HERE is the annual 1959 Scottish Terrier issue, and as is usually the case, it is crammed full of pictures, more we believe than any previous Scottish issue has ever carried. This is as we like it, since we do subscribe to the theory that one picture says more than a thousand words! But there are words too, articles, data and some general news which follows.

In our own territory, the Scottish Terrier Club of Northern Ohio reports an active year with plans ga-

Ohio Club. They recently finished their first Champion, Anstamm Image of Flare. Currently they are showing Anstamm Kiltie, which has been doing very well and has acquired quite a few points.

Dr. and Mrs. James Fox of LaRue, Ohio, report the sudden and unexpected death of their Ch. Blarhat Barrister, well-known to our many readers.

The Scottish Terrier Club of Northern Ohio offers sterling silver spoons for Best of Winners at any show in Ohio with a three point entry in either sex. Remember though, the spoons must be offered in the premium list.

Doriss Barnes sent a picture of three generations of Crescent Hill Scotties. It was taken at the Golden Gate show last year where the three were present—the five-year old Crescent Hill Ginger Blossom, her son, Ch. Crescent Hill Ace O'Spadie, and his son, now Ch. Crescent Hill Maverick, at that time eight months old.

Ginger Blossom passed away last April with only three points to go! In one litter she produced two Champions, Ace and Shirley Fryer's Ch. Crescent Hill Chuck A Luck. Their litter sister, C. H. Roulette owned by the G. K. Kristoffersens, is the dam of Mary German's new Ch. Crescent Hill Leonid, also of Lyra, part way through to her title, and owned by the B. Langwitz. Lyra is being bred to her paternal grandsire, Ch. Wyrebury Wrangler. Doriss has an eight week bitch puppy by Maverick out of a Roulette daughter named Sequel—five generations of Crescent Hill breeding tail female from Ch. Trevinnee Torquil that lives with Alice Exworthy.

Mrs. Louise Benham of Hampton, N. H. sends us the good news that Ch. Glendoune Gondolier is now the sire of a new litter of seven puppies out of a beautiful bitch owned by Mrs. C. M. Day, Haverhill, Mass.

There is a new Champion up in the Northwest at Alderwood Manor, Wash., Joan Schneider's Jo-Lee Grand Siam having taken final points at the Roseburg, Oreg. show in February. At the Seattle show two weeks later, Grand Siam's sister, Jo-Lee Better Be Nice, won a five point major at nine months. She had won two previously at Roseburg, and since has won another five points at Portland, so she now has twelve points.

We were sorry to hear Mrs. Schneider's husband had died of a heart attack last Christmas Eve. He was a true Scottie fancier and we are more than happy to know that Mrs. Schneider plans to carry on with the dogs.

Robert I. Maloney of Dallas, Texas, tells us he is taking up the breeding of Scottish Terriers again after a lapse of about twenty-five years. He has three show type bitches as foundation stock.

The Scottish Terrier Club of Greater Washington, D. C. are busy working on their Fall Specialty show—the Club's tenth anniversary show. In these ten years, the Club has certainly grown apace, now has over one hundred members. Last year's Specialty broke all records, not only their own, but other Scottie Specialties as well. You will be hearing more about the 1959 up and coming Specialty which will be held Friday evening, October 9th at Presidential Arms, Washington, D. C.

Ch. Matthew's Desert Gold owned by Beryl Matthews, Albuquerque, New Mexico, is an informal snapshot. He finished on the Texas circuit this past fall, winding up with eighteen points and three majors, Roland Muller handling. Mrs. Matthews is a member of the Rio Grand Kennel Club and she writes that although there are great distances between shows in their territory, interest is high and there are some excellent dogs and some very sincere breeders in the New Mexico, Texas area.

A busy season would seem to be in store for the Scottish Terrier Club of New England, whose annual Specialty will be held with the Ladies Dog Club at Wellesley, Mass. on May 30th. For the first time there will be a beautiful sterling Paul Revere bowl offered as a Challenge Trophy for Best of Breed in memory of Mrs. Wm. Constable, the Club's beloved Honorary President. Preceding the Specialty show there will be a Spring Puppy Match for Club Members the first week in May at Raynham, Mass. At this Club's annual meeting the following officers were elected: President, Ralph L. Sloan; Vice-Presidents, Frank Chickering and Miss Mary Esther Tolles; Secretary, Mrs. H. J. Weiner; Treasurer, Frank Wrigley; Assistant sorer, Mrs. Barry Hurdcastle.

