BULLETIN NINE
SCOTTISH TERRIER
CLUB OF AMERICA
JUNE 1917

THE FOURTH SPECIALTY SHOW

The Bulletin has today to go to press in order to keep its promise to appear in June, without the hoped-for review of the Specialty Show from our judge there, Mr. Whittam. For the sake of those who were not there, we must try to give some notion of the happenings of that most enjoyable day.

Sunshine and long-desired warmth helped out the spirits of those present, which needed a bit of encouragement. The war has hit the Scottie Club, and we were all too few. Mr. Lloyd, who helps everything that the Club undertakes, was there with Walescott in full force. Miss Crawford's beautiful Scotties, 'alas, we missed, and Earlybird's and Newcastle's. Mr. and Mrs. Bixby and Mr. and Mrs. Sherwood Hall each brought on a good string. Cromarty was there; Mr. Hertzler with a lovely pup; Dr. Morris; Miss Newton, — a strong Philadelphia contingent, though several members have reported that they failed to receive a Prize List — some error in the mails, we understand — and therefore did not get in on time.

The old lawn of the Sergeant Price place was a most lovely setting. We sat round the little ring on the grass, under the trees, and chatted with each other, and greatly enjoyed it. Would there had been more of us! Forty-four dogs entered, as against eighty last year, showed that something has happened to the world.

Walescott took, and deserved, almost all the wins. In Dogs, 1st, 2nd, 3rd Puppy; 1st Novice; 1st and 2nd American-bred; 1st and 2nd Limit; 1st Open; 1st Junior; 1st bred by exhibitor — small pickings left for the rest of us.

In bitches, some of the other members had a chance, several beautiful ones (new to the editor, at least) making an excellent showing, notably Dr. Jarrett's Wellesbourne Heather (1st Novice), Mrs. Ross's Drumclaph Betty (2nd Limit), and Mr. Bixby's Boglebrae Chancelot. The first two of these were home-bred, which always adds much to the glory of the win.

For this, our Fourth Specialty Show, our thanks as a Club are specially due to Mr. J. Sergeant Price, our kindest of hosts, who left nothing undone that could add to our comfort; to our Judge, Mr. Whitem, whose rulings were accepted with unusual unanimity; and to those members, who, traveling from a long distance, in a year when cash is not plenty, did their part in making our Show a success.

OUR TROPHIES THUS FAR

The Secretary has kindly compiled a record that will be of interest to all the Club, the present stands of different members on the Annual Trophies. We have never before issued a statement part-way through the year, and are most grateful for the opportunity. Following are the Trophy Awards at Lynn, Westminster, Philadelphia, Detroit, Providence, Baltimore, Newark, Washington, Richmond K. C., Wilmington, Belmont Park, Cleveland, Devon, Ladies' Dog Club:

Open Trophy — Walescott Albourne Crow, Hillcote Albourne Sprite, Merlewood Bessie, 2 wins each; Glenmanor Smiling Morn, Bapton Beatrice, Glenmanor Glengairn, Hockley Heather, Boglebrae Chancelot, Earlybird Swirl, York Bannockburn Scout, 1 win each.

American-bred Trophy — Walescott Maister Wullie, 3 wins; Hockley Heather, 2 wins; Hillcote Hottentot, Bagpipe, Bracken, Newcastle Grumpy, 1 win.

American-bred of opposite sex to above — Lemray Jill, Bracken, Amcott Bairn, Walescott Winsome, Walescott Marjoram, 1 win.

President's — Walescott Kennels, 4 wins; Miss Crawford, Miss Newton, Miss Hoppin, 1 win.

Balgownie Laddie Trophy — Walescott Kennels, 2 wins; Miss Crawford, Nosegay Kennels, Mr. Mulford, Mr. Charles Wood, Boglebrae Kennels, 1 win.

Bred by Exhibitor — Walescott Maister Wullie, 3 wins; Walescott Reba, Bagpipe, Bracken, Hockley Heather, 1 win.

Coat — Glenmanor Glengairn, 3 wins; Hillcote Albourne Sprite, Boglebrae Chancelot, 2 wins; Lemray Jill, Walescott Albourne Crow, Bapton Beatrice, Merlewood Bessie, York Bannockburn Scout, 1 win.

