers, but that is part of the challenge in terriers."

Here are the results of the breed entry at the Seattle Kennel Club Show, held in Seattle, February 23-24, 1963:

Mr. James Trullinger judged an entry of 14, and found as his Best of Breed the bitch Ch. Scotsvale Sunshine (Ch. Special Edition—Wyrebury Maigarth Manrita), owned by the Carnation Farms and handled by Bob Bartos. She went on to place First in the Terrier Group! Best Opposite Sex was gained sia), owned by Elaine and Karl L. Young. Reserve in Bitches to Duinecanis Celtic Caprice, owned by John and Michelle Stephens.

Our Best in Show congratulations go this month to Dr. Kenneth and Eugenia Grow and their Ch. Garlu Haggis Baggis, who gained this top spot recently at the Tucson, Arizona, show under judge Mr. Maxwell Riddel. He was handled, as always, by Daisy Austad. The Arizona circuit brought out many of the top winners of the day, so the win was a most gratifying one.

The SCOTTISH TERRIER CLUB OF MICHIGAN held its annual Specialty in conjunction with the Detroit K. C. Show, March 3rd, with Mr. J. J. Duncan as judge. Best of Breed went to Ch. Wychworth Wyona (Wyrebury Worthy — Erienbry Jeannette), owned by Dr. and Mrs. J. R. Thomas. WD, BOW and Best Opposite Sex to Anstamm Dark Venture (Eng. & Am. Ch. Bardene Boy Blue — Anstamm Paragon), owned by Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Stamm. Winners Bitch was Sandbark Gay Fantasy (Ch. Sandbark Saber Dance — Eng., Can. & Am. Ch. Glendoune Gaytime), owned by Evelyn Sanders and L. Portwood. Reserve in Dogs was won by her litter brother, Sandbark Grand Finale, also owned by Sanders and Portwood.

We would have liked to present a more complete report (our editor says the space is there) with pictures of the winners, and would like to take this opportunity to request that all Specialty-giving clubs send us a complete report, marked tear sheets preferred, of their shows. . . . It's "free" publicity for the club, and then we usually can contact owners for pictures of the wins to present with the coverage, making our reporting that much more interesting.

The MICHIGAN Club has also sent us a list of their new officers for 1963: President, Evelyn Sanders; Vice-President, Miriam Stamm; Secretary-Treasurer, Anthony Stamm; Show Secretary, Peter Babisch.

The SCOTTISH TERRIER CLUB OF CALIFORNIA will hold its annual Spring Puppy Match on May 5th, and the 30th Annual Specialty Show and Sweepstakes will be held in conjunction with the Harbor Cities K. C. at Long Beach, June 22-23, 1963. The Sweepstakes will be judged by Mr. Louis Murr and the Regular Classes will be handled by Mr. E. E. Vary. We have great hopes for this Specialty, as it will be held in the newly completed Long Beach Sports Arena, an architectural "gem." The club members are working hard to make this one even better than the last, promising a beautiful array of trophies covering all classes. . . . We want to take this opportunity to personally welcome all of you, from everywhere, to make it to this event and, if possible, bring your "spring hopeful."

NEW CHAMPIONS

Each month we present pedigrees of new champions. This gives our readers all over the country an opportunity to see and study the individuals and bloodlines which are producing today's winners. This department will be of value only if all breeders and owners of champions will send in the necessary information as soon as their dogs are confirmed by the American Kennel Club. Include breeder, owner and date of birth.