Mrs. H. J. Weiner, the Club's secretary, was more than happy when their four and a half months old bitch puppy, Briarglen's Merry-maid was second in a large Terrier group at the recent Cape Cod Match. The pup is sired by Ch. Warlord of Old County out of their Scene Wro-sel.

Not too many Scotties are entered in Obedience—more should be. Here's news of a three year old bitch, Miss Mac-Bur, CDX, owned by the Herbert O'Briens of San Francisco, which made a top score of 196 in Utility—12 entered in the class—at the Silver Bay show. She was second highest in Open B with 1973. Miss Mac-Bur is a daughter of Ch. Cantie Confident ex Mac-Bur Royal Countess, bred by Marguerite Fuller.

Sorry to get the news from Marlora-in Kennels, Harbor City, Calif. that late in January they lost their Hirsch's Night Cap, CD. He was their first Scottie and was nine and a half years old. Martha Melekov tells us that when they first got "Stevie" he was intolerably shy, but Lorraine Davis took him through Obedience which changed him into a friendly pet which showed well in the breed. Certainly this is an excellent example of the worth of Obedience. He was by Ch. Ebon Nyte out of Twinkling Star O'Dundee, Marlora-in's import, Wyethworth Winfall his sire. The S. O. Sadlers of Torrance, have a litter by him out of their Mel-Jean Mickey, and Marlora-in Lollipop a two months old bitch owned by Marlora-in, looks very promising. She is by Winfall out of Ch. Marlora-in Abigail.

The Scottish Terrier Club of California will hold a Puppy Sweepstakes in connection with their Specialty at Harbor Cities on June 20th. Lorraine Davis is in charge. Puppies up to eighteen months are eligible. There is a cocktail party planned at Marlora-in sometime in May to help swell the Sweepstakes purse.

Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Sneathen of Dewittville, N. Y. made a trip to England in May of 1957, and while there selected a young dog, Glenview Grand Duke. He was never shown in England and the first time he was shown in this country was at the All Terrier event, Montgomery County, under Blanche Reeg, where he went from the classes to Best of Breed over a fine group of Champions. He went on to win Best in Show All Breeds three times, Best Terrier seven times, and Best of Breed seventeen times. Among his outstanding wins was Best of Breed at the Greater Washington D. C. Specialty in an entry of 92.

In 1958 the Sneathens were again in England and there they spied Rheanda Rheola which at the age of eleven months had already won two Challenge Certificates. They purchased her from Mrs. Elizabeth Meyer of the Rheanda Kennels, Hatfield, England. She finished her English Championship and was shipped to the U. S. this past September. Mr. Sneathen stripped her coat and she was shown for the first time at Canton, Ohio on February 1st where she went clear through to Best in Show All Breeds. Her next outing was the Specialty in New York where she went Best of Breed. She could not be entered at the Garden as she had not been shown in time to qualify. At the same time Rheola was purchased, Mr. Sneath bought a lovely bitch by Eng. Ch. Reanda Roger Rough. They also have another bitch, Ch. Liting Music of Hadlow. Looks as though the Sneath Kennels are well grounded to produce some typey homebreds.

Always good to hear from Mrs. A. M. Henshaw, who though comparatively inactive in the breed, is certainly not indifferent to any-started her show career last fall by winning a major in Ohio, then topping the Kentucky Specialty from the classes for five points, winning another major at Newark and of course five more at Westminster. She is a daughter of Ch. Todhill's

Cinnamon Bear out of Fullivitt Clever Cousin, bred by the Sheldon Winans.

Miss Gaither's homebred winner, Gaidoune Brocade Bobbie, a Rebel Leader daughter out of Ch. Gaidoune Gaibonnie, did very well in 1958, and her litter sister, Gaidoune Gorgeous Husky will be shown this year. Gaidoune is also the home of the imported Ch. Glendoune Gaibonnie and some young stock by Ch. Edgerstoune Troubadour and Ch. Glendoune Grenade.