Hedgeley Trophy — Walescott Albourne Crow, Walescott Earlybird Swirl, Ch. Conqueror, Sandy Cymbal, Glenmanor Glengairn, Lord Disdain, Bracken, Newcastle Grumpy, Hockley Heather, Walescott Maister Wullie, Walescott Merlewood Merle, 1 win each.

Miss Brooks' Trophy — Walescott Kennels, 2 wins; Nosegay Kennels, Mr. Mulford, Miss Crawford, Mr. Wood, Boglebrae Kennels, 1 win.

Trap Rock Trophy — Walescott Kennels, 2 wins; Miss Crawford, Boglebrae Kennels, 1 win.

Mr. Little's Trophy — The ten leaders on June 15 are:

On the Club Trophies, Mineola, Montreal and New Bedford are not reckoned, marked catalogues not yet having been received.

SCOT HISTORY IN THE MAKING —

IV: THE GRAFTON CHAPTER

Dear Mrs. Saunders:

Only the Lord and I know why I first liked Scotties; enough that I did. My first was a bitch called Grafton the Scalawag, from Mr. Winslow Clark's kennels, and, of course, when I paid $25.00, I thought the price huge and the dog a wonder. The judges didn't.

Then came Craigdarroch Tess from Mrs. Brazier, and dear old Nosegay Tulip from Dr. Ewing. From these two came Champion Grafton Crex, and from her, Grafton the Farmer.

Poor Tulip lived here many years, but had a "hymn of hate" for father's fox terrier, so rather than have a family fight also, I gave him to Miss Ray Winters. She, alas, sent him away to board at some kennel, where, deadly homesick for me, he started off and never came back. There have been many hours of thought about him on my part, and if anyone who sees this, ever found a big black Scottie wandering round Long Island, I should love to know it.

Next came Champion Duncryne, my first good Scottie — really good. When he won "best Scottie" at a three point show, under Mr. Mortimer, I felt the thrill of my life.

Champion Dear Madam won the coveted best at New York for me. She also came from Dr. Ewing.

Others of note here were: Ch. Beecher's Brook, Ch. Nosegay Nightshade, Ch. Bruntsford Battler, Albourne Eclipse and Ch. Grafton the Blackbird.

I have sold several hundred, some very good ones, never shown; and on the whole have felt well repaid in interest, affection, and cash for the many heartaches and discouragements. I have one old bitch now that has brought me in $1400 in money for pups; another, $1100, and one $600.

At present I own only six Scotties in the world, two dogs, four bitches. My largest number was, I think, 69.

All through my Scottie experiences I have been very happy in the help, suggestions, and friendship of the Scottish Terrier breeders, on both sides of the water. There may be other breeds in as good hands, but there can be none better.

I know this is very "sketchy," but three fox terrier pups, a Scottie, and a deerhound are trying to chase the goat, and my mind won't work very brilliantly.

Sincerely yours,

Margaret Brigham.

NOSEGAY GAME AGAIN

No doubt the Fancy is generally apprised of my sale of Nosegay Crowfoot to A. G. Hertzler, of Lancaster, Pa., at whose kennel this noted dog is now in stud. Since his arrival there he has been patronized by various breeders, and has served the following bitches: Hillcote Hottentot, Cressage Gipsy, Ole Missoo, and the puppy winner bitch of the last Westminster show, Blinkin Betty, owned by Miss Margaret Coulter, of Greenfield, Pa. I prophesy that this young star will be heard from through his produce in the next New York show.

Nosegay has suffered another disappointment of his life in that Morning Nip's Nosegay, dam of Nosegay Spearmint, and Ban-nockburn Rosie, dam of Nosegay Crowfoot, failed to whelp to Conqueror and Ems Morning Nip, respectively. I cannot understand it as both are regular, and Nip, though growing old, has just produced six to a bitch that had heretofore failed.

Mr. C. K. Baillie, of Winona, Ont., in spite of distance, has bred his Winners bitch of the Toronto show to Morning Nip.

The young dog presented to Mr. L. Kay Grundy, of Louisville, through Nosegay, to make good that gentleman's loss in the failure of Parazone to come up to the representations as a capable stud, is a rare stud type, and good enough to contend with our best on the bench. It was a remarkable manifestation of sportsmanship and generosity on the part of Mr. Buckley. Mr. Buckley, whom I have never had the honor of meeting, simply read that Parazone, represented by his former owner in England as a competent stud, had failed to produce for Mr. Grundy, and he offered to send another. He sent one that would be cheap enough at $200, and is a decidedly better dog in points than Parazone, which is saying enough.