Last year Cornelia Crissey wrote us about a nice litter by Ch. Blanart Bingle of Greenvail out of Ch. Criscoot Canterbury Bell. The two puppies she kept from the litter are now Champions—Criscoot Carnival the dog, and Criscoot Carousel, the bitch. Carnival finished at Westchester, Carousel at Worcester in December. Carnival was Best Opposite at the STCA. Specialty recently, Carousel Best Opposite at Boston, where the two were Best Brace in Show. Another pup Cornelia spoke about was Blanart Bottoms Up, owned by Blanche Reep, which has twelve points, was Winners Dog at the Specialty and Best of Winners at Westminster. Anne Rogers showed both Carnival and Carousel to their titles.

1958 was really a great year for Blanche Reep and her Ch. Blanart Bolero—five of his get finished for the title and all were Winners at big four and five point shows; all four are line-bred grandchildren of the great Ch. Blanart Barcarolle whose list of Champions descendants continues to grow.

No one has more fun out of their dogs than the Millard C. Whites of Oakland, Cal. For years their Cragman Kennels were very prominent in Bulldog, but not too long ago Millard got interested in Scotties and he has been quite successful with them. Recently the Whites took a vacation, taking along all of their Scotties and Nora (Ch. Cragman Jewel) their old Bulldog. At the recent San Jose show, they took Best Opposite with their Ch. Jamescot Wender Girl. Millard writes "When I was in Bulldogs I learned to be a pretty good Veterinarian. Scotties are so hardy I find I don't need much of that knowledge, but now I have to learn to be a barber!"

We were sorry to get the news that Mrs. Edna Schuller of Del Ayr Scotties passed away late in January. She lost her husband about two years ago, at which time she disposed of most of her Scotties. She occasionally came to a show to see her friends, but ceased to be active in the breed.

CRUFFTS again surpassed all previous entry records with a new high of 13,211 made by 6,563 dogs (353 less than in 1958). Increased entry fees this year were aimed at balancing the budget and also cutting down the actual number of dogs present, the committee feeling that fewer dogs of higher quality might thus grace the benches of Cruft's. However it is certainly open to doubt whether a higher entry fee would keep the owners of pet quality dogs from proudly invading the prestige show of the year since the size of one's pocketbook is not always the criterion of the quality of one's dog. Actually such a small drop in such a large entry hardly seems to mark a trend in either quality or quantity.

Next year may tell quite a different story.

Miniature poodles headed the breed entries with 341 dogs making an entry of 598. The terrier group of 1,010 individuals was topped by Cairns with 111, followed by Fox Terriers (Wire) with 106 and Scotties third with 80. Unfortunately, results of the judging will be too late for inclusion in this month's notes.

Meanwhile young Scottish Terriers coming up continue to show much promise. Mr. Jeff's Brinbry Butterkisk was again best puppy and best opposite to the Best in Show Cocker at Pendleton Sanction show. She was also best Scottish Terrier at Bolton Open show where 520 dogs competed but no Best in Show award was made.

Mrs. Meyer has also brought out two young puppy bitches which sound like future champions. Her attractive 9-mos. old wheaten brindle, Reanda Luna Rossa, was Best of Breed and Best Puppy in show at Hammersmith and at Chesham C. S. show. Another puppy, Reanda Rhonda, won seven firsts at these two shows. The fine temperament of this pair of youngsters moved Mrs. Jean Hopwood to comment on them saying, "they swaggered into the ring as tho they owned it." She thought the gay and fearless showing made by these two must have done the breed quite a bit of good as did Mrs. Collins' puppy whom he slipped his lead and proceeded to greet with vigorous tail waggings every other terrier in the ring.

Two English kennels accounted for 3 each of the 11 champions of 1958. Miss Pollock finished Lady Meg, Linda May and Lady Grace, all of Hadlow. Mrs. Meyer finished Reanda Rheola, Reanda Roystar and Greeba Havesgarth Robin. The first three are all of the Red Robin line, the second three of the Fashion Hint.