Seeing no chance to get to New York in 1918, through M. Nip's Nosegay and Rosie, when Walter Flett cabled me on May 9th, "Bonaccord Dora heavy to Norman. Due June the 3rd." I wired back, "Rush, etc." I figured that she would get off that week, but owing to delay of cable and boat she left about the 20th, and seeing that I could not possibly get her here I called into conference my benevolent and kindly friend, ever ready to help the breed, Mr. Francis G. Lloyd, and the final word is, seven pups were born "somewhere in the Atlantic," two of which died and the rest were delivered to Mr. Lloyd, and were all right at last accounts. They arrived in New York on the Philadelphia June 5th. I simply was too much tempted, knowing that pups by Norman out of such a bitch were worth their weight in gold, so I played my last poker chip, hoping for a "royal flush," and it looks like I win.

In a letter dated March 5th, 1916, Mr. Flett wrote me: "I bought at the biggest price I ever paid for a bitch, Bonaccord Dora. I consider her one of, if not the finest bitch living. She has the same stamp of body exactly as Bonaccord Nora, to whom she is closely related in two lines. Is it any wonder that I've got the body, legs, extraordinary spring and great depth of chest that belonged to Nora. She has never been beaten at three leading shows, and has won one reserve championship, and special for the Best Any Variety, Aberdeen." But owing to the proposed heavy tax on dogs in England, Mr. Flett was compelled to sell, and I am pardoned for taking desperate chances when the stake was a Bapton Norman litter from such a bitch. And so I still hope to go to New York.

Fayette C. Ewing.

HOME REMEDIES AND DEVICES

The Bulletin has been persecuting our members for the past month petitioning for the above. It is a source of pride to see how many members write, "I can make no suggestions for ailments; my dogs don't seem to have any" — which means that the Scottie is a well dog, when kept, as he deserves to be, as a friend in a home.

But for those of us who try to keep more Scotties than can be allowed perfect freedom in a house, the following suggestions, wrested from successful dog-raisers, will, we hope, be of the service that they have already proved. To those who send them in the Bulletin's thanks for every one.

Hints on Raising Puppies

Wolstencroft Kennels, famed for tough and hardy pups, send the following:

"A bitch after breeding, and being kept quiet for two weeks, is allowed to roam at liberty for the next five weeks. She receives all table scraps and what extra meats there may be, and a feed of raw Hamburg steak three times a week. She can always find bones that have been buried for weeks, or maybe months, and there are certain roots in the underbrush she will dig up and chew, along with grasses and herbs.

The fifth week after she has been bred she is given a worm medicine. The last two weeks she is placed in her kennel yard, and a little olive oil given with her feed.

She has a box about two feet square, with very little straw in it. A bitch always noses out extra straw, as she likes the bare floor to whelp on, and doesn't want straw in her mouth when she is working over the new-born pups. And a good mother will have her box floor as clean as any man can wash it.

Let nature stay with them until they are five weeks old. Then they may be fed a little boiled rice with milk and eggs, and oat-meal and milk. When three months old they get a little worm medicine, and from then on every dog and pup gets a dose of worm medicine once a month. I start on a Sunday morning giving every dog his share. In the summer, once a week, they get a breakfast of sour milk. Once every other week their water dish has a certain amount of lime water for them to drink.

I whitewash inside all kennels once, and some of them twice, a month. Whitewash is cheap, and is the sweetest and best tonic to kill the sour smell that kennels have. In all my kennel experience, four things have made success and health: 1. Good food; 2. Nature; 3. Cleaness; 4. Whitewash.

Home Remedies for Dogs, from Members of the Club

For putting bone on puny, thin pups, that I have sometimes bought, I find I can always succeed with condensed milk, used freely with rice, a little bone meal, and kalfos.

A. C. Hertzler,

For puppy rearing there is nothing like good grass runs, not to be used, however, till the dew has dried off. Dogs, especially Scotties, are very human, and like a varied bill of fare.

Walescott.

My only plan for keeping my dogs well is to give them a couple of tablespoons of salad oil at least once a month, and some worm remedy every three months, whether they need it or not.

Ruth Murray.

My best brood bitch has whelped three litters of seven each in thirteen months, and raised them all, except one killed by an accident, nursing each litter for six weeks.

I ascribe this good fortune almost entirely to the feeding of the bitch while the pups are nursing, not "weak, sloppy food to make milk" that some books recommended, but four good big meals a day of the most nourishing food obtainable: raw eggs, rich milk, raw meat, soups, cereals, table scraps and raw eggs again. Indeed, the first two days after whelping I feed her every two hours, a small quantity, one egg or a cup of milk, or a tablespoon of raw beef chopped. This feeding of the bitch is expensive, but far less expensive than a foster mother, or the loss of one or two out of a litter of seven good pups.

L. S. B. Saunders.

For Skin Troubles:

I find fleas and mange amenable to chloronaphthaleum and "Glover's."

Nosegay.

A teaspoonful of Epsom salts, dry on the tongue before the first meal of the day, is good for skin trouble. The remedy is Mr. Mayhew's.

Margaret Brigham.

Miss Hoppin endorses the above remedy: "one-half teaspoonful dry on the tongue three times a week; it acts like a charm. Since I have learned it from Miss Brigham, skin trouble has ceased on my dogs."

Gael Kennels add their testimony. The Epsom salts cure, together with stripping the dogs in June, freed us from all eczema last summer.

For a little "wet patch eczema" I use one-third sulphur, one-third bicarbonate of soda and one-third boric acid powder.

M. Brigham.

For eczema, we use with success, olive oil, one tablespoonful every morning for three weeks; also Epsom salts baths.

Cromarty Kennels.

As an external treatment for eczema, learned from experience with horses, comes the following: Wash and dry, and apply baking soda, only once a day if the case does well; if badly, add an application of zinc ointment. Wash and dry every second day. I have cured very obstinate and severe cases.

Dr. Hannah Morris.

I have cured very severe cases of eczema by the application of a horrible whale oil compound put up by my veterinarian here as his "mange cure." No eczema has terrors for me since the use of this decoction. I will gladly send his address to anyone desiring it.

L. S. B. Saunders.

Canker in the Ear

One teaspoonful melted vaseline mixed with one teaspoonful kerosene, poured into the ear, has helped for me better than any other medicine. Repeat three times, three days apart.

Margaret Brigham.

Canker in the ear

Dr. H. M.

Distemper

"As for distemper, mine don't die of it, perhaps because of my disinclination to provide them with air-tight winter quarters."

Nosegay.

"Only precautions against distemper are a warm but well ventilated room, light but nourishing food, and boxes into which the dogs can crawl if it is too cold for their sensitive condition."

Walescott.

"Raw eggs and raw eggs and raw eggs. If you can keep the dog's strength going with these you can pull him through. I have learned distrust of the toxins and antitoxins. After apparent cures with them, my cases have often suddenly run into convulsions or meningitis, — hopeless."

L. S. B. Saunders.

General

To bring up a good coat on a dog in "about ten days," rub him with cocoanut oil and olive oil, half and half. It does wonders.

Carolina Newton.

For cramps, heat prostration, convulsions, any symptoms, — "in fact, when in doubt, — use aromatic ammonia." Put one-half teaspoonful into one-half glass of water, and feed a teaspoonful of this every fifteen minutes.

Cromarty Kennels.

For cuts Phenol Sodique is my pet remedy.

Margaret Brigham.

Raper's Vermifuge for pups is recommended by Mr. Stern of the Earlybird Kennels. The Earlybirds "worm" all their dogs every month.

Earlybird has also the following suggestions: When a dog is "off feed," and nothing will tempt him, try canned salmon. Also Dr. Miller's feeding for a dog suffering from diarrhoea: Spread a thin coating of raw meat on both sides of a piece of bread, and toast the whole through, and feed warm.

And so, good luck to our dogs this summer!

FROM OUR MEMBERS

Mr. Henry Bixby, Boglebrae Kennels, Huntington, L. I., writes apologizing for having no "home cures" to suggest: "The fact is that I have been exceedingly fortunate with regard to dog troubles. The principal news that I have with regard to litters is that I have three, two by Albourne Linnson and one by Albourne Goliath. The one litter by Linnson ex Ruminantly Replica, consisting of five dogs and a bitch, are about ten weeks old and look very promising. Another by Linnson ex Abertay Lesba; also six, three of each sex. While not quite old enough to be able to judge much about they are surely good to look at. The third one by Albourne Goliath is quite young. Boglebrae Chancelot has also been bred to Linnson, and I am in hopes of getting something very good from this combination. Under present conditions I am unfortunately pretty well loaded up with puppies and have quite a number to sell, from eight months down to eight weeks.