Amid deafening applause, another record Cruft's show ended when the Welsh Terrier, Ch. Sandstorm Saracen, was chosen best of 6,563 dogs by the judges, the Earl of Northesk and Col. R. H. Glyn. Saracen was the Terrier which won the Best in Show award at Birmingham Nat'l, the show which closed the 1958 season last November. The judges summed him up as,—the best Welsh they had seen, never let up showing, altogether an outstanding Terrier.

Miss Phyllis Drummond judged the 80 Scottish Terriers present. As so often happens she found the bitches better than the dogs and felt that breeders should take more interest in movement. Many were okay on the table but failed when moved, a fault she thought might be due, not to a structural fault but to lack

Mr. Singleton's 9-mos. puppy dog, Walsing Wild Winter, won four firsts—Puppy dog, Maiden, Novice and Graduate but had to give way to more mature dogs for the top honors. His head and expression seem to be exceptional and one wonders if there is another Winning Tric.

Westminster

THE Scottish Terrier Club of America held its Specialty in New York with the Associated Terrier Clubs, the day before Westminster. Percy Roberts judged the entry of 84. There were 13 Specials present, but the Winner of the Open class, Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Strathern's recent import, Eng. Ch. Rheanda Rheola, went through to BB. She is a daughter of Ch. Viewpark Vincent ex Rheanda Hioletta and will be two years old in May. Best Opposite from the Specials class was Cornelia Crissey's Ch. Crisscot Carnival. The dog points went to Blanche Reeg's Blannart Bottoms Up by Ch. Blannart Bungle of Greenvail ex Ch. Crisscot Canterbury Bell. Reserve in dogs went to the puppy, Chas. Stalder's Barbary Knowe Merrymaker. Just a year old he is a son of Ch. Fulluvit Festive Fling ex Ch. Barbary Knowe Wyndola. The Reserve bitch was Betty Malinka's Frangan Jesabel, by Ch. The Eastern in Boston held this year a week before Westminster, had 15 entries. Wm. Harvey, Jr. judging. Ch. Glendoune Gondolier was BB, and Ch. Crisscot Carousel. BOS, BW went to Mrs. W. M. Robertson's Glad-Mac's Tullspinn with WB going to Pamela Dineen's Fulluvit Tam O'Shanter.

Midwestern Shows

Entries at the Midwestern events haven't been too good but here are highlights from some of them. Muncie, Ind. on February 1st had 10, Alva Rosenberg judging. BB, Mrs. John F. Starr's Ch. Anstamm Winning Robin. BW, BOS, same owners' Fulluvit Bear Hunt. WD, Leslie and Clara Vanier Jagt's Anstamm Killie.

Although there were just 6 at the Mation, Ind. show on February 15th, the BB winner, Dr. and Mrs. Stewart Carter's Ch. Sandcone's Rebel Jeze-

Scottie Roundup—Then and Now

By Alice Exworthy

273 Durand, E. Lansing, Mich.

FOR twenty-five years Dog News has featured Scottish Terriers annually in the April issue and altho the breed has had its ups and downs of popularity Mrs. Rosenthal continues to make this choice spot available to the supporters of the breed. Each year this number affords us a special opportunity to examine pictures of dogs we have been noting in the show reports, assess the records of their achievements in England and America, and enjoy a general summary of kennel earlier years. Points were high,—4, 9, and 14 dogs required in both sexes for 1, 2 and 3-point shows in the North and East sections of the country. Compare this with the 2, 3, and 5 males required for the same points today. Compare also the number of champions finished in 1938—74 from a registration of 3,083. England's picture has changed less than ours—their champions numbering 10 in 1933 (registration slightly over 3000) and 11 in 1938 when the registration will approximate 1900.