"I was very much disappointed that more of the members did not come or send dogs to the Specialty Show. Under the present conditions it seems as if we should really make an effort to keep interest in the breed alive unless we want to see it practically die out and have to be started all over again after the war. I know a good many are deeply taken up in war work, but so are the breeders of Airedales and fox terriers, and yet in the recent shows they have showed their interest much more than the Scot-tie breeders."

Mr. Morgan Brainard, Hartford, Conn., reports "a litter of six, four dogs, born March 9th, by Earlybird Troubadour ex E. Osmond Lady." A splendid start. These should be of the very finest.

Miss Brigham, Grafton Kennels, has sold dog pups to Mr. Patten of Wellesley and to Mrs. Halstead Yates, of Dalmatian fame; bitch pups went to Miss Appleby and Mrs. McGee. "I lost my litter by Garnock Roy ex Grafton the Nybloc, who all, alas, died of 'squeaks,' a few hours old."

* *

Mr. Charles Butler of New York writes: "No news, except that I have one young male Scottie named Ypres!" Pronounced, we trust, in the virile British fashion.

Mrs. D. W. Evans, Tenafly, N. J., writes: "Have only to report the purchase early this spring from Mr. Buckley of the black bitch Waterford Witch, by Bapton Norman, and the loss of the best of the two pups of Impression from distemper. Have had no luck in breeding at all for over a year, all of which is very discouraging."

The Club is having to keep steady through hard times, just now, for if it isn't few pups, it's few sales. We must all work with a vim to help one another through. We congratulate Mrs. Evans on her new bitch, who, we hope, will shortly replace the lost puppy for her mistress.

Mr. and Mrs. Sherwood Hall of Glenmanor Kennels, Winchester, Mass., have their usual cheery report to make: "We have at present one puppy to show for our spring's work, a little beauty by Glengairn out of Laindon Lipsalve. He was born May 2nd, and is already feeling himself in good shape. Like all of Glengairn's puppies he has a dark eye, long head, short tail, and very heavy bone.

"Our Ems bitch, Babs, whelped a litter of five, all black, three days ahead of time, while Mrs. Hall and I were at the Providence Show, and as our maid did not understand what to do they were all smothered, it being Babs' first litter. We were pleased to learn she could have them, though, as she was imported bred to Ch. Bapton Norman last fall and missed. I am going to breed her to Troubadour in August and try it again. Smiling Morn was bred to Conqueror in May, and we hope for something real good. Smile has been doing well at shows, having only been beaten twice since the Albany show! She has fifteen points towards her championship, but needs one more three point win.

"Glengairn has been doing very well at stud. We have at present one puppy for sale by him three months old, and of good type, a male, all black. I expect to keep Lipsalve's puppy to see how he turns out. I sold the dog puppy by Laindon Loyal to Mr. Q. A. Shaw McKean for Mr. Rudolph Agassiz, and expect to show him at the Lowell show next week. We also have our new arrivals from the Laindon Kennels, shipped to me by Mr. Tweed to sell for him. I enclose a clipping regarding them from the Fancier. Laindon Lovely is a little beauty, and if she will show next week I hope to do some winning with her. I only wish I had the money to keep them all myself, but I hardly have the room to handle any more even if I could take them myself."

Here is the clipping in part: "Three very good Scotties arrived on the Devonian Tuesday from England, having been shipped by Mr. H. R. B. Tweed, the owner of the famous Laindon Kennels, to Mr. Sherwood Hall, Jr., to be sold in America. . . .

"The first of these dogs, Laindon Langwell, is a dark brindle, born October 18, 1915. He is a grandson of Laindon Lockhart, being by Laindon Lore, the sire of Waterford Wagtail and other winners. His dam is a granddaughter of Ch. Bonaccord Nora. . . .

"The second is a bitch, Laindon Lovely, a grey brindle, born February 15, 1916. She is also by Lore out of Laindon Lola, a litter sister to Laindon Loyal. Loyal is the sire of Ch. Hillcote

Shanty, Ch. Light o' the Morning, etc., and the grandsire of Rothesay Shanty, Smiling Morn, etc.

"The third is a bitch, Laindon Lace, born March 16, 1911, and a daughter of Laindon Lockhart. She is a proved brood matron, having mothered a number of winners, among them Laindon Lure, the best bitch in Mr. Tweed's kennel today."

Mr. A. G. Hertzler, Lancaster, Pa., writes: "I have taken the kennel name 'Talisker' and am well prepared for the Eastern breeders, now owning Nosegay Crowfoot and Talisker Jock, both 'sure' dogs.

"The litter by Talisker Jock ex Hillcote Hottentot certainly was a good one. One of the pups, Talisker Flare Up, was purchased by Miss Eleanor Chandler of Philadelphia, who was the runner-up in the woman's golf championship of Philadelphia, and I hope the little bitch turns out to be as good a golfer as her mistress. This puppy's litter sister and brother, Talisker Fire Fly and Talisker Invincible, respectively, are being held, as they look unusually good. A number of prominent judges that attended the Specialty Show June 2nd advised me to hold them. However, I would consider selling either or both of them, as I still have hopes of producing others in time for our next Westminster show."

Miss Frances Hoppin of New York writes: "I wish I had something to report, but all my mothers have gone back on me, and we haven't a single pup this year."

* *

Mr. Little, Newcastle Kennels, writes: "I cannot think of much that I can submit for the new Bulletin, except a general statement that I shall probably not show except at Boston for the duration of the war; and that I am farming most of my dogs and keeping only four or five at Brookline. I am sorry to have to do this, but I am still theoretically at the active age, and my arrangements are too uncertain to make it desirable to leave in Brookline the responsibility and expense of a large kennel of dogs."

The Club will not forget its President if he takes up new duties, and wishes him every good fortune.

* *

Mr. Francis Lloyd, Walescott Kennels, has been having great success with his new young Ch. Maister Wullie pup, Walescott Whim. Whim has this month very nearly repeated Wullie's sensational success of 1915, when, the admired "First Puppy" of the Specialty Show, Wullie took Winners under Mr. Buckley two days later at Mineola. Whim also contented himself with First Puppy at our Specialty, June 6th, and then proceeded to Mineola to repeat, under Mr. Hopton, Wullie's performance, and walk off with Winners. "Mr. Hopton called me up on the phone today," Mr. Lloyd writes, "to say he thought Whim one of the most wonderful young dogs he had ever seen; was sorry, but had to put him over Wullie and Crow." And Mr. Lloyd adds: "But Wag will, I think, beat Whim later on." Still he has them, then, up his sleeve?

Wullie's pups took 1st, 2nd and 3rd Dog Puppy, and 1st and 4th Bitch Puppy at the Specialty. To quote Fancier, "the father has done well."

Mr. W. T. Marlatt of Oakville, Ont., one of our newest members, reports: "At the recent Montreal show, under Judge Hopton, my young Scottie, Deancroft Pennant, won First Puppy, First Novice, First Canadian Bred and got Reserve Winners. This very promising young dog was sired by Ch. Argyle Lad, out of the imported bitch Ontario Sunshine. I consider that he is the best specimen I have raised for some time." Welcome to the Club!

Miss Ryerson, Springfield Center, N. Y., has for sale a brood bitch, Newcastle Avondale Aintree. She has had several large litters and some very fine pups, Newcastle Grumpy, the young American-bred winner, who has six points towards his championship, among them. There are also some dog pups and bitches for sale, "all very nice," and a young bitch ex Earlybird Jeanie by E. Boy. Prices very reasonable. "I am selling most of my dogs, keeping only a few this summer."

* *

Mrs. Varnum, we are exceedingly sorry to learn, is again too ill to take up any further breeding, and is forced to send in her resignation from the Club. We shall greatly miss the news of her Scotties, and join in wishing her a speedy recovery.

* *

Mr. Wolstencroft, Pawtucket, R. I., reports his usual thriving sales, ten pups since the last Bulletin. His bitch, Hielan Stylish Lass, granddaughter of Invader, has whelped five pups to Garnock Roy, all doing well. Amcott Wee Lass has been bred again to Hielan Terror. Two particularly promising pups of their last litter are at the kennels and four male pups for sale.

* *

Mrs. Charles Zug, Pittsburgh, Pa., reports that her two young Scotties by Wullie and Conqueror are developing nicely "and are much loved by all the family." It's a way they have.

L. S. B. Saunders,
Editor,
Clinton, New York.

NOTE — The Bulletin wishes to call the Club's attention to the excellent new weekly column in "Fancier," "Scotch Dope." Please all read and help it by contributions!