The records of English show Scotties were fully reviewed in the early magazine by Wm. Singleton of the Walsinghams kennels and he closed with some interesting and perhaps unwittingly prophetic comments in view of the later history of the breed. Speaking of the prominence and importance of Robert Chapman's Heather kennels at Glenboig he said

"This year in a most marked degree has been revealed the marvelous powers of Ch. Heather Fashion Hint as a stud force. He even looks like eclipsing his own great sire as a getter of the highest class of Scottish Terriers. It is no exaggeration to say that most of the sensational youngsters of the year can claim this great dog as their sire." Certain it was that Fashion Hint and his sire, Necessity, figured prominently in the pedigrees of most of the winners on both sides of the Atlantic that year. Both of the 1934 Crufts' winners, Ch. Rouken Rogue and Ch. Rose Marie of Rookes, were sired by Necessity. On this side, Mrs. Marguerite Kirmse Cole judging the New York Specialty put up to Best of Breed the Fashion Hint daughter, Br. and Am. Ch. Ortley Patience of Hollybourne, and those as her winners dog, the newly imported Fashion Hint son, Hitofa Chief. At Westminster, Mr. Morgan Steimetz also gave winners to Chief but put Br. Ch. Ortley Angela to Best of Breed. Angela's dam was Ch. Ortley Carmen whose sire was Fashion Hint. And now twenty-five years later the continued success of the line founded by this dog is demonstrated once again and history in a sense repeats itself for the Best of Breed winner at the 1959 New York Specialty was an imported English champion bitch, Reanda Rheola, whose male line descends in eleven generations directly from Fashion Hint.

Furthermore, Ch. Glendoune Gendoller who topped them all at Westminster, was of almost identical breeding—11 generations removed from Fashion Hint and the line coming thru many of the same dogs. Coincidence perhaps, that two English champion bitches of similar bloodlines should win the Scottish Terrier Specialty twenty-five years news, show reports, and regional club activities.

The first April issue of Dog News dedicated to the interests of the Scottish Terrier was published in 1934 with Dr. John Rogers acting as associate editor in charge of the clan news. Then, as now, English shows, dogs and breeders were featured, champions of the preceding year were listed, and the columns were rounded out with general news items and short articles pertaining to the care of Scotties.

The Parade of Champions for 1933 was presented with a degree of detail which would not be possible today for that year there were only 14 on the list—nine dogs and five bitches. The five bitches and three of the dogs were English imports. That only fourteen out of an AKC registration of 4810 reached the top speaks volumes on the greater difficulty of making champions in the apart, but still an interesting coincidence in that the trend of bloodlines in both England and America is toward the very numerous descendants of this line. Forty-four of the seventy-four champions listed in this year fall in this category and in England eight of their eleven champions are from this source.

The present Parade of Champions indicates a stemming of the tide of foreign invasion—only four on the list being imported but to offset the value of this preponderance of home bred, the lion's share of top wins this year has gone to Scotties of British origin. American bred dogs did fairly well as group winners but honors were divided among a dozen or so individuals with no outstanding and consistent winner among them.

No summary of the year's activities in Scottie circles would be complete without mention of a phase of their ability which was unmentioned because unknown twenty-five years ago. All honor to those nine Scottish lads and lasses and their trainers who earned their obedience degrees this year. This type of restrictive drill routine seems quite contrary to a Scottie's way of thinking, and what would happen to the "long down" should a rat or mouse inadvertently cross the ring is anybody's guess. The artificiality of snow performance, carefully planned bloodlines, and obedience training may all break down when Scottie is faced with an age-old challenge. My guess is he would rise to the occasion in approved style or he would be no proper Scot.

but two points to finish. She was Best of Breed from the classes at the recent Phoenix, Ariz. show, where Revran Symphony was Winners Dog and Best Opposite.

At the Clearwater show in January, Bruce Webb's Middlemount Red Sun finished in his own hometown. The Winners Bitch at this show, W. H. Lockward's Blansat Bracelet also completed her title. Bracelet was recently purchased from Blansat Kennels and was handled by Mrs. Lockward, who had never handled a dog until the Florida circuit. She got a great thrill out of Bracelet's winning, particularly since she took her final points on her birthday.

At Tampa, Louise Ellsworth of Hialeah finished Troubadour's Hi-Fi Soloist and Harold Bea's Beehive's Happy Haig took final points. This is the Bea's first Champion, and since they did all their own trimming, handling, etc. they are particularly proud of him. They say Bruce Webb, "Dean of Scottiedom in the South" gave them a great deal

Mary German of Elkhart, Ind., writes their great bitch, Ch. Schrenker's Bridget had her last litter in December. It was sired by her grandson, Mrs. German's newest Champion, Crescent Hill Leonid. Bridget will be ten years old this July and they say she loved these last puppies as though she realized they would be her last babies. Mrs. German is keeping two of the puppies named Cantic Dynamite and Cantic Dynamic. This litter was so nice she promptly bred her Ch. Rascality O' Cantie, a Captivar daughter, to Leonid.

second in the group over a big entry at the 1958 Chicago International.

An indication of his potential as a sire is well illustrated by the fact that in his first litter, there was a brindle bitch, now Champion Fulluvit Honey Bear, winner of Best of Breed at the 1958 Scottish Terrier Club of Kentucky Specialty, repeating the previous year's win of her sire.

Cinnamon Bear is an extremely compact, well-balance Scottie, possessing excellent bone, brisket, eye, ears, tail and coat. He is solidly lined to Ch. Ortleay Ambassador.

The Scottie in Obedience in 1958

MORE Scotties appeared in obedience rings this year. The following earned degrees: on the West Coast: Glenby Fines and Miss Mac Bur both received C. D. X., and Ch. Carnation Concept, Keenan's Suzie Q. and Sir Cobber Hypocrites received C. D. In the middle states East's Sweet Susie and Thiel's Mighty Atom both received C. D. and on the east coast Rannoch-Dune Lindsay and Crissotto's The Laird of Jarvis received C. D.

Some very fine scores were earned too, by Scotties out of the possible perfect 200:

On the west coast: in open classes: Miss Mac Bur 196.5, 199.5, 196, 199, 198; Sir Blackcoat MacTavish C.D.X. 193; Douglassdale Ginger U. D. 194,

CONSIDER THE GRANDPARENTS!

by Cornelia M. Crissey
Wantagh, L. I., N.Y.

Miss Crissey is a teacher of chemistry and biology and, with Blanche Reeg, has conducted some successful experiments in breeding, using basic scientific knowledge such as is outlined in the following article.

A BREEDER according to my definition is "one who seeks to improve the breed." Improving the breed is to raise the standard of excellence of each successive litter in which each puppy in addition to his own personality bear a striking resemblance to his brothers and sisters and to his sire and dam, but with fewer faults than his parents. If this can be accomplished the whole level of excellence of the kennel is raised.

Most of us start in a small way, buying a female pet and then going to shows, finding out what the "good ones" look like. By this time we realize that, darling as our "Bonnie" is, she is (and we wouldn't admit this in public) just not suited to a show career. We have been bitten by the "bug" and want a show quality puppy. We know that we could buy a puppy from a reputable breeder. In fact we have talked to them at the shows and have had some offers of nice puppies. However, we want one of Bonnie's puppies and a show puppy, too. Is it possible to have both? Well, let's take a realistic look at Bonnie—without those rose-colored glasses.

We can ask the person who trims her for his frank opinion of her as a specimen of her breed. We can go with Bonnie and her pedigree to a breeder whose opinion is respected and get another opinion. Bred properly Bonnie can produce puppies which will be better than she is, and their puppies, bred properly will be better still. But whether these puppies will be of show quality will depend on Bonnie's inherited traits of fault or virtue (seen or unseen) as well as the stud's traits. Quality can be definitely improved—noticably—so. However, when one reaches a point in raising puppies at which all the puppies in the kennel are fairly uniform it is hard to see the improvements. In other words, when faults are fairly evident, improvement is also evident and often rapid, but when the quality improves and faults are less noticeable, the improvements are slower in coming and less noticeable.

In deciding to mate Bonnie we have become potential breeders. Our motives are good for we want a better dog than Bonnie. Now consciously or unconsciously we must choose a breeding program. We have several choices. First, we could breed to the current top winner just because he is the top winner. We might be very lucky and get a good puppy or a whole litter of good puppies, but unless the backgrounds of the two dogs were similar we would have about as much chance of a good litter as we would have to break the bank at Monte Carlo. Our second choice, is to select the stud, regardless of background, which does not have the same faults as our Bonnie. Our chances here are somewhat better but a litter from this breeding would probably not be of uniform quality either. The third program open to us is the "consider the grandparents" program. Try to look at or find out about Bonnie's parents and the parents of the potential stud dog. Now let's check to see if a fault of Bonnie's is found in the stud's parents, although not present in the stud himself. If we find the fault in the stud's parents, it could easily be transmitted to the puppies. It is, of course, equally true of virtues for these traits, good or bad, often "skip" a generation.

This third program almost inevitably leads us to line breeding. This is close breeding, doubling up on a particular dog or bitch in the pedigree (so that the same dog may appear as the father and also the grandfather of the puppy, for example). It can not be stressed enough that not all line-breeding is good. It is not a virtue in itself. Since line-breeding is close breeding, the faults as well as the virtues are intensified so that it is essential to line-breed only to those dogs or bitches with few faults. Line-breeding is really putting into practice the Mendelian Laws of Inheritance. If a given trait, such as dark eyes, is passed on to offspring when bred to the opposite trait, light eyes, the dark eye is said to be dominant, while the light eye is called recessive. However, if two dark-eyed individuals each with one light-eyed parent are bred together, there is a chance of producing offspring with the recessive trait, light eyes, as well as offspring with the dominant trait of dark eyes. Some of the traits considered desirable are dominant, some are recessive. For example, big ears and dark eyes seem to be dominant traits, while small ears and light eyes are recessive. Since it is desirable to have small ears and dark eyes, the individuals which meet our standard are a mixture of dominant and recessive characteristics. This is, of course, not unusual as most of the individuals of any species are mixtures of dominant and recessive traits. Each trait is determined by one or more pairs of genes which are in turn contained in pairs of chromosomes.

During the production of sex cells a reductive division occurs which results in the individual egg or sperm having one of each of the pairs of chromosomes of the parent and one of each pair of genes. Now, when the egg and sperm unite there is the same number of pairs of chromosomes with the same number of pairs of genes but not necessarily identical with the original pairs since half of the chromosome number came from the male and half from the female. Therein lies the chance that the offspring may be different from his parents. If each character trait were transmitted completely independently the task of getting the proper dominant and recessive traits together in one individual might be easier. However, many of the traits require several genes which are passed on in one chromosome. When the desired trait is determined by several genes it is more difficult to produce exactly what is wanted. If the desired combination is present in one individual, this one may be able to pass this combination on to its offspring. If it can, it is called prepotent for these traits. The more often this prepotent individual appears in the pedigree of the contemplated puppy, the more apt this puppy is to resemble the progenitor ancestor. It must still be remembered that if this ancestor had faults (and no dog is perfect) the possibility of these faults being inherited is also intensified.

A serious breeder must be familiar with the almost insurmountable task of trying to trick the genes and chromosomes into the right combination to produce the quality desired. This is the point at which many potential breeders become discouraged and give up. Are those of us who stick to it foolhardy or courageous? Whichever it is, we are never satisfied and keep trying to improve the quality of generation after generation of puppies. Of course, it is not easy. If it were, there would be more breeders and more dogs. The reward comes with the thrill of winning the puppy class with one of Bonnie's descendants. This satisfies for a time, then the aim is to breed a champion. The goals are never-ending—as each is attained a new one springs up to beckon us on. May it ever be so!

Current Scottish Champions

THE 1958 list of Scottish Terrier Champions numbers seventy-four and covers those Scottish Terriers which have completed their titles, confirmation of same having been officially published in the American Kennel Gazette—issues of March 1958 through February 1959.

The leading sire is Ch. Edgerstone Troubadour with six of the current Champions to his credit. Close on his heels is Ch. Westpark Derriford Baffie, sire of five of these current Champions. In third spot we find Ch. Blanart Bolero with four Champions, followed by Ch. Friendship Farm Diplomat and Ch. Deephaven Red Seal, each the sire of three of the current Champions. Quite a few dogs sired two Champions each and they include: Ch.

The late

Only one of the ladies produced more than two Champions and this was Marlu Lady May, dam of three Champions on the list. Several are tied for second place, each with two Champions and they include: Apfel's Precious Penny, Ch. Carnation Dark Secret, Highland Tweed's Gift, Geola Wasp Bar Bell, Ch. Garthright's Dark Sorcery, Ch. Carnation Dark Lady, Ch. Blanart Barnaid, Ch. Criscent Canterbury Bell, Blanart Barce's Trey.

The leading breeder is Carnation Farm Kennels, which bred seven of the current list of Champions, and Carnation is the winner by a wide margin. Blanche Reeg and Mrs.

John Gilkey are tied for second place, each having produced four of the current Champions. Third place is also a tie, these breeders having produced two Champions each and they include Dr. and Mrs. Jos.

group at the Lake Geneva, Wis. show with his owner handling, has to date won a total of seventeen Best of Breeds and eleven group placements.

Glad-Mac's Masterpiece owned by Mrs. W. M. Robertson's Glad-Mac-Kennels, Clarksburg, Wash. finished his title with a bang by going from the classes to Best of Breed and first in the Terrier group at Seattle, a really lovely win. He had previously gone Best of Winners at Golden Gate in January, and that same month he and his litter sister, Glad-Mac's Silhouette, went to Vancouver, Wash. and came home with three points apiece. Masterpiece was Best of Breed and third in the group, Silhouette, Winners Bitch and Best Opposite. It was her first show, Masterpiece's third major. The pair are by Int. Ch. Glad-Mac's Rolling Stone also the sire of Ch. Glanview Glamour Girl and Glad-Mac's Tailspin which at fourteen months was Best of Winners at the recent Boston show. Rolling Stone, definitely handicapped by being so far away from many breeders, has really had an outstanding producing record. He sired two litters in the East and three Eastern Champions were the result.

Carnation Farm Kennels' Ch. Westpark Derriford Baffle went the Francis G. Lloyd Trophy for 1958 and of course the Robert Chapman Trophy at the Garden in 1958. The kennels won the Goldfinder Trophy.

Owned by
Mrs. Richard E. Swartzley, Victorville, Cal.

Photo taken at the recent San Diego show, where Intermozzo was Best of Breed under Judge, Jos. L. Dodda. Owner handling, this bitch now has eleven points, two majors. By Ch. Edgerstounes Troubadour ex Ch. Scobart Serenade.

Baffle was second in the Stud Dog trophy, having five Champions for the year, and Red Seal added three more to his over-all total. Both dogs have get which need but a few points to finish, so Carnation has a nice start for the coming year.

Oyster Bay, L. I., is scheduled to do a number of breeds as well as the non-sporting group. There are many other prominent names on the judges list, covering just about every section of the country. Mr. Arthur Zane is also another resident of Honolulu who will be on hand to do a number of working breeds. Bernice Behrendt is superintending the show, and Mrs. Derek G. Rayne is secretary. See the Club's advertisement in this issue.

May in Kentucky

Two excellent shows are on the agenda for early May. The Mid-Kentucky Kennel Club will hold its 14th All Breed show at Hodgenville on Saturday, May 2nd, and the next day the Lexington Kennel Club will take over at Lexington. Both shows should draw excellent entries, and this portion of Kentucky is really God's country in the spring. Better mark these events on your calendar.

Oakland County Returns to May Date

The Oakland County Kennel Club, after a year with an April date, has returned to the third Sunday in May. The show will follow the Ingham County event, which is to be held on Saturday, thus exhibitors will have the advantage of an excellent double-header on a two-day weekend.

THE Westminster Gordon entry was disappointingly small this year, only thirteen entered, with a couple of absentees. Best of Breed went to Ch. Page's Clyde MacDonaid, by Ch. Page's MacDonega II out of Afternoon Alicia Adair. Best Opposite Sex was the Winners Bitch, Fletcher's Dark Belle, by the late Ch. Heslop's Burnvale Laird out of Kitty Lightfoot. Reserve Winners Bitch was Milestone Meg of Redchico, by Milestone Favorite out of Star Farm Belle. Winners Dog, also Best of Winners, was Brandywine of River's Edge, by Shuridgew McDuft out of Windy Hill's Nutmeg. Reserve Winners Dog was Fastlane Crossfire, by Ch. Fast's Firebrand of Windy Hill, C.D. out of Windy Hill Jennifer. There was only a 3 point major in dogs and 2 points in bitches.

Pres. Platt appointed a committee to revise the standard of the Gordon Setter. The present standard was written quite a few years ago when Gordons were considerably scarce, and such items as bite, tail placement and carriage, and a few other things are completely omitted.
